Mr. English on Mr. McGrath's New Book.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The way of the transgressor is hard, proverbially, the way of the literary pilferer is also hard, for some day his sins will find him out.

Perhaps it is wrong to call Mr.
McGrath a pilferer, for his method of appropriating other people's writings partakes more of the nature of wholesale plundering, and his rather clumsy way of altering the wording of gifted men's works has been his undoing. He robs the living and does not scruple to defile the dead. Had Mr. McGrath confined his ravages to the papers of living authors, he may have had to a certain extent immunity, but when he steals from obsolete works he leaves a trail of evidence that is sure to lead to detection. Up to date works is apt to be correct in detail, therefore, its lifting is not so easy to point out, especially if the plunderer has skill enough to hide his tracks. Mr. Mc-Grath can scarcely be accredited this qualification, as perhaps the following will show. If the enquirer will turn up Harvey's "Newfoundland as it is in 1894," he will find, on comparing it with "Newfoundland in 1911," by P.
T. McGrath, that Mr. McGrath does not scruple making a stepping stone to fame of the sacred dead. Such conduct is reprehensible and should meet with the direct condemnation. Mr.
McGrath shows lamentable ignorance of the geography of this country, as well as of the technicalities of the other sciences his book attempts to deal with. Any advanced schoolboy could correct most of his geographical errors. For instance, he places the Anguille Range, on the west side of St. George's Bay. Every schoolboy knows that that bay has no western shore, but is open to the Gulf of St.
Lawrence on that side. Centre Hill according to "Caliban" is inland from the bottom of Conception Bay, whilst every boy knows or should know, that it is between Piper's Hole, Placentia Bay, and Clode Sound, in Bonavista Bay. The reliable book also states that Blomford Mt. is the highest in the country, being according to the compiler 2005 feet elevation. Had Mr.
McGrath taken the trouble to consult Commandr. W. Tark's chart 1391-6, he would find that Blomford has grown considerably since Harvey's time, and that it is now 2115 feet in height not is this by any means the highest land in the country. The chart quoted gives six higher peaks, those peaks are all in that range of hills between East Arm of Bonne Bay and Western Brook Pond, with the exception of one, Mt. St. Gregory, 2240 feet just inside N. Head, Bay of Islands.
The other elevations are not named their heights only being given, as follows, I forgot, one Gros Morn is mentioned, it is the loftiest in the range, being 2540 feet. Next are 2450, 2300, 2280 feet, according to the chart. Beside those hills we have Hodge's Hill, which is, I believe, 2204 feet high. Mr. McGrath places Spread Eagle Peak inland from St. Mary's Bay, when everybody knows it is near Dildo, Trinity Bay. Speaking of the rivers of the West Coast, Mr. McGrath mentions St. George's and Hawke's Rivers to the exclusion of Grand River and such, of much greater importance than this, Hawke's River, the very existence of which Mr. McGrath has not established. Speaking of mountains Mr. McGrath further remarks on page 19 of the wonderful book, that "the railroad ascends to 1730 feet to traverse this 'backbone' of the Island and reach the western slopes." By the "backbone" he means the Long Range Mountains. The compiler is in error. The elevation of 1730 feet is crossed long ere the train reaches the "backbone," this height being reached on the White Hill Plains in the centre of the country. After having crossed those plains the road descends by a steep gradient to Kitty's Brook, from that to water level at Bay of Islands the grade is easier. The "backbone" is not encountered till Deer Lake is reached. From that onward the road finds its way through passes in the chain of hills at moderate elevation above the sea.

I think I have said enough to show how reliable "Newfoundland in 1911" is, as a work of reference, and will have little more to say along that line.
On to-morrow I will give further reasons why, in my opinion, the book should not be permitted to go unchallenged. Before concluding this article I should like to point out an omission in Mr. McGrath's book. The compiler makes no mention of an industry that has quite recently been inaugurated, I refer to the canning of codfish. It would be of great interest to know what Mr. McGrath would call the factories in which the canning is done.
He calls the buildings on the South Side, where oil is manufactured, "warehouses," also he calls them "sealeries," perhaps the factories where fish is canned might be called codderies, if you were to follow out Mr. McGrath's idea.

ARTHUR ENGLISH.

No More Misery in the Stomach.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache —this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

A Prayer.

I do not ask that I should have no cross,
That I should hold life's gain without its loss.

That I no burdens share; But grant me that my arm may never fail.

That at the worst my courage may not quail,
That I have strength to bear.

I do not ask that I shall have no sorrow deep, Mine eyes should ever smile and never weep.

My heart be always gay;
But grant that when the bitter cup I drink,

My faith may look to thee and never shrink,
And love all pain outweigh.

I do not ask thy mighty laws should turn
And bring back those for whom my life doth yearn.

Those loved ones gone before; But when at last there comes the long, long night,

Be thou with me, my never-failing Light,
Eternal, evermore!

Be True.

Listen, my boy!
I've a word for you;
And this is the word:
Be true, be true.

At work or at play,
In darkness or light,
Be true, be true,
And stand for the right.

And you, little girl—
I've a word for you,
'Tis the very same word:
Be true, be true.

For truth is the sun,
And falsehood the night.
Be true, little maid,
And stand for the right.
