An event of interest to infantry com manders all over Canada was a meeting of regimental officers last night to take steps for the formation of a Canadian infantry officers' association. The covalry and artillerymen already have such associations, which devote their attention to the welfare of the service, and are potent factors for good. Infantrymen feel that it is time some such idea was carried out in their arm of the force. At last night's meeting only the preliminaries were gone into Arrangements.

At last night's meeting of Arrangement in aries were gone into. Arrangement will be perfected in the near future.

The graduating class of the London Conservatory of Music gave a very enjoyable concert last night, in the Auditorium, before a large and appreciative audience on the occasion of the presentation of diplomas to those successful in their examinations. Principal F. L. An Informal Ball.

Last night some of the younger officers gave an informal ball at the Menesetung Park Hotel. The affair was well attended, and was one of the most enjoyable of the camp. The officers were not the only men in camp to be captured by the Goderich girls, for these moonlight nigs see the streets and parks of the town full of red coats and summer girls enjoying a stroll or chatting on the benches. In fact, half the young ladies in Goderich appear to have been smitten and Is Working Hard. [Special to The Advertiser.] Goderich, June 25. — The camp of 1912 will, it is expected, be remembered as one of the most practical training camps that has ever been held in this district. Every officer and every man is out to make the most of the few days that will be spent in active work, and all are working their hardest. The manoeuvres are constantly varied, it being the aim of the staff to produce conditions which will approximate as closely as possible those the men would face in actual warfare. Parties are dispatched on short notice on a long march. Other parties are marched and countermarched. There is a constant practice of musketry on the ranges.

It is stated that the men will make good average scores this year. This is a most important item from their standpoint, as upon their shooting depends their efficiency pay. Some really good scoring has been done, but the majority of the scores are reported to be a good average. The Seventh Regiment of London is without doubt one of the very smartest regiments under canvas here now and the men are fully living up to their reputation of being the crack corps of Western Ontario. They are a fine body of men among a lot of fine men. All are enjoying their outing and training very much, and many have expressed the wish that more work of this kind might be had. Notwithstanding the distance from town, quite a number of visitors are constantly at the camp. They greatly interested in the various systems by which the large body of men is looked after. rigidly adhered to. This afternoon the Seventh Regiment is to take part in some field manneuvres which will include quite a long tramp. They will not return until the evening, and will bivouac. The men are in fine spirits, and after the day's training enter heartily into all kinds of sports. The evenings

In the morning they will fight their way back to camp, being opposed v one of the other brigades in camp.

The Seventh and Thirty-third Regiments will also participate in the movement. All thre regiments will leave camp at 5 p.m., accompanied by their transports. No tents will be taken, and the men will sleep in their blankets on the ground. The men will eat their supper before leaving and breakfasts will be carried in their ks. Pure drinking water will be carried in wagons furnished by the Army Service Corps.
