

- 431 STEELE (Richard, joint-author with Addison of the Spectator)—Life, by G. A. Aitken, with numerous portraits, 2 vols; and Montaigne's Essays, translated by Cotton, Large Type Library Edition; together, 3 vols (pub 9.80) 1889-92

- 432 'STEPNIAK's King Stork and King Log: A Study of Modern Russia, 2 vols cr. 8vo (pub 3.60) 1896

'No work ever recognised with more frankness the difficulties in the path of a cause. But it will possibly satisfy most minds that the present system cannot resist the progress of its own organic diseases, and that the cause to which Stepniaik devoted a noble life cannot be regarded as hopeless.'—Newcastle Chronicle.

- 433 STERNE's (Laurence)—Complete Works, Best Library Edition, with a Life of the Author, edited by James P. Browne, M.D., with portrait from painting by Reynolds, and illustrations by Thomas Stothard, R.A.; 4 vols, 8vo 1885

- 434 Stevenson's Edinburgh in the Olden Time, a Series of Sixty-Three Drawings, Views of Streets, Public Buildings, and other Remains of Antiquity within the City of Edinburgh, its Suburbs, and Leith, between the years 1717 and 1828 (which were collected by John Sime), Reproduced in Atlas Facsimile, edited by Thomas George Stevenson, folio, half morocco extra, gilt top (pub 22.00 to subscribers) 1880

The impression of this book was strictly limited to 350 copies, each one of which is numbered.

There is not perhaps a city in Europe that offers to the lover of picturesque scenery and to the historian a more interesting series of subjects for the pencil and pen than Edinburgh.

- 435 STEVENSON (Rev.)—The Legend and Commemorative Celebrations of Saint Kentigern, his Friends and Disciples, translated from the Aberdeen Breviary and the Arbuthnott Missal, with an Illustrative Appendix consisting of Notices of the Lives of Saints Thenew, Kentigern, Servanus, Columba, Asaph, Baldred, Cornwall, and Palladius, Large Paper Edition, small 4to, half morocco, printed for private circulation only, the impression being limited to 200 copies 1874

'Anything about St Kentigern and his contemporaries must be interesting to students of Ecclesiastical History. To the citizens of Glasgow and the surrounding districts it must be specially interesting, and yet few of us have any but a very hazy notion of who he was and what he did. The Lives and Legends of the early Scottish Saints are less generally known and appreciated than they deserve. As illustrations of local history they are invaluable.

- 436 STORY (W. W.)—Nero, a Dramatic Poem founded on the Story of the Emperor Nero as recorded by the Ancient Writers; also, Vallombrosa, a Vivid Description of the Apennines; Worsley (P. S.)—Poems and Translations, edited by E. Worsley; and Russell (George)—Fragments from many Tables, being the Recollections of Some Wise Men and Witty Men and Women; together, 4 vols (pub 4.25) 1875-81

- 437 SWITZERLAND: Its Scenery and its People. Pictorially represented by Eminent Swiss and German Artists, comprising above 300 engravings in the text, many of them of large size, and 63 full-page plates, of which 16 are in colours; with historical and descriptive text, based on the German of Dr Gsell-Fels; roy 4to (pub 10.00) 1881

'All the salient and most picturesque features, both in the landscape and in the social life of the country, are placed before the reader in these magnificent pages.'—The World.

- 438 SYDNEY (W. C.)—England and the English in the Eighteenth Century. Chapters in the Social History of the Times, 2 vols; and Social Life in England from the Restoration to the Revolution; together, 3 vols (pub 8.50) 1892
