Dear Dr. Pugsley,-

I have received this morning a letter from Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, written from Harrington, Canadian Labrador. In his letter Dr. Grenfell says:-

"I have just come in here with the 'Strathcona' and write to you as I find the wharf we so much need has not been begun. There is no public wharf at all in this growing place. I arrived with a whole cargo of Marconi men (ten) and all their heavy material for erecting a post. There is no wharf at which to land any of it. Also there are here fifty casks of gasoline I sent to Canada for. There is no wharf to get them off from, and it is almost impossible with this rough harbor in these S.W. winds to get them off the rocks without breaking them
