

TEACHER FOR 50 YEARS; NOW HAS RESIGNED

Principal of Port Dover School Positively Gives Up His Work.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Port Dover, July 26.—No intelligence has yet reached here regarding the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Gus. Smith, daughter of Mr. Robert Austin, whose funeral was held here on Sunday. The body was found on the railway at Vinemount, where deceased had been engaged as cook for the men at the stone crushing plant.

DUKE OF BRUNSWICK.
Kaiser's son-in-law, who became hopelessly insane when his German troops met disaster and were slain on a march in the Russian frontier.

The following from Brantford are registered as guests at Orchard Beach Hotel to-day, in addition to previous list: James A. Cox, Mrs. H. Grandfield, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Baird, Mrs. C. B. Eckel and party.
The bathing contingent of to-day's Brantford excursion did not venture far beyond the ropes.
Mrs. Whitney and Miss Finkle gave a bright cottage party last evening in aid of the I.O.D.E.
Mr. W. H. Smith, the veteran schoolmaster, has positively resigned, and the board is advertising for a new principal. Every persuasion was used to retain his services.
The local hotels do not take kindly to an all-day dinner on Sunday. The opening of the road is a bonanza to the ice cream parlors and confectionery stalls, but otherwise the traffic does not appear to affect business interests.

HUMBERSTONE FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Port Colborne, July 27.—Armenius Noxell, a farmer, living in Humberstone Township, was killed by a bolt of lightning yesterday afternoon. Mr. Noxell's barn, containing a large hay crop and three valuable horses, was entirely consumed. Mr. Noxell leaves a widow and four young children. The barn and contents of Levi Zimmerman, in the same vicinity, was also destroyed.

IS NEW CIVIL LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY.

London, July 27.—The Earl of Lytton has been appointed Civil Lord of the Admiralty, replacing the Duke of Devonshire, who has been designated Governor-General of Canada.

The Joy of a Vacation may be turned to the sorrow that comes from indigestion.

The battle with hotel menus is a losing one for the man with a weak stomach. Happy is the man who listens to the call of the wild—who goes fishing, hunting and canoeing—who takes with him Triscuit, the Shredded Whole Wheat wafer, a Triscuit is made of the whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked. A tasty Summer snack, supplying the greatest amount of nutriment in smallest bulk. Delicious with butter, soft cheese or marmalades.

LADIES' TRESSES

Now Marta's stepmother and her ugly daughters had still another plan to keep Marta from the destiny of a king's son, which the old woman had promised her.
"We'll cut her hair close—close to her head," they whispered. "Then she will look strange and unlovely, and no king's son would look at her."
So they gave Marta a drug to make her sleep and when at last she was sleeping heavily, the four ugly, spiteful women clipped off her beautiful braids of golden hair with a pair of shears. Long? Marta's braids were long enough and thick enough for ropes. And with them the ugly women carried her to the hill and lowered her once more into the black bog below.
This time it was the Wind who took a hand.
"Marta, gentle Marta," it crooned, "Wake! It is not good to sleep in the bog where dangers lurk."
After a time with the wind fresh and cool in her face, Marta awoke, to find her head short of its lovely golden hair. Then, indeed, she wept bitterly, but almost at once she heard a gentle whispering behind her and there, in a cranberry bog, grew tall frosty spires of blossoms that had a curious look of being braided. And again the bed of marsh flowers was full of smiling fairies.
"Marta, gentle Marta," they cried. "Mortals call our blossoms 'ladies' tresses.' Cover your poor shorn head with them and we will bring you—magic."
Marta, always sweet and eager to obey, covered her head with the frosty flowers. A fairy tapped her head with a magic wand and once more she had long beautiful braids of hair. But alas! they were silver white and frosted like the flowers. Lucky it was, say I, that nothing is too difficult for fairies. They hunted and they hunted until they found the white and pink flowers of the wild swamp angelica plant and from it they made a wonderful fairy dye of yellow and turned Marta's hair once more to gold!
And when this was done one of the frosty spires of fairy flower began to grow. It grew and it grew and it grew to the top of the hill and Marta, urged by the friendly fairies, climbed and climbed, resting her foot on first one spire and then another until she came out on the top of the hill with her golden hair, more beautiful than ever, blowing in the wind.
When the four ugly women saw her they grew as pale as death, for now, they knew, she was guarded by the marsh fairies.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

BY ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:
I am a young girl, 16 years old, and live in the country. I know a young man about one year my senior, who lives in a city nearby. I love him very much, and he says he loves me. But my parents don't approve of any correspondence with him. My father has never met him, but my mother has, and I've only been out with him once.
Please tell me if it would be all-right to ask him to my home to meet with my parents? He is very nice and treats me well. Do you think he really loves me?
WORRIED SIXTEEN.

Another Appeal for Casement

Judges Will Consent to Hear Further Arguments.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 27.—Justice Darling announced to-day that the five judges who heard the appeal of Roger Casement against the sentence of death on the charge of high treason, in connection with the Dublin revolt, would sit to-morrow to hear a possible application on behalf of the convict.
The nature of the application was not disclosed.
Justice Darling said he had received a letter from those representing Casement, and calling the Crown attorneys into court he made the foregoing announcement after conferring with Justices Bray and Scrutton, the only appeal judges present in court.

