Caused widespread criticism Smith decides to withdraw ban against teach-ins at King's

By FRAZER SUTHERLAND Gazette Staff

Volume 96

Dr. H.D. Smith, President of the University of King's College has lifted his ban on teach-ins provided they are "well motivated, impartial, and academic in the best sense of the word." His ban, which he set forth two weeks ago, has resulted in good deal of criticism from student and professorial sources

In a mimeographed pamphlet distributed November 1, Kings' objections to Smith's move. Inwere reprints from news items in the Halifax Chronicle-Herald, an editorial from the same paper, a transcript of Professor J. Murray Beck's televised nationally on CBC's Viewpoint, and a copy of the resolution passed by U.K.C. Student Council.

The resolution reads: Whereas Dr. H.D. Smith's recent banning of teach-ins at the University of King's College constitutes both an infringement of academic freedom and a violation of the basic rights of association and free speech;

Whereas Dr. Smith's press statement contained allegations and insinuations which are unfounded in fact;

Friday, November 5, 1965

Whereas Dr. Smith did not consult or officially inform the Board of Governors, Student Union or Faculty before making the announcement to the press; Whereas Dr. Smith did not attend the Education Teach-in which he has condemned: Whereas Dr. Smith's statement Students' Council put forth strong has distorted the essentially academic and objective function cluded in the four-page pamphlet of a teach-in in the public eye. BE IT THEREFORE RESOLV-ED THAT:

(a) Dr. Smith be requested to immediately lift the ban on teachins and other such discussions within the academic community. (b) The Board of Governors be

HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA

I wish to follow up my statement on the further study of teach-ins at the University of King's College. There was confusion concerning two teach-ins at King's. The first was an international teach-in: this I attended. I was not present at the second teach-in which concerned student fees, at which Dr. Hicks was booed. At no time did I make any statement concerning the latter teach-in. Dr. Hicks is very able to take care of himself in such situations, which is well-known.

The reason for the temporary suspension of teach-ins at King's was prompted by the fact that I gave the use of our Gymnasium for a gathering which the printed program stated, "will not be focused exclusively on American foreign policy;

I did not find this to be the case, nor did members of my faculty who were present.

Academic freedom and free discussion are cherished at King's.

I did not want the general public to feel that the University of King's College was giving official sanction to a partisan demonstration, as this teach-in at times appeared to be.

Provided that future teach-ins or debates will be wellmotivated, impartial, and academic in the best sense of the word I shall welcome them.

The three English Quebec schools were admitted at the first session of the union's congress at Laval University Oct. 28.

McGill was the first to be accepted with the understanding that the school drop its membership in the Canadian Union of Students at the next CUS congress in ten months.

The UGEQ constitution does not allow its members to belong to another national union of students.

The exception was made by the UGEQ general assembly to allow McGill to fulfill its legal obligations as a member of CUS during the current year.

Sharon Sholzbery, president of the McGill student council, indicated to the assembly that her school did not take part in the CUS national student day so that it could participate in Quebec student activities.

The assembly adopted an amendment to the motion to seat McGill dropping a clause requiring the school to pull out of CUS within ten months.

The motion grants McGill membership but makes its continuation in CUS illegal according to the UGEQ constitution. Supporters of the amendment maintain that if McGill does not leave CUS by next year, it will be automatically expelled from the Quebec untion.

This fifteen story building will cost more than $5,000,000. Two million of this will come from the Federal Government, and this will be matched by the Provincial Government. Other monies will also be available from the Federal Government. This building scheduled for completion in 1967 is the Provincial Centennial project and will house the 1968-69 medical students.

Excavation and ground construction have been completed, the concrete footings have been poured as well as one floor slab. The walls are three-quarters completed up to ground level and the underground work is one-we will always maintain some sort of link with English Canada. I don't know now what that link may be." She continued: "If we don't cease to be a member of CUS it is possible that UGEQ will no longer consider us a member of UGEQ."

"My personal opinion is that the feeling was overwhelmingly in favor of accepting McGill as a member-period. I think with the exception of a few vociferous people, a good many delegates would have accepted us unconditionally."

Michael McAndrew of the University of Montreal said his understanding was that if Mc-Gill did not leave CUS by next year it would be automatically expelled.

The assembly accepted Mc-Gill by a 100 to 4 vote margin. Sir George Williams and Marianopolis were admitted without debate following McGill's entry
