

BARKER AGAIN A DEFENDANT.

Merrick Street Hotelman Accused of Cutting and Wounding.

London Boy Who Looks Like the Mountain Purse Snatcher.

A Dog Shooting Case Stands for More Witnesses.

J. M. Barker, proprietor of the Flamboro House, is in trouble again at the Police Court. He was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge that on Saturday night he did cut and wound and do grievous bodily harm to Fred Jagard, Cathcart street. Through A. M. Lewis he pleaded not guilty and declined to elect. Jagard stated that on Saturday last he was in the Flamboro House at 6.50 in the evening, and that he had been there only a minute or so when he saw the proprietor throwing a man into the trough in front of the bar. He made a remark on the way the man was being used, and a stranger, after asking him if he was looking for trouble, walked up to him on the side of the head and five or six paces off. He got to his feet and was trying to hold his own with his back to the bar when Barker, he swore, grabbed him and pulled him half over the bar. A Plastow, a man who was with him, pulled Barker off and then he suddenly felt a crack on the head and the blood started to flow. He turned around and saw Barker with a knife, which witness had to guard against, and in trying to prevent Barker from stabbing him, he got a nasty jab in the arm. Plastow and J. Hogg corroborated Jagard's testimony. Dr. Wickett said he dressed Jagard's two cuts and that they took ten stitches. His opinion was that a knife had done the work.

Constable Brown stated that he was called to the hotel on Saturday night, but the trouble was all over then. He took Jagard away, as he appeared to be very mad and wanted to go back and settle Barker.

Mr. Lewis withheld the evidence of the defence and the prisoner was committed for trial.

Thomas Steel, London, was arrested by G. T. R. Constable Darroek yesterday for trespassing on the G. T. R. depot. He was seen several nights sleeping at the depot, and had been warned away dozens of times. He stated he was sixteen years of age, and that his parents were living in London. The magistrate gave him a chance to go to work and dismissed the charge.

The police got a tip from a number of descriptions of the man who has been doing the purse snatching on the mountain side of late, and as Steel answered the descriptions he was charged with vagrancy, but the police found out that he was too young to hold for vagrancy, and he was let go.

John Noville, charged with the theft of a number of articles belonging to William Stroud, hide dealer, was further remanded until Friday this morning, and bail in the sum of $200 was fixed.

Herbert Foster, 75 Walnut street south, was charged by Mrs. McManus, a next door neighbor, with wilfully and unlawfully shooting her dog. He pleaded not guilty. Mrs. McManus said defendant had blocked up a hole in the fence and locked the dog in his yard and that he had then shot it and killed it. Foster did not deny shooting the dog, but said that he caught it stealing some of his chickens, and went to chase it, and it chased him instead. He then said it. A man named Spence, from whom Foster borrowed the gun, was not present, and the case was adjourned till the morning to get him.

John Lacy, Mary street, and Fred Shaw, Merrick street, were each fined $2 for being drunk.

AT THE ARMORY.

hTis Week's Special at the Popular Roller Rink.

Prof. W. E. Genno and Miss Kathleen Patterson, billed as the world's famous team of roller skaters, opened a week's engagement at the Armory Roller rink last evening and gave an interesting exhibition of skill in a large gathering of skaters and spectators. Three bands at different intervals played for their performance, which is of a graceful and refined nature. The couple are the originators of a series of skating acts, several of which they gave last evening. An entire change of programme will be given each evening, which includes wonderful exhibitions of waltzing and two steeping on high still skates, rolling the barrel with skates, racing on toes and heels against all comers, hurdlings, jumping (long and high) and other trick, fancy, acrobatic and sensational stunts. Their clown act, or "learning to skate," is very amusing and will be put on later in the week. The professor wears several medals and thousands have witnessed his records of one-quarter, one-half and one mile racing and jumping, while Miss Patterson is open for race with any lady in America.

The management announces a special matinee for Wednesday and Saturday. The admission to the balcony is only 10 cents. Prof. Genno is willing to instruct local skaters in the advanced forms of fancy rolling.

A SOCIAL EVENING.

Advance Lodge, Canadian Order of Oddfellows, held the first of a series of social events last evening, the members enjoying cards and cigars after the business of the meeting. There was a good attendance of members and a very pleasant time was spent. These social features will be continued during the winter and other lodges will be invited to participate in them.

Wonderful.
(Argonaut.)

Soon after his first baby was born his wife went upstairs one evening and found him standing by the side of the crib and gazing earnestly at the child. She was touched by the sight, and tears filled her eyes. Her arm stole softly around his neck, and she rubbed her cheek lovingly against his shoulder. He started slightly at the touch, "Darling," he murmured, dreamily, "it is inconceivable to me how they can get up such a crib as that for 99 cents."

Germany's army on a peace footing is 410,000 men, and that of France 507,000.

MASONIC VISIT.

During the evening the Stoney Creek quartette provided music, and W. Bro. R. Douglas sang a solo.

UNION MEETING.

