

The Upward Look

The Glory of Service

Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me.—St. Matt. 23: 40.

God is love (1 John 4: 8), and He dwells in the hearts of each of us. In the parable of the vine Christ showed how we are all one with Him and how He is one with us. If we do not bear good fruit in our lives we are to be pruned off and destroyed. If we do bring forth good fruit we shall in due time receive our reward.

The wonderful feature of this great thought is that Christ dwells in us. It does not matter how humble or how exalted we may be. Christ is in the heart of each of us. He is truly a part of the life of the humblest employee of a great manufacturer as He is in the heart of the servant as surely as He is in the heart of the mistress of the mansion.

What does this mean? Our text tells us. If we love our employee we love Christ. If we are kind to them we are kind to Him. If we are unkind to them we are unkind to Him. If there is a single human being whom we dislike or hate we virtually dislike and hate Christ, for Christ is in that person to some extent at least, even although it may not appear so to us.

That is why we are told to love one another, to forgive one another, and why we are warned not to judge one another.

It is this not a wonderful conception of life? While we meet Christ we would rush to render Him such loving service as we could. We would delight in the opportunity. The fact is we are meeting Christ in every person we see. We are meeting Him in the loving service we do it unto Him. The children in our homes, the beggars who call at our doors, are all branches of the true vine. That is within us. If, therefore, we think ourselves to be better than others, no matter how humble they may be, and scorn or neglect them, we are virtually setting ourselves as being above Christ, and we are neglecting Him. That is why we are warned that those who exalt themselves shall be humbled, while the humble shall be exalted.

How true it is that the more we have, the more we see! We fail to see that we can please and render a loving service to God by rendering it to those round about us, in our homes, or anywhere. "Let the judgment that Christ is to pass upon us at the last," said Robert E. Spear in an address to some students, "warn us against our failure to behold Him in the trivial circumstances of life. In that day we shall ask Him, 'When did we see Thee?' 'Saw me?' He will answer: 'when you lied to that man you lied to Me. When you cheated that widow and her children you were cheating me. When you saw me? In absolutely every trial and testing of your life you faced Me.'"

"This life of ours, what is it except the just story of our attitude to Jesus Christ? My hearing to every man or woman or child is my bearing toward Christ. Every hope and thought and act and practice of mine is a judgment for or against Jesus Christ. In the secretaries of our life we are living against Him or for Him, and at the last we shall be judged in proportion as everything we did was a service of or an affront to the Christ whom we served or spurned in the silences of our lives."

It is for this reason that every quiet man and woman who uses his or her life to help others is living the good life. It does not matter whether this life is lived in obscurity or in prominence as long as it is lived for God. Let us not, therefore, scorn the little things. Instead, let us crowd our lives full of loving, kindly deeds. Thereby we may know that we are pleasing God.—T. H. N.

The Ten Commandments of Business

1. Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up, but thou shalt pull out thy comb and go to work, that thou mayest prosper in thy affairs and make the word "failure" spell "success."

2. Thou shalt not be content to go about thy business looking like a loafer, for thou shouldst know that thy personal appearance is better than a letter of recommendation. 3. Thou shalt not try to make excuses, nor shalt thou say to those who chide thee, "I didn't think."

4. Thou shalt not wait to be told what thou shalt do, nor in what manner thou shalt do it, for thus may thy days be long in the job which fortune hath given thee.

5. Thou shalt not fail to maintain thine own integrity, nor shalt thou be guilty of anything that will lessen thy good reputation for thyself.

6. Thou shalt not court the other fellow's job, nor his salary, nor the position that he hath gained by his own hard labor.

7. Thou shalt not fail to live with in the income, nor shalt thou contract any debts when thou canst not see thy way clear to pay them.

8. Thou shalt not be afraid to blow thy own horn, for he who faileth to blow his own horn, at the proper occasion, findeth nobody standing ready to blow it for him.

9. Thou shalt not hesitate to say "No" when thou meanest "No," nor shalt thou fail to remember that there are times when it is unsafe to bind thyself by a hasty judgment.

10. Thou shalt give every man a square deal. This is the last and greatest commandment, and there is no other like unto it. Upon this commandment hangs all the law and profits of the business world.—Graham Hood.

Gourlay Pianos ARE NOT MERELY FIRST-CLASS, THEY ARE SOMETHING BETTER.

Good pianos that are regarded as first-class and to-day are as fine as they ever were, are not only out-dated but appear at a disadvantage when compared with the Gourlay Piano, because of its greater achievements in construction and tonality.

We ask you to examine a Gourlay for yourself.

Tools for the Housewife

Every farmer's wife should have her tool kit. She needs it, just as much as the men folk. A wood saw, a meat saw, a hand saw, a driver, pinchers, etc., and nails of all sizes. She will be surprised how much fixing she can do for herself, when she has suitable tools to work with. She often hear our men folk laugh at us for driving nails with an iron wedge and all such awkward implements. Why do we use them? Simply for the reason that we have nothing else at hand to use. Let us get suitable tools and we will soon find that we have a little practise we can use them with a skill that will surprise all.

Twice a Winner

I have just received a fine nickel watch for securing two new yearly subscribers to Farm and Dairy at $1 each, and for which I thank Farm and Dairy very much. I think it is a nice watch, and it is the first one I have had. I also received a pair of skates for securing two new subscribers to Farm and Dairy, and am much pleased with them.—Raymond Hooper, Carleton Co., Ont.

THE COOK'S CORNER

Recipes for publication are requested. Inquiries regarding cooking, recipes, etc., gladly answered upon request to the Household Editor, Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, Ont.

Tea Biscuits

Put into one sieve of flour a teasp. of soda, and 2 teasp. of cream of tartar and a pinch of salt, sieve. Into this rub 2 tablesp. of lard, a few currants and mix with half sweet and half butter milk.

MUFFINS, WHITE

One cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablesp. lard, a little salt, beat well, then add 3 cups sweet milk, 4 cups flour, into which has been put 1 teasp. soda, 2 teasp. cream of tartar. Drop in muffin tins and bake in a hot oven.

MUFFINS, WHOLE WHEAT

One cup sugar, 1 egg, salt, 2 tablesp. butter or lard, beat well, then add 2 cups buttermilk, 1 teasp. soda and 1 teasp. cream of tartar. Drop in muffin tins and bake in a hot oven. Make an excellent brown loaf if baked one hour in an individual bread pan.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

Two-thirds cup chocolate, (grated), ½ cup granulated sugar, ½ cup sweet milk, yolk of 3 eggs. Boil to the consistency of cream, cook. In another vessel put 1 cup sugar (gr.) ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, beaten separately, ½ cup sweet milk, 2 cups of flour, with 1 teasp. soda and 1 teasp. cream of tartar.

Add the first ingredients before putting in flour. This can be baked in layers or as a square chocolate cake. Use icing sugar with chocolate grated in, mixed with milk and heated over the kettle to ice this cake.
