Edsall, the plaintiff, was bartender for Mr. Wray at the Royal Hotel for a couple of months last spring, but severed his connection with the Royal at the request, it is alleged, of the proprietor. Subsequently Edsall secured employment at the Windsor Hotel, and it was in May last, while behind the bar there, that the alleged slander took place. Mr. Wray, the plaintiff says, called him some very uncomplimentary names. This, he complains, was highly detrimental to his character, and now he is suing for $2,000 damages. Mr. J. D. O'Neil, of London, appears for the plaintiff, and Messrs. McPherson & Davidson, for the defendant.

AT THE BIG FAIR

Citizens' Day Passed Off Very Successfully.

Over Three Thousand People in Attendance.

Some Good Speeding Events—Grand Display of Fireworks in the Evening.

Citizens' Day at the Western Fair passed off very successfully. The attendance was over 3,000, which is considered good for Monday. A director remarked that it was somewhat surprising that more of the citizens of the Forest City do not take the opportunity of visiting their fair on a day when they can enjoy the viewing of its many departments, unembarrassed by the crowds that are a necessary accompaniment of a visit to the grounds on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Yesterday every department was complete, the programme of attractions was presented in its entirety both in the afternoon and evening, and everything passed off very successfully.

THE AMUSEMENTS.

The full list of attractions was presented in front of the grand stand, both afternoon and evening, and the spectators gave every evidence of appreciation of the many excellent acts presented.

The balloon ascension and double parachute drop was again the feature of the afternoon. The aeronauts ascended about 5:15, there being a brisk breeze blowing from the southwest at the time Mme La Roux waited till the huge aerial monster had attained an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet before dropping. Her parachute opened almost immediately and she descended slowly. Prof. La Roux continued his ascent till he could be barely distinguished with the naked eye. He then cut loose and made his descent in safety, the big balloon following shortly after. The professor, his wife and the balloon were picked up by a drayman, and they returned to the grounds accompanied by an escort of curious bicyclists.

The Rexos, skatorial artists, gave a graceful performance on roller skates and the unicycle.

Cadieux repeated his performance on the bounding wire, pleasing and astonishing all by his dexterity.

The Gillette family, consisting of three men and four boys, did a clever acrobatic turn.

Frank La Mondue, in a funny make-up, gave an entertaining and laughable performance on the slack wire.

Miss Bessie Gilbert, the lady cornetist, played the "Columbia" fantasia, and in response to encores gave "Because" and "O Believe Me."

Gourley and Lamoth again gave their laughable clown and donkey act.

The colored cakewalkers again roused the enthusiasm of the spectators by their performance of the cakewalk. They also rendered several vocal and instrumental selections.

SPEEDING EVENTS.

Considerable interest was manifested in the horse races, which took place in the afternoon. In the first race, a gentleman's wagon race, Bonnie Pacer, owned by Wm. Collins, London, won easily. West Point finished first in the first heat, but Bonnie Pacer had no difficulty in taking the following three. Frequent breaks on the part of Polly Stanton and Medium Jack marked the heats. The summary was:

Gentleman's wagon race, half mile heats, best 3 in 5:

Bonnie Pacer, b. g., W. Collins, London	2	1	1	1
West Point, br. g., Elmwood stables, Cairo	1	2	2	2
Polly Stanton, ch. m., John Brooks, London	4	3	3	3
Medium Jack, b.g., R. H. Reid, London	3	4	4	4

Time—1:17, 1:17¼, 1:14½, 1:16½.

In the second race, the three-quarter mile run, there were five starters. Owing to her recent showing at Toronto Exhibition, Mamie Calan, was picked to win this event, and this expectation was fulfilled. The summary was:

Running race, three-quarter mile heats, best 2 in 3:

Mamie Calan, b. m., Frank Sage, London	1	1
Orkney, br. g., R. Hueston, London	2	2
Glendago, b. g., Smith & Murray, Ridgetown	3	3
J. W. Cook, ch. g., H. Donohue, London	4	4
Adeleer, b. g., W. R. Hueston, London	ds

Time—1:20, 1:20.

