Swede's Opinion of France. Baron Adelsward, former Minister of Finance in Sweden, came to France at the head of a delegation of his countrymen, and, as such, was received in Paris by the Commission of Foreign Affairs of the Chamber of Deputies. He summed up the impression left upon the members of the delegation by their visit here in the following terms: "We found a whole nation mobilized there; one part in the trenches, mobilized and in arms, another part at the back mobilized at work, and both parts equally calm, confident, united and bound up in one thought: that of serving their country."

German Casualties. In a letter dated October 6th, 1915, Mr. Horace Green, the special correspondent to The New York Evening Post, calls attention to the change that has taken place in the German mind chiefly after the terrible losses they have just suffered. He writes: "The German casualties amounted to 61,955 for the single week ending October 1st. In other words, over 3,850 German citizens were either killed, wounded or taken prisoners, each day during the last seven days of the war upon the eastern front."

The lists of the seven days from September 23rd to 30th were not above the average of the two last months; in each column there were 150 names. On September 29th, 72 columns appeared making a total of 8,640 names; on September 28th, 60 columns with 7,200 names; September 27th, 8,625; September 26th, 11,080 names; September 24th, 8,510 names; September 23rd, 8,700 names.

Heroism of French Troops. We see by the following, in what terms the French Journal official mentions in the despatches several units whose splendid fighting made the operations in Champagne a success: "The Colonial Army, 1st Corps, under the courageous lead of their chief General Bourdoulou, dashed forward in magnificent style and carried several powerfully enemy positions, fought for seven consecutive days, from September 25th to October 2nd, with remarkable vigor and tenacity, were victorious in violent counter-attacks, constantly driving the enemy back from one position to another."

EDDY'S WHEN MATCHES ARE WANTED

GERMAN CASUALTIES 3,200,000. The Amsterdam Courant reckons the Prussian losses to date as 2,377,375. As the Prussian Army includes about three quarters of the whole German force—Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg having armies of their own—the total German casualties must be about an even 3,200,000. The German losses in the ten days' fighting this month for the possession of Vimy Heights in France totalled 60,000, and only a section of the French trenches were captured.

ADVERTISING THAT DOES PAY

The class of advertising that pays, and pays well, is that which you see in the clean, well-printed paper, where the type is new and bold, each line showing up nice and clear. The kind that has both individuality and originality. There is a marked distinction between this class of advertising and the kind you see in the poorly printed papers where originality does not exist in their composition. The originality and individuality in the make-up, and the air of professionalism about the advertisements in are among the most noticeable features of the advertising columns of this paper. Advertisers are wise to this, and that is one of the foremost reasons why all the larger display advts. are inserted in The Advocate. There is another very important reason why The Advocate is being used so extensively as an advertising medium, and that is in relation to circulation. The large circulation which The Advocate now has, is a well distributed one among the class of people who read advertisements—not made up of people who take no particular interest in reading either advts. or news matter, and simply placed on to swell the lists. They are bona fide paid up subscribers, and judging by the increased advertising patronage of The Advocate during the past few months, they are desirable ones.

The Advocate in its persistent endeavor to make itself popular with the reading public of the North Shore, is now realizing the good fruits of its determined efforts; and in making itself felt wanted by the people, and gradually working its way into their homes, it is also increasing its power as an advertising medium, and is carrying to the 10,000 people who read it, the weekly messages of bargains, etc. from the advertisers who patronize its columns. They reach all of the people all of the time.

The Better Kind OF PRINTING

It does not cost any more to have good stock and ink used in the production of your stationery than to have the same turned out on inferior stock and cheap ink used. Quality is the main feature in stationery, for there is nothing that makes a man's business look so cheap as the use of cheap paper. You want a smart, snappy letter head, on first quality stock that will make a strong bodied ink stand out—something original and up-to-date, so that when the wholesale dealer receives it, he will know, by its appearance, the kind of man he is dealing with, and you may bet he takes notice of this little detail. Do away with that old rubber stamp—it's cheap, alright, but too much so for YOUR business.

There is not a cheap sheet of paper used in the production of printing at The Advocate Job Dept. unless it is the wrapping paper, and then if you will examine that carefully, you will find it of superior quality. Our bonds and notes are picked. We do not buy job lots because we can get them cheap. We stock only the goods we can assure our patrons a repeat order on and not have to offer him something "just as good." We carry lines to suit every business, and prices to match. We also carry envelopes to match our bonds, and patrons have no trouble in selecting a suitable stock for their printing. Our inks are also graded, and bought to match each quality of stock used. Patrons who are now having their printing done here, know the truth of these words.

Good stock and high grade ink, harmonized with a touch of that originality and individuality found only in practical printers who make a practice of keeping in touch with all the latest ideas, all tend to make the work turned out of The Advocate Job Dept. superior to all others. Samples of stock and printed prices mailed upon request.
