to prevent matter how mit), burnand must employes at er for the fires. The such fireexpense of fails to take inv expenses or by the province has and effec. fires. With protected, ct the timber having the co-operation in this mat-All you are all, put out ay start on tch for fires nd if one is elp in extindiscover, a re threatens fy the forest readily extion to the D' why Shirt NECESSARY lture and to k is a flourber industry. reat deal of dinary times ges. Out of and manurt goes directoy labor and tation. The orests forms otal ordinary It helps to all kinds of taxes down. rease of this ent on the u try. y to ensure a aterial for the sary to precutting now ally necessary to provide stant future, nuch greater rom 50 to 100 nber to grow

s are requir

nd is held in under leases

s occur, the

the soil in-

p is delayed

and laughed more than I painted, though I sat with my easel before me Amazing as the thing was, I had no doubt of the revelation. and a picture ready upon my palette "Ah," I said to Miss Elliott when he to be painted had gone, "I won't have to take pupils No one could have understood betto get the answer to my question ter than I that this was setting a bad example to the acolyte who sat, like-It was evening when I heard Safwise facing an easel, ten paces to my, fren's voice calling my name. left; a very sportsmanlike figure of a "Here." I answered from my veran painter, indeed, in her short skirt and da. where I had just lighted my second ong coat of woodland brown, the fine cigar. brown of dead oak leaves; a "devastat-"No more work tonight! All finishing" selection of color that, being ed!" he cried jubilantly, springing much the same shade as her hair, down the steps. "I'm coming to have with brown for her hat, too, and the more blushless piece of assurance than a talk with you. veil encircling the small crown there-"I won't sit down," he said. "I'll of, and brown again for the stout, walk up and down in front of the vehigh, laced boots which protected her randa if it doesn't make you nervous." from the wet tangle underfoot. Who For answer I merely laughed, and he aughed, too, in genial response, concould have expected so dashing a young person as Anne Elliott to do any inning gayly: real work at painting? Yet she did. "Oh, it's all so different with me! narrowing her eyes to the finest point Everything is. That blind feeling 1 of concentration and applying berself told you of-it's all gone. I must have been very babyish the other day. I don't think'I could feel like that again. to the task in hand with a persistence which I found on that particular morning far beyond my own powers. It used to seem to me that I lived At her request I inspected her work. penned up in a circle of blank stone stepped back several yards to see it walls. I couldn't see over the top for better, though I should have had to myself at all, though now and then retire about a quarter of the length of Keredec would boost me up and let me city block to see it guite from her get a little glimmer of the country own point of view. roundabout, but never long enough to She moved with me, both of us walk. see what it was really like. But it's not so now. Ab"-he drew a long breath-"I'd like to run. I think I ing backward. 1 began: "For a day like this, with all the color in the trees themselves and so could run all the way to the top of a very little in the air"pretty fair sized mountain tonight and There came an interruption, a voice then"-he laughed-"jump off and ride on the clouds."

"But I get up with the first daylight o paint," I protested, "and 1 paint all

Oliver Saffren had come in from the road and was crossing to the gallery

steps. He lifted his hat and gave me a quick word of greeting as he passed.

and at the sight of his flushed and happy face my riddle was solved for of unpleasant and wiry nasality, speaking from behind us. He paused in his sentry go, facing "Well, well!" it said. "So here we are again!" I faced about and beheld, just emerged from a bypath, a fox faced young "But that's not all," he said, his man whose light, well poised figure voice rising a little. "I saw her again was jauntily clad in gray serge, with "Oh, I tell myself that it's a dream."