I also knew of a girl who wrote letters to a man, who sentimentally saved them. The man married, and his young wife cleaned out the trunks with amazing discoveries. He warned, dear, won't you?
I'm glad to have your letters, and I want to be a real friend to the girls of the community.
ANNIE LAURIE.
Dear Annie Laurie:
Please are two girls, both of sixteen years of age.
We are considered good looking, and there are three or four young men that seem to think quite a lot of us. One girl thinks we are too young and the other thinks we are plenty old enough to go with young men, because she loves to go to dancing parties.
We have read a lot of your valuable advice, and thought you could advise us what to do.
We both want to stay young and girlish looking as long as we can.
Please give us your advice.

Two Country Girls

Two Country Lassies: Why, what delightful girls you are, and what a nice letter. I read it through three or four times and I feel almost as if I knew you very well. I'm glad to have you for my friends and will be glad to have you write me often. Of course you want to be young as long as ever you can. And, you are sensible not to want to begin going with boys, for nothing will make you seem older so quickly as "keeping company."
Sixteen is too young to begin going to dances and parties at night. Once in a while, of course, a girl likes to have a good time in the evening, but not as a regular thing, for I believe you're both in school, aren't you?
Of course you're good looking. And I know you're very well. I'm glad of your hair and skin, not with powder but with good clear water and plenty of baths and that you try to be real "wisely girls," wholesome, sweet and lovable—just the kind of girls that make the finest women in the world.

WATCHFUL OVER HER NEUTRALITY

U. S. Cruiser North Carolina in Wait for Subs Going and Coming.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Washington, D.C., July 27.—The armored cruiser, North Carolina, and three United States destroyers were on neutrality duty to-day outside the Virginia Capes, where allied warships are hovering, in wait for the German submarine Deutschland, about to leave Baltimore for Germany, and the submarine Bremen, expected hourly from across the seas.
The American war vessels went to sea yesterday on orders from the navy department, after a vessel purporting to be an allied warship had passed into Chesapeake Bay and out again in the early morning hours.
Officials were silent as to just what instructions went to the North Carolina. It was assumed, however, its commander was ordered to see that the submarine was not attacked within the three mile limit, and that American neutrality was not otherwise violated.
Not Heard of in London.
London, July 27.—At the admiralty to-day it was stated that no information had been received regarding the reported mysterious visit Monday night of a British cruiser with the American territorial waters of the Virginia Capes.
THE HOT WEATHER TEST makes people better acquainted with their resources and strength endurance. Many have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which invigorates and promotes sleep and overcomes that tired feeling.

NO SIGNS YET OF ITS DEPARTURE

Deutschland Will Wait, It is Probable, for News of the Bremen.

MAY NOT LEAVE FOR A WEEK.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Baltimore, July 27.—If Captain Paul Koenig, of the merchant submarine Deutschland, plans to start to-day on the return voyage to Germany, there was nothing going on this morning at the pier where the submarine is berthed that was any more indicative of departure than has been the case for the last few days.
Over-night developments, in fact, tended to increase the probability of a report late last night that it had been decided to hold the Deutschland here until some word had been received concerning her sister ship, the Bremen.
When Carl A. Luederitz, German consul here, announced that the reception to Ambassador Von Bernstorff, which he had planned at his home for last evening, had been in definitely postponed, he was asked when the Deutschland would leave. "She will not leave for a week," answered Mr. Luederitz. He would not add to this statement however, when he was asked the cause of further delay in the vessel's departure, although clearance papers had been taken out. The postponement of the reception to the Ambassador was owing to his inability to come here last night, Mr. Luederitz said.
The Deutschland crew slept aboard the interned North German Lloyd steamer Neckar last night.

London, July 27.—The British authorities, says the Overseas News Agency to-day, has endorsed the protest of the Dutch ship owners, sailors and sailors' union against the act of the British authorities in seizing Dutch fishing boats, virtually all which have been taken possession according to the News Agency.
The reason for the seizure—London, July 27.—Naval officials here state that the British authorities believe that the Dutch are using their fishing boats as a base against Dutch fishing boats, as Germans in certain areas were using use of disguised vessels to catch fish. Information received for actual attack, some trawlers, whose under sail, being provided with torpedo tubes.

GREAT TIMBER.

PROSPECTS of new wealth in the cotton industry are bright. Little, of Boston, in an address after a luncheon given in his honor by the American Textile Manufacturers' Institute, Mr. Little represents the organization of chemists and researchers.
At the invitation of Lord St. Leonards, a branch of the survey the resources of Canada of a tour through Canada, which Vice-President of the C. P. R., W. M. Ingram, president of the speaker.
Mr. Little explained that he had those who do not, have to be themselves after a brief acquaintance with the process of rebirth. He had for which one breathed a more substantial life. It was a wish, though it was derived from a child. He had seen the black soil of wheat, great stretches of forest minerals and of commanding metropolitan areas that the traveler had been his good fortune to see.
Natural resources, process great industries. Such industry implied responsibility, and hence the responsibility of the opportunities at hand, and knowledge at its best. It was not a wish, but was intensely practical people that science was the base science there could be no liberty.
Mr. Little defined industrialists and asked purpose some of them, formed than that of incalculating what research could do.
