DISTRESSING HEADACHES.

Headaches are largely the result of disordered kidneys. Mrs. Hall, 84 Flora St., St. Thomas, Ont., says: "I suffered for years with headaches of a distressing nature. They would come on me suddenly and would last for days at a time. These were usually accompanied by spells of dizziness that would leave me unable to attend to any house duties. My back was weak and caused me much suffering during the night. I had doctored for years, but all to no avail. Nothing benefited me and my condition was gradually becoming worse. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills. One box gave me a complete and lasting cure. I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since and I feel like a new person."

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, 50c a box, under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any disease having its origin in the kidneys or bladder. Sold and guaranteed by T. B. Taylor & Sons.

THE TOOTHsome CARROT.

Sadly Neglected in American Restaurants and Hotels.

"If people did but know it," said a man who has made a study of the food question, "carrots are among the most nutritious and delightful vegetables that grow, and yet it is almost impossible to get them in restaurants."

"Mashed carrots, to my mind, make a delightful dish, tasty and healthful, and yet I have failed to find this dish on any bill of fare so far, and I have examined a good many in the hope of finding the carrot recognized as it should be recognized. You can get mashed turnips almost anywhere you go, but the only use they have for carrots is to flavor soup or stews, although now and then one does strike them served in cream as a delicacy."

"But why not serve them like potatoes and turnips? Carrots are splendid for the blood, good for the complexion and at night are supposed to be quieting. Their digestibility if served mashed surpasses nearly all other vegetables. A delicate stomach will get away with them when other vegetables would work harm."

"And yet the carrot seems to be without a friend in the restaurant and hotels. You can't even find them in the list of vegetables to be cooked to order. It may be different with some other nations, but here apparently we have no use for them, and the person who wants mashed carrots will have to cook them at his own fireside."—Detroit Free Press.

AEROPLANES.

New Facts Versus Old Theories In the Conquest of the Air.

One of the long accepted theories of science had to be overturned before there could be a practical start made in mechanical flying. It was Professor S. P. Langley who gave this theory its quietus and established the new law in aerodynamics. Newton, the gravity discoverer, had figured out a certain graduated scale of resistance affected by the air against objects moving through it. Nobody thought to question it until a French scholar applied Newton's law in the case of the flight of a bird. He figured it out that to attain the speed at which a swallow flies it would be necessary for

Do You Realize the Advantages of Concrete?

THE rising price of lumber has compelled the farmer to look for a suitable substitute.

Concrete, because of its cheapness, durability and the readiness with which it can be used for every farm purpose, has proven itself to be cheaper than lumber and far more durable. Our Free Book—shows the farmer how he can do his own work without the aid of skilled mechanics. It demonstrates the economy of Concrete construction as compared with lumber, brick or stone.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

Racing For the Honest Lawyer in a Town in Denmark.

In telling of his boyhood home in Denmark, "The Old Town," Jacob A. Rils says that he does not remember that there were at any time more than two lawyers in the place. One was good, the other bad—not a bad lawyer perhaps, but reputed to be tricky, whereas the other was known to be honest itself.

It is therefore perhaps the best character I can give my people when I record the fact, writes Mr. Rils, that when two farmers quarreled, each sure that he was right, they made haste to hitch up to get first to the honest lawyer, and usually that was the end of the quarrel, for the last in the race was willing to make peace.

They used to tell of two well to do neighbors who had fallen out over a line fence and started simultaneously for town. Both had good teams, and they were well matched in the race.

For half an hour they drove silently alongside, each on his own side of the road, grimly urging on their horses, but neither gaining a length. At last as the lights of the town came into sight, for it was evening, a trace broke on one of the rigs, and the horses stopped. The other team whirled away in a cloud of dust.

"Hans," the beaten one called after him, and he halted and looked back, "are you going after Lawyer —?" naming the square one.

"I am that!" came back.
 "Then let's go back. I'm beat."
 And back home they went and made it up.

A MERCENARY MARRIAGE.

Romance of Lady March and the Second Duke of Richmond.

One of the mercenary marriages which turned out happily was that of the second Duke of Richmond. He was married to Lady Sarah Cadogan as part of an agreement that her father's gambling debts should be canceled, Lord March (as he then was) being eighteen and the bride thirteen. Immediately after the wedding Lord March's tutor took him off to the continent for the grand tour, and Lady Sarah went back to her nursery. This is the sequel as told by Lady Russell in "The Rose Goddess."

"Three years elapsed. Lord March returned from his travels, but, having such an uninteresting recollection of his bride, was in no hurry to claim her and went the first evening of his return to London to the opera. There he noticed that all eyes—and lognettes—were directed to one box, where, surrounded by several persons, sat a most beautiful young creature. Turning to a man beside him, he asked who she was. "You must be a stranger in London," was the answer, "not to know the reigning toast of the town, the beautiful Lady March!" Lord March lost no time in going to the box and introducing himself to his bride, with whom he ever after lived so affectionately that their devotion to one another became proverbial."

CHOP STUFF.

The barn of Dr. Gunn, Ailsa Craig, was totally destroyed by the weight of snow on the roof. His horse was buried, but taken out uninjured.

Mrs. P. McGee, of Biddulph, delivered six geese to an Exeter merchant last week which weighed over 100 pounds. One of them tipped the scales at 19 pounds.

Dan Doble, Glencoe, was cutting wood one day recently when the axe caught in the clothesline, rebounded and hit him on the head, inflicting quite a severe gash.

A vacant house on the farm of A. I. Howe, south half lot 8, con. 2, Ekfrid, was destroyed by fire on Monday evening. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Mr. Daniel Dorman, of the 7th con., McGillivray, had two colts killed on the G. T. R. track east of Ailsa Craig by the evening train going east on Dec. 21st. Mr. Dorman has filed a claim for $350 against the G. T. R.

The Comber people were without gas Wednesday afternoon of last week. A farmer broke the pipe by driving over the main at the village limits, and the supply was cut off until repairs could be brought from Essex. The pipe is not buried for some distance and it was there where the accident occurred.

Townships which have been doing business at the Farmers Bank, have according to reports, substantial amounts tied up in the deposits at Kerwood and Arkona branch. If only a small rate on the dollar were paid to depositors, it will mean quite a loss to these municipalities. It is said that over $2,200 belonging to the township of Adelaide is laid up in the deposits of the Kerwood branch.