ture throws herself straight in your people about Pere Baudry's lamplit face and you are at a loss to know door flickered across my mind. whether she has kissed you or slapped "The historical tourist." I exclaimed. The highly pedestrian tripper from you, though you are conscious of the tingle-a day, in brief, more for laugh-Trouville!" "You got me right, m'dear friend." ing than for painting, and the truth is that I suited its mood only too well he replied with condescension, "I rec eck meetin' you perfect." "And I was interested to learn," said carefully observing the effect of my words upon him. "that you had been to Les Trois Pigeons, after all., Perhaps, I might put it, you had been through Les Trois Pigeons, for the maitre d'hotel informed me you had investigated every corner-that wasn't locked " "Sure." he returned, with rather less embarrassment than a brazen Vishnp would have exhibited under the san circumstances. "He showed me what pitchers they was in your studio. Fil "You will be visiting near enough for me to avail myself of the opportunity "Bight in the Pigeon house, mv friend. I've just come down t'put in a few days there," he responded coolly. "They's a young feller in this neighborhood I take a kind o' fam'ly interest in." "Who is that?" I asked quickly,

For answer he produced the effect of a laugh by widening and lifting one side of his mouth; leaving the other meantime rigid. "Don' lemme int'rup' the conv'sation with yer lady friend." he said win-ningly. "What they call 'talkin' high arts,' wasn't it? I'd like to hear some."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Young husband-"Didn't I telegraph you not to bring your mother with you?" Young wife-"I know. That's what she wants to see you about. She read the telegram."-Boston Transcript.

scarlet waistcoat and tie, white shoes upon his feet and a white hat gayly Try a Beacon Adv.

OBITHARY LORENZO S. LORD

Lorenzo S. Lord, identified with Oconto and Oconto county for 54 years, passed away at the home of his son, Harry M. Lord, at Oconto, Monday morning at 7.30 o'clock. He had been ill for many weeks. Three weeks ago he went to Sacred Heart Sanitarium in Milwaukee, but the doctors said it would be necessary to have an operation which would probably prove fatal, and so he came home. Lorenzo S. Lord was born at Deer Island, New Brunswick, in 1841. He came from that sturdy English stock that made that province a garden out of ruggedness, and produced some of the best men who ever came to the west and northwest. He married Lucy Overton in November, 1867. Fifty-four years ago he came to Oconto G. McFarlaine, H. D. Perry, W. Mills, E. luk 'em over again fer ye one of county and sertled in the town of Maple these days. Some of 'em was right Valley, and has been identified with the life of that section since. From that union were born three children. Harry Lord, Jusice of the Peace, and with the Oconto Service Co.; Leonard Lord, of Oconto; and Mrs. Nellie Butler, wife of Fred Butler, of Hickory. Mrs. Lord passed away four years ago and is buried at Hickory cemetery.

Two years before Mrs. Lord died they had come to Oconto to live. His wife's death was a severe blow to him, but he in-Bay Island, Ohio. continued to keep a hand on affairs.

Mr. Lord was always identified with the Mr. Lord was always identified with the M. E. church at Hickory, being one of the church officers for many years. In 1881 Rer. W. D. Cox, now pastor of Simpson M. E. church at Milwaukee, was in charge of Enterprise, Oconto, Wis., May 24. the churches at Hickory, Gillett, and Oconto Falls, and a warm friendship existsd between Mr. Lord and himself. Later Mr. Cox was pastor at Oconto, leaving here in 1899. It was therefore fitting that he should, as he did, officiate at the funeral of his old friend and parishioner, on Wednesday, and pay the last application forms and particulars tribute of respect to the dead.

Mr. Lord took up land and was a part of the growing life of his community. He Crown Land Office, Fredericton, was loved by all. He enjoyed the highest respect of his neighbours. He was a willing helper in all things that were for the upbuilding of the town or county. And when he had reached the age when he felt he no longer need labor, he was greatly missed by his friends as he came to Oconto to reside.

Escorted by brother Masons of Oconto lodge, his remains were taken to Hickory at noon Wednesday, and there in the old church was held the funeral. It was conducted by the members of Oconto lodge, F. & A. M., of which he had been a member for years. Frank W. Gerrish; of Pine lodge, of Oconto, Past Master, repeated the service. Dr. Cox delivered the eulogy. Interment was in the Hickory cemetery beside his wife.

