

The Corpus Delicti

nephew. They were confused as to the facts, and the banker was not inclined to enlighten them, but a motion had already been filed in court to quash the indictment, and Mr. Byrne was going to Texas.

THE END