The Bishop and the Widow. According to a contemporary, a bishop who is widely known for his sympa-thetic and kindly nature having occasion recently to call upon a widow on some church matter, and finding her deeply distressed at her loneliness, ventured, as he was quite entitled to do, to offer a few words of fatherly consolation. "You must not," he said, "be cast down by your sorrow and lonely position. Remember the maxim, 'Man proposes, but' "— "Ah, my lord," interrupted the lady, "if man only would." It is not mentioned whether the bishop was a bachelor or not.—London Standard

WHY DO YOU SHIVER?

Becaue the Stomach is not Supplying the Body with the Heat it Needs-Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Rem-

These chill October days have a tendency to make people shiver. Do you know the cause of those shivers? It is because the stomach is not doing its full work. It is the duty of the stomach to furnish the body with heat. If the stomach is in a healthy condition this heat will be supplied. If it is not supplied, it is time to pay attention to the stomach. It needs to be toned up and the best tonic is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do this is the acres. All cleared. Good house and barn, $3100.00.

Work and Leisure Should Be Mated. Work is good. No one seriously doubts this truth. Adam may have doubted it when he first took spade in hand and Eve when she scoured her first pots and kettles, but in the course of a few thousand years we have learned to know and value this honest, trou-blesome, faithful and extremely exacting friend. But work is not the only good thing in the world. It is not a fetich to be adorned, neither is it to be judged, like a sum in addition, by its outward and immediate results. The god of labor does not abide exclusively god of labor does not abide excusively in the rolling mill, the law courts or the cornfield. He has a twin sister whose name is leisure, and in her soci-ety he lingers now and then to the lasting gain of both.—Scribner's.

THE EULG RIAN CAPITAL Suffa a Bright and Busiling Town That UTE SELECTS

A wide, smiling valley, and, far beyond, the steep incline of an endless mountain range, the Vitosch chain, still snow capped when we saw it against a bright blue sky, while nearer the earth was clad with a cloak of the softest verdure, a lush a cloak of the softest verdure, a lush green seeming to round the contours of outline here and there. Such, says The Pall Mall Gazette, was the first impression of the panoramic setting within which we found enshrined Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, from which source many of the reports of the recent massacres in Macedonia reach the public. It is as bright and modern looking a little town as, say, Baden-Baden, and indeed more reminiscent of some small German residenz stadt in style and structure than anything one generally associates mentally with the near east. Two days are, of course, not much in which to have chair drything one generally associates mentally with the near east. Two days are, of course, not much in which to judge of any place. It is merely the obvious then that strikes the visitor's eye and is retained upon his mental retina, and therefore to our mind the name of Sofia is lastingly associated with sundry broad and shady streets, boulevards beneath which we watched with untiring interest the constant flow of traffic, the coming and going of soldiers, mondaines, peasantry and curious semi-Oriental figures.

It was late spring, and the sun's heat had something of the coming summer in it, yet these stolld, slow-summer in it, vet these stolid, slow-ly moving figures were their fur caps and long skin coats, of which the sheep's wool turned inward forms the lining. Most of them led their oxen, harnessed to cumbrous carts, while again near these the smart electric trams whizzed by—a strange and incongruous mixture of these and incongruous mixture of the east and incongruous mixture of the east and west. The most picturesque element in the street traffic was the peasant women, many of the girls being quite beautiful, their garments gay with red and blue embroideries and their persons loaded with barbaric looking silver ornaments, silver coins even glinting here and there amid their long, thick raven plaits. Another touch of color was given to this scene by the numerous different uniforms which distinguished he militaire, the general appearance of which reminds one of the Russian military dress, although the men seemed of a better physique, generally speaking. The Mainspring of Life.

Political economists have told us that tell interest is the mainspring of industry. It is not true, writes Dr. Lyman Abbott in the current is-Dr. Lyman Abbott in the current issue of The Atlantic Monthly. Love is the mainspring of industry. It is love for the home and the wife and the children that keeps all the busy wheels of industry revolving, that calls the factory hands early to the mill, that nerves the arm of the blacksmith working at his force, that inspires the farmer at his plow and the merchant at his desk, that gives courage to the soldier and pagives courage to the soldier and pagives. and the merchant at his desk, that gives courage to the soldier and patience to the teacher. Erskine was asked how he dared, as an unknown barrister, face a hostile court and insist on his right to be heard. "I felt my children," he replied, "tugging at my robe and saying, 'Here is your chance, father, to get us bread.'" It is this vision of the children dependent on us that inspires us all in the battle of life. Whether we cultivate a farm, or operate a factory, or manage a store, or build and conduct a railroad, or paint pictures, or write books, or preach sermons, or enact and enforce laws—whatever we do, and enforce laws—whatever we do, the end of our activity is the nurture and training of children in this pri-mary school, which we call life, in preparation for some life, we know not what, hereafter.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disecse, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitutional disease, reconstitutional disease, reconstruction and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they comfortable or agreeable to the palate and perhaps make it more easily digestible. In this way warm-ing the feed may be advantageous, for increased comfort will aid in conomizing the food or increas the gains.