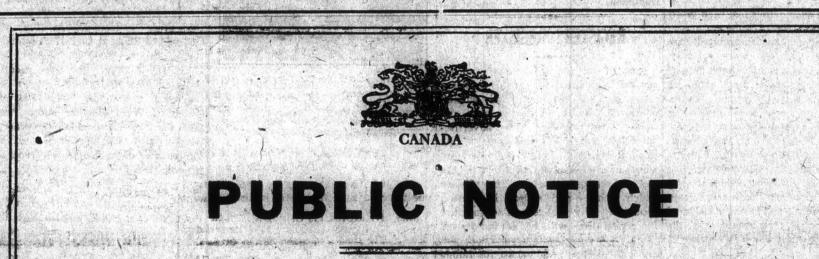

Sixty Mrsons were in line in the procession from the church to the cemetery. The pallbearers were T. A. Pamperin, H. Hamilton, and H. Berninghaus. At the home in Oconto a simple ceremony had been held at 11.30 before going to Hickory. From out of the city came relatives and friends, Mrs. Marden, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Mattie Doughty, and Miss Addie Lord, of Oshkosh, Mrs. T. E. Mills, and Henry Johnson, of Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brophy, Escanaba. Lieut. Herbert Overton Lord, son of H. M. Lord, came home from Camp Custer Monday, returning this evening to Camp Perry, Put-

Masses of flowers were banked about the casket as it stood in the parlor of the

WOODSMEN

Wanted by Crown Land Department, experienced woodsmen to act as permanent Forest Rangers in Forest Service. Write for T. G. LOGGIE. to

Deputy Minister N. B., May 27th, 1918. 48-2w

THE BEACON, SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1918 It was one of those days when na- tion of the dusky road and a group of zen, are therein the forest ce. You are in the woods, nce in your on and sup-

A. SMITH. is and Mines.

n

om

full

to

ada

e to ace

pro-

ard

an

ook, but gave no other sign of shame nor even of being flustered, cheerfully replying:

THE GUEST OF

OUESNAY

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright 1908, by the McClure Co. Copyright 1907, 1908, by the Ridgway Co.

CHAPPER VIL

Miss Elizabeth's phaeton

though a lady from Quesnay did prove to be the occupant. At sight of her halted stockstill under the archway.

There she sat, a sketchbook on a green table beside her and a board in her lap, brazenly painting, and a

Miss Anne Elliott thus engaged these

She was not so hardened that she did not affect a little timidity at sight

of me, looking away even more quickly than she looked up, while I walked slowly over to her and took the garden chair beside her. That gave me violett little "lay-in" of shrubbery, trees and the sky line of the inn. To my prodicious surprise and, naturally not bad at all, indeed. It displayed a sense of values, of placing and even in a young and frantic way of color.

Here was a young woman of more

"You see," she said, squeezing one of the tiny tubes almost dry and continuing to paint with a fine effect of absorption, "I had to show you that I was in the most abysmal earnest.

Will you take me painting with you?"

"l appreciate your seriousness," l re-

"How can I say? You haven't told me whether or no I may follow you to

"I mean, have you caught another

At that she showed a prettier color

in her cheeks than any in her sketch-joined. "Has it been rewarded?"

than "accomplishments!"

the wildwood."

glimpse of Mr. Saffren?"

with a degree of pleasure

that it was not very bad-

eves have never beheld.

WENT home." Outside the Inn I saw

But it was not Miss Elizabeth

who had come in the phaeton,

"That is far from the point. Do you grant my burning plea?" "I understood I had offended you." "You did." she said. - "Viciously!" "I am sorry," 1 continued.- "I wanted to ask you to forgive me"-"What made you think I was offended?" "Your look of reproach when you left the table"-

"I was only playing offended. I thought your note was fetching!" she "Will you take me painting with you?" she udded. "If it will convince you that I mean it I'll give up my hopes of seeing that sumptions Mr. Saffren and go back to Quesnay now. before he comes home. You can't know how enervating it is up there at the chateau-all except Mrs. Harman, and even she"-"What about Mrs. Harman?" I asked as she naused. "I think she must be in love."