THE FIREWORKS.

The fireworks display in the evening was provided by the well-known firm of Hand & Co., of Hamilton, and it is needless to say that it was completely satisfactory to the large audience who witnessed it. The display included three large fire balloons, one having an electric spray of one hundred feet in length attached to it; a double revolving sun wheel; a number of columns of fire in red, white and blue; and a series of fountains of fire. One of the prettiest pieces was a spray of white fire, 100 feet in length, resembling a fall of snow. The spray was supported by a cross-fire, and it illuminated the entire ring. One set piece showed the rose, shamrock and thistle, surrounded by revolving wheels of fire, while the closing piece showed an armored train moving out from beleaguered Mafeking to attack a Boer position. This piece, which was designed for the Western Fair, is very cleverly executed, and realistically carried out.

Notable Exhibits.

A VALUABLE APPLIANCE.

Though the Cannom Stove and Oven Company has been in existence only a couple of years, it has been making great advances, and no more conclusive evidence of this fact is needed than a sight of the excellent exhibit made by the company at the Western Fair. They show a full line of gas and gasoline stoves, and ovens, and all at prices which should prove a decided incentive to prospective buyers. A line deserving special attention is their water-heating bath attachment, by which water can be so quickly heated, that in one minute's time, water at a temperature of 120° can be run off at the rate of one gallon per minute. These attachments can be placed in any bath-room, laundry or kitchen, and can be attached to any ordinary gas-pipe, or the same result can be produced with gasoline. The price for the gas heaters is $18, and for the gasoline heaters, $20. The value of such an appliance in every household can at once be appreciated, while in cases of sickness, when a few minutes' delay in securing hot water means serious results, and perhaps loss of life, its value simply cannot be calculated. The fact that a discount of 10 per cent is being made on every order given at the company's exhibit at the fair grounds should have the effect of materially increasing their sales of their really meritorious and valuable wares.

THIRTY THOUSAND SUITS OF KHAKI.

When Canada's brave soldier boys sailed away last year to do battle in South Africa, it was but fitting that from the land of their birth should be supplied the clothing in which they went forth. So it was that the Sanford Manufacturing Company, of Hamilton, received the order for the khaki suits which Canada's soldiers donned. So well did the Sanford Company execute their commission that they have been favored with an order from the imperial government for 30,000 suits of military clothing — the largest clothing order ever placed in the Dominion of Canada. The same methods which have gained such marked recognition from the English authorities are pursued by this company in the manufacture of their various lines of clothing, to be convinced of which fact it is only necessary to visit their retail establishment, Oak Hall, 162 Dundas street. Here will be found complete lines of men's and boys' clothing, at prices to suit all purses. Mr. Wm. Gibson, who has been engaged in the clothing trade in London for many years, is the capable and popular manager of the establishment.

DOHERTY ORGANS TWENTY-SIX YEARS OLD THIS COMING DECEMBER.

The Doherty is the only organ made in Canada whose name, management or proprietorship has never been changed, and is now claimed to be the largest manufactory of organs under the British flag. It has the added advantage of continued development by the same progressive Canadians. Doherty organs are said to be leaders on account of their being the most beautiful, the best toned and the best sellers. This year they are more desirable than ever. The exhibit is in the main building, the right hand corner of the main entrance.

—St. Thomas Journal: Sunday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock, a Mr. Spry, of London, was driving in a buggy, north, across Wilson bridge, when the horse became frightened and started, to kick and run away. Mr. Spry held on to the reins, but at the second curve north of the bridge the wheels were caught in the street railway track and the front axle broke close to the wheel, and when it came off Mr. Spry and his son, a lad of ten years, were thrown out. Mr. Spry received a cut on the face, and the boy who was carried into Mr. D. E. Broderick's, was found to have escaped with having his face and cheek bruised. Neither required medical attendance. The horse was stopped by people in the neighborhood.