W. M. S. Had Fine Gathering at Centenary.

A union meeting of the City Auxiliaries of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held in Centenary Church school room on Monday afternoon. There was a large attendance and a deep interest was taken in the proceedings. Mrs. Atkinson presided.

Two missionaries from Japan, Miss Killam and Miss Cunningham, were present and addressed the meeting.

Miss Killam spoke of the difficulties experienced in making the women understand the gospel.

Miss Cunningham, who has given twenty years of service to Japan, spoke of the educational work, and of the far-reaching influence of the teaching and training secured by the girls. She paid a well-deserved tribute to Miss Cartmel, the pioneer missionary to Japan.

Mrs. Harrison presented a report of the meeting of the General Board recently held at Woodstock. The records of the past year show advance in every department; a deepening interest, additional membership, and increase in funds. The sum of $97,501.98 was contributed to the W. M. Society during the past year.

Miss Adeline Smith and Miss Edith Carey sang very acceptably during the meeting.

WIRE DID IT.

Ottawa Departmental Building Had Narrow Escape.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 22.—The Western Departmental building on Parliament Hill had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire this forenoon. Two electric wires which passed around an iron gas pipe burned the pipe right through and ignited the gas, creating quite a blaze. The city brigade was quickly on the spot and had it extinguished with the aid of a couple of fire extinguishers. This is the second time that the electric wires have started fire in about the same place.

Stares, so both devotees of the rollers and spectators will be assured a fine concert of all the latest and best in music.

A COUGH IN THE FOREST

May Sometimes Scare a Deer Away,
Sometimes Save a Life.

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—In spite of the fact that deer are very plentiful in the Adirondacks this fall comparatively few have been brought in. The efforts of some of the Saranac Lake hunters have been defeated by physical ailments.

"I am not a success at still hunting," declared a New Yorker who is at Saranac Lake for his health. "I was walking through the woods the other day when this was brought forcibly to my mind. 'I was in the midst of innumerable deer runs and the signs of deer were fresh. I was constantly on the alert, proceeding with as little noise as possible and as the leaves and debris on the ground were thoroughly wet, I thought that I was doing very well indeed.

"But suddenly the old tickling came in my throat and I coughed. I could not help it. It is my physical weakness, and that is why I am here.

"But the instant I coughed there was a crash and a whistle to the left of the trail ahead of me. My coughing alarmed the deer and it got out of the vicinity as though a bound was after it.

"Coughing at the right time, however, once saved my life. We were camping down in the Pitchfork Pond country. Antoine Storey, the guide, was in charge of the camp and his wife did the cooking.

"Nearly every day Antoine would take one or two members of the party and still hunt deer. Sometimes I went with the boys, but on this particular day I remained in camp until late in the afternoon.

"It occurred to me that it would be good exercise and a pleasant thing to take a year 1906.

trail which had often been pointed out to me and go down to the Pitchfork Pond landing and there stepped Antoine to walk in with him. I set out over the trail.

"It developed that this trail was one of the hardest I ever walked over. It was little used and the blackberry bushes had grown to the height of my head. The briars caught in my clothing and tore out the threads, while I struggled and crashed along through them.

"I had not covered more than half of the distance when I began to wonder if I would ever get out of it in time to join Antoine, or if, in fact, I would ever get out without help. I knew that I was making considerable noise and dimly wondered how closely my thrashing through those briars resembled the approach of a deer.

"When about ten feet from the end of the trail, where it breaks out into the clearing at the landing, I coughed rather hard. An instant later I stepped out of the bushes to look directly into the barrel of a rifle.

"It was one of the hunting party. The hammer was raised and he was ready to shoot and the shot would have torn my breast for his aim was certain.

"I collapsed, the hunter staggered and lowered his gun.

"Good God, Wes!" he cried. "If you hadn't coughed just as you did, you would have been a dead man now."

The British Blue Book contains the criminal statistics relating to Ireland for the year 1906. It shows that indictable offenses for the whole of Ireland, which had risen from 9,617 in 1904 to 9,728 in 1905, declined to 9,465 in the year 1906.

TROUSERS OF RECENT ORIGIN.

A Hundred Years Ago Methodists Thought Them Immoral.