"What!"

"I do think so," said the girl. "She's like it, at least. I'm afraid she's my rival!"

"Not with"- I began. "Yes, with your beautiful and mad voung friend." "But-on, it's preposterous!" I cried.

profoundly disturbed. "She couldn't be! If you knew a great deal about "I may know more than you think.

My simplicity of appearance is deceptive," she mocked, beginning to set her sketch box in order .. "You don't realize that Mrs. Harman and 1 are quite hurled upon each other at Quesnay, being two ravishingly intelligent women entirely surrounded by large bodies of elementals. She has told me a great deal of herself since that first evening, and I know-well, I know why she did not come back from Dives this afternoon, for instance." "Why P" I fairly shouted.

She slid her sketch into a groove in the box, which she closed, and rose to her feet before answering.

"I might tell you some day," she said indifferently, "if I gained enough idence in you through association in defly pursuits.

dear young lady," I cried with eal exasperation. "I am a workingman, and this is a working summer "Do you think I'd spoil it?" she

she would wish you to tell me this?" "Ah, she likes you!" he said so heartily and appearing meanwhile so satisfied with the completencess of his re-ply that I was fain to take some sat-isfaction in it myself. "What I wanted most to say to you," he went on, "is this: You remember you promised to tell me whatever you could learn about her and about her husband." "I remember."

me, and said in a low voice:

the day after she told you"-

"You did!" I murmured.

beautifully kind to me!"

of old hopes renewed.

he cried, "that it can't be true, for it has been every day since then! That's why I haven't joined you in the woods.

I have been with her, walking with her, listening to her, looking at her. always feeling that it must be unreal

and that I must try not to wake up.

She has been so kind-so wonderfully,

"She has met you?" I asked, thinking ruefully of George Ward, now on the high seas in the pleasant company

"She has let me meet her. And to-ay we lunched at the inn at Dives

and then walked by the sea all afternoon. She gave me the whole day-the whole day. You see"-he began to pace again-"you see, I was right, and you were wrong. She wasn't offend-ed-she was glad-that I couldn't help speaking to her. She has said so."

"Do you think," I interrupted, "that

"I've seen her again."

"Yes; 1 know."

"It's different now; I don't want you" to," he said. "I want only to know what she tells me berself. She has told me very little, but I know when the times comes she will tell me everything. But I wouldn't hasten it. 1 wouldn't have anything changed from just this!"

"You mean"-

"I mean the way it is. If I could hope to see her every day, to be in the woods with her or down by the shore-oh, I don't want to know anything but that!"

"No doubt you have told her," I ventured, "a good deal about yourself," and was instantly ashamed of my I suppose I spoke out of a sense of protest against Mrs. Harman's strange lack of conventionality. "I've told her all I know," he said readily, and the unconscious pathos of the answer smote me. "And all that Keredec has let me know. You see I haven't"-

"But do you think," I interrupted quickly, anxious, in my remorse, to divert him from that channel-"do you think Professor Keredec would ap-prove, if he knew?"

"I think he would," he responded slowly, pausing in his walk again: "I have a feeling that perhaps he does know, and yet I have been afraid to tell him, I think he knows everything in the world! I have felt tonight that he knows this, and-it's very strange, but I-well, what was it that made him so glad?" "The light is still burning in his room," I said quietly. "You're right. I'll tell him tonight." This came with sudden decision, but with less than marked what followed. "But he can't stop me now. No one on earth shall do that, except Mme. d'Armand herself-no one!"

