e Knotty Question Once More Dis-cussed—A Volunteer at $8000—Must Have Transfer Tickets, The question of selecting an Engineer wa liscussed yesterday by the Board of Works.

Ald. Lamb was in favor of a sub-comm tee being appointed to communicate with the different engineers.

Ald Shaw thought Mr. Cuningham was the best man, but it was a difficult task to tell what kind of an engineer the council wanted. They had had all kinds; none of them had all kinds; none of them had size a constant of the state of the stat them had given satisfaction.

Ald. Burns was of the opinion that a good executive man at the head of the Works Department would save the city a large sum of money. He had been informed by the City Solicitor that thousands of dollars were lost yearly through the carelessness of the city's employes.

Ald. Lamb said he could name a man who might fill the position of engineer satisfac torily.

The Mayor did not think it advisable to make public the names of the applicants. He was positive the city would not suffer in the least from the resignation of Mr. Cuningham. His Worship favored a sub-committee to confer with the different engineers.

Ald. Lamb thought perhaps Mr. Jennings might be prevailed upon to give the city another trial.

another trial.

John Bailey, C.E., has offered the city his services at $8000 a year.

The Need of Transfer Tickets. The Need of Transfer Tickets.

Ald. Lamb paid some attention to the street railway people, and censured them for not issuing transfer tickets and thus doing away with people standing on the control of away with people standing on the corners of certain streets and blocking up the thoroughdepositors in the Central Bank, I am glad to see by this morning's World another portion of my savings of a few years ago is only once in a while I have reason to look at judgments in our higher courts, but as I was personally interested in the judges' decision in this unfortunate matter I cannot but admire the justice of the master in ordinary and others dealing with the defunct bank's affairs. I was in hopes, however, a final winding-up, or at least a full hundred cents on the dollar, would be the master's order.

Liquidator Lye, I think it was some few weeks ago, lectured in Y.M.C.A. Hall or some other of our public halls on "How to Liquidate a Bank." As one of the numerous small depositors and who hasn't the time to personally bother Mr. Lye, I think we could let him use some of the funds of the concern now in his hands to hire a hall, call a meeting and explain something about concern now in his hands to hire a hall, call a meeting and explain something about the Central's final affairs. And from the conversation with many small holders like myself, the liquidator can be assured this would be a popular move. I think he could place himself in a better light before many grieved ones with a slight explanation.

Thanking The World for the interest it has shown on behalf of depositors in the unfortunate concern.

Sacred Concert. A grand sacred concert was given last evening in the Yonge-street Methodist Church by the choir, the conductor being Mr. T. Hook, the organist Miss Kinsman. It was one of the best sacred entertainments of praiseworthy manner, and Miss Macdonald and Miss Bridgeland gave beautifully Gounod's "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Miss Gilmour, a very fine soprano from London, rendered "Hear Us, O Father," which was warly encored, and Miss Stevenson, the well-known contralto of Hamilton, sang Schubert's "The Wanderer" and "Judith," eliciting a hearty recall, while Miss Bridgeland sang Sullivants "Lost Chord" with her accustomed grace and artistic taste. The second part was a magnificent rendering of Stainer's "The Daughter of Jairus." The rendering of the recitations, the wailing, the duets and trios and choruses were all painstaking, fine and bright, and the entire performance would have done credit to any choir in the city. It was certainly the best of the concerts given during the season, and reflected credit alike upon the conductor, the choir, and the musical friends who assisted them. and Miss Bridgeland gave beautifully Gou-

Not being of a very strong constitution he contracted the disease which aparried him off. Since his return he has been most of the time in Toronto, He leaves a wife and one child. His funeral will take place to-day under the auspices of the army.

Our competitors said "you won't be in it if you take that side of the street; it's the wrong side and too far up." Asusual, "they were wrong." People don't mind going a little out of their way to get to the best store, they don't buy a suit for their boy severy day, and when they do they want to see the largest stock and go where they keep nothing else but boys' and children's relating. They don't seem to be able to get the faultless fit elsewhere. The prices look cheaper in the Juvenile Clothing Parlor. A few steps "eut no figure" when weighed with these considerations.