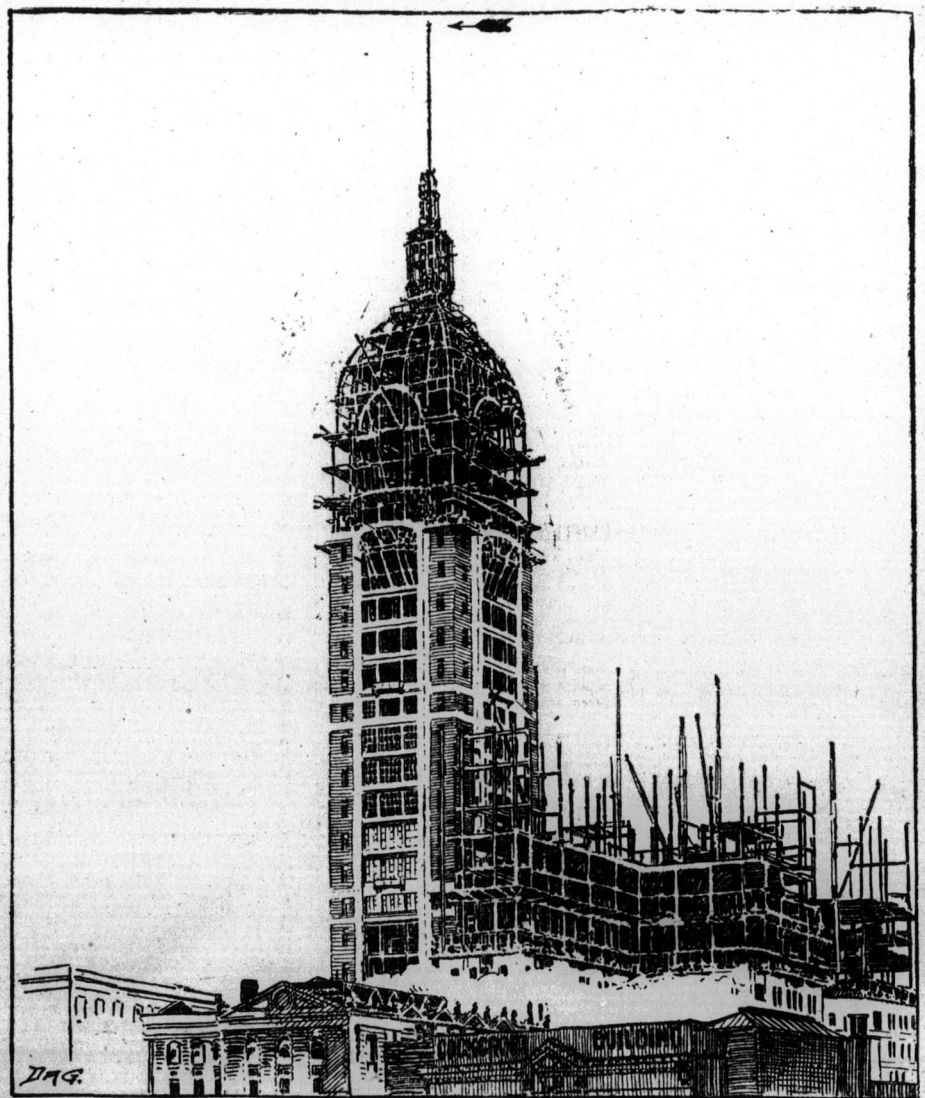

The modern custom of wearing trousers was taken from the military dress introduced into the army by the Duke of Wellington during the Peninsular war, says the Tailor and Cutter. In early days these were known as Wellington trousers, after the duke.

When they were coming into general use at the commencement of the nineteenth century, the religious world and the fashionable were most determined in their opposition. A clause in the original trust deed, dated 1820, of a Sheffield Nonconformist chapel provided that "under no circumstances whatever shall any preacher be allowed to occupy the pulpit who wears trousers."

But this was not all. Some doubts were expressed in many quarters concerning the question whether a man could be religious and appear in trousers. One of the founders of the Primitive Methodist body remarked to a colleague in the ministry that "trousers wearing, beer drinking so and so will never get to heaven."

Father Rice, a famous Methodist minister, twice president of the conference (born in 1765, died in 1850), could not be induced to adopt trousers, and among the Methodists were the last to follow popular fashion in this respect.

The Countess of Aberdeen is having models of her favorite dogs made by an Italian sculptor, who was in Dublin for that purpose a short time ago. Lady Aberdeen has ordered these models in order to have souvenirs of her pets after their death.

STEEPLEJACK CAPELLE ON THE SINGER BUILDING FLAGSTAFF, OVER SEVEN HUNDRED FEET ABOVE BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

LOWER Broadway, New York, enjoyed a sensation the other day when Ernest Capelle, a steeplejack, climbed the flagpole of a new skyscraper, the Singer building. The flagstaff at the peak is 703 feet above the level of the street and is sixty-two feet above the apex of the giant tower that rises high above all other buildings of the city. Perched upon it, with the city, the country and the ocean spread out before him until distance was lost in a haze, Capelle affixed a golden ball to the peak.

Saw Burglar in a Dream.

From Melbourne comes a strange but apparently quite authentic story of how E. Pascoe, of Bendigo, who recently lost the sum of £1,700 through a robbery from the local mint, saw the theft re-enacted in a dream.

He says that in the dream, as he stood outside the walls of the mint, suddenly he became as transparent as glass, and through them he saw a certain man whom he recognized as an inhabitant of Bendigo take the key of the safe from the clothing of a constable kept in the building. The thief then quietly opened the safe door, passed out three bars of gold to another man African Colonies (whose features the dreamer also knew well) through the window, replaced the key and skipped away.

So certain is Mr. Pascoe that he has been mystically informed of the details of the robbery as they actually occurred that he has gone to the Melbourne police with an account fuller than that which he has made public, including the names of the two men whom he saw in the vision.—Westminster Gazette.

Dr. Jameson has issued a manifesto containing, among other things, the planks of the Progressivist platform, one of which is the union of the South