I saw his hand groping toward me in the darkness, and, rising, I gave him

"Good night," he said. "I'm glad to tell him. I'm glad to have told you. Ah, but isn't this." he cried. "a happy Turning, he ran to the gallery steps. "At last I'm glad," he called back over his shoulder—"I'm glad that I was

I heard his voice indistinctly, but I thought, though I might have been mistaken, that I caught a final word and that it was "again."

. . .

DOCUMENTS TO BE CARRIED

by every male person who is not on active service in any of His Majesty's Naval or Military Forces, or in the Naval or Military Forces of any of His Majesty's Allies, and who apparently may be, or is reasonably suspected to be, within the description of Class One under the Military Service Act, 1917, who for any reason may have claimed that he is not within Class. One under the Act.

NOTICE is hereby given that, under the provisions of an Order in Council | member of any other society or body, a certificate of the fact signed by an (P.C. 1013), of the 20th April, 1918, upon and after the 1st day of June, office-holder competent so to certify under the regulations of the church, order 1918, every male person who is not on active service in any of His Majesty's or denomination, society or body, to which he belongs; or Naval or Military Forces, or in the Naval or Military Forces of His Majesty's

Allies, and who apparently may be, or is reasonably suspected to be, within the description of Class One under the Military Service Act, 1917, by whom or on whose behalf, it is at any time affirmed, claimed or alleged that he is not, whether by reason of age, status, nationality, exception, or otherwise, within Class One under the Military Service Act, 1917, as defined for the time being or that, although within the said Class, he is exempted from or not liable to military service; shall have with him upon his person at all times or in or upon any building or premises where he at any time is,

EXEMPTION

If it be claimed that he is exempted from or not liable to military service by reason of any exemption granted or claimed or application pending under the Military Service Act, 1917, or the regulations thereunder, his exemption papers, or a certificate of the Registrar or Deputy Registrar of the district, to which he belongs evidencing the fact; or

OTHER CLASS

ACE

knowledge of the fact; or

MARRIAGE

If it be claimed that he is not within the Class by reason of marriage, certificate, either official or signed by two reputable citizens residing in the community in which he lives and having knowledge of the facts, certifying to his marriage and that his wife is living; or

NATIONALITY

If it be claimed that he is not within the Class by reason of his nationality a certificate of his nationality signed by a Consul or Vice-Consul of the foreign State or Country to which he claims his allegiance is due; or a passport issued by the Government of that Country establishing his nationality; or

ACTIVE SERVICE

If it be claimed that he is excepted as a member of any of His Majesty's Forces or as having since the 4th August, 1914, served in the Military or Naval Forces of Great Britain or her Allies in any theatre of actual war and has been honourably discharged therefrom, official documents or an official certificate evidencing the fact; or Ottawa, May 22, 1918.

If it be claimed that he is not within the class by reason of age, an official certificate of the date of his birth, or a certificate of his age signed by two reputable citizens residing in the community in which he lives and having howledge of the fact; or

FAILURE TO CARRY REQUISITE EVIDENCE

If upon or after the 1st day of June, 1918, any such male person be found thout the requisite evidence or certificate upon his person or in or upon the building or premises in which he is, he shall thereupon be presumed to be a person at the time liable for military service and to be a deserter or defaulter without leave:

PENALTY

And he shall also be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $50 or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding one month, or to both such fine and imprisonment; and moreover, any such person may forthwith be taken into military custody and may be there detained and required to perform military duty in the Canadian Expeditionary Force so long as his services shall be required, unless or until the fact be established to the satisfaction of competent authority that he is not liable for military duty.

- FALSE CERTIFICATE

The use, signing or giving of any such certificate as hereinbefore mentioned shall, if the certificate be in any material respect false or misleading to the CLERGY If it be claimed that he is excepted as a member of the clergy, or of any recognized order of an exclusively religious character, or is a minister of a religious denomination existing in Canada on 29th August, 1917, or as being a

> ISSUED BY THE MILITARY SERVICE BRANCH OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.