June 24-(2 w-w3t

Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, residents of the Dominion of Canada, and tourists and others, to Winnipeg, Mantoba, having learned with pleasure that the wife of Thomas Campbell, an emigrant about to settle in the Province of Manitoba, was, on the fifth of July instant, safely lelivered of a male child, while detained at Kettle Falls, one of the portages on the Dawson Houte, awaiting the arrival of the steamboat Rainy Lake, it was unanimously decided upon by the tourists and others, with the consent of the parents of the child; that he would be named Dawson, being the first white child born on the route. "Your memoriadists, therefore, respectfully pray that Your Excellency will be pleased to use your power in obtaining a free grant of land in the Province of Manitoba for that infant, and your memorialists will ever pray."

A Limerick tobacconist, looking dolefully at his poor neighbors groping among the emouldering ruins of his burned-out shop, noticed that some of them, after trying the contents of certain cansisters carefully loaded their waistcoat pockets from them. He followed suit, and found the enull had come out of the fiery ordeal very much improved in pungency and aroma. Like a wise man, he said nothing, but took another place, set up a lot of ovens, and before long black Yard Snuff, —otherwise "Irish Black guard"—was all the regewith lovers of nasal tillation, and in a few years Lundyfoot was a rich man, owing to the accident he thought had ruined him.