As Ingenious Frenchman.

As ingenious Frenchman.

A thrifty Parisian has hit upon a new system of safety deposit. A visit was made to the police station in the Faubourg Montmartre by M. Samuel V., who came to claim a parcel of jewels which he had lost a month previously valued at 800,000 francs. The commissary consulted his register. M. V.'s jewels had been found and taken to the station by M. Leon D. "It is very curious," said an employe. "These jewels were lost on the same date last year and brought here by M. Leon D. and claimed a month afterward by M. Samuel V." "It is very curious, too curious," said the commissary. Explained that being afraid of burglars while away for a month's holiday he thought it would be difficult to find a riore secure place to put them.

DISFIGURING

Skin, Scalp and Blood Humours

From Pimples to Scrofula From Infancy to Age

Speedily Cured by Cuticura When All Else Fails.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in Eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of wornout parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cutlcura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure.

power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin-cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and infiammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete local and constitutional treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours of the skin scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all else falls.

Punctuation by means of stops or points, so as to indicate the meaning of sentences and assist the reader to a proper enunciation, is ascribed original nally to Aristophanes, an Alexandrian grammarian, who lived in the third century B. C. Whatever his system may have been, it was subsequently neglected and forgotten, but was rein troduced by Charlemagne, the various stops and symbols being designed by Warnefried and Alcuin.

The present system of punctuation was introduced in the latter part of the fifteenth century by Aldus Manutius, a Venetian printer, who was responsible for our period, colon, semicolon, com-ma, marks of interrogation and exclamation, parenthesis and dash, hyphen, apostrophe and quetation marks. These were subsequently copied by other printers until their use became univer-

Most ancient languages were innocent of any system of punctuation. We find in many early manuscripts that the letters are placed at equal distances apart, with no connecting link between, even in the matter of spacing, an ar-rangement which must have rendered reading at sight somewhat difficult. after J. A Queer Marriage Ceremony. Among the Kherrias of India the marriage ceremony is quite elaborate. After many preliminaries the priest begins this singular performance: Taking a small portion of the hair of the bride and groom in turn from the cen-ter of the forehead, he draws it down on to the bridge of the nose. Then, pouring oil on the top of the head, he watches it carefully as it trickles down the portion of hair. If the oil runs straight on to the tip of the nose their future will be fortunate, but if it spreads over the forehead or trickles off on either side of the nose bad luck is sure to follow. Their fortunes told, generally to their own satisfaction, the essential and irrevocable part of the ceremony takes place. Standing up side by side, but with faces strictly averted, the bride and bridegroom mark each other's forehead with "sindury" (graphics). dur" (vermilion). Great care is always taken that neither shall catch a glimpse of the other during this important proc

Nature Sculpture.
One of the most remarkable pieces of nature sculpture in California is the George Washington rock, about thirtyfive miles northwest of Los Angeles, in the Santa Susana mountains, says the Sunset Magazine. A chiseled monument could hardly bear truer likeness to George Washington than this chance picture in the ragged contour of a huge bowlder. Viewed from one point, and only one, it stands out sharp and distinct against the sky. From all other points the rock is a shapeless mass. The image measures full twenty-five feet from chin to brow and is close to the top of the hill. In the vicinity have been found Indian relics—ovens, stones containing Indian writings, arrowheads, mortars—and many traces of a settlement of aborigines.

A Really Warm Place.

A colored preacher recently enlight-ened his congregation in regard to the conditions existing in the infernal re-gions in the following manner: "Brethren, I has been asked how hot is hades an' I will say, after givin' de subject considerable reflection, dat if yo' took all de wood in York state an' all de coal in Pennsylvania an' all de oil in de worl' an' set all on fire an' den took a man out ob the bad place an' put him in dat burnin' mess he would freeze to def befo' he har'ly lit! Difference of Opinion.
"What is genius?" asked the man who has a liking for abstruse questions.

"There is a difference of opinion on that question," answered Mr. Siriu Barker. "Some people think that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains, others that it is the ability to get on without doing any work worth mentioning."

Matured.

"So you met the usual fate," said the man who sneers. "You went into Wali street intending to be a bull or a bear and find yourself merely a lamb. "No," was the answer. "I'm not a lamb. I've been on the losing side persistently for years. I'm a sheep.'
