CHOP STUFF

Attend Theford Fair Sept. 28-29. It's always good. s7-3t
Alvinston tax rate this year is 85 mills. This is 2 mills higher than last year.
Dunwich council has appointed Bert McCallum collector at a salary of $125.
Mrs. W. G. Jenny, 2nd con., Bosanquet, had the misfortune to get a needle broken off in her hand some time ago. Medical aid was required to extract the piece and later the hand became swollen and very painful. The trouble is now overcome and the hand will soon be alright again.
During the heavy electrical storm Mrs. Jas. Campbell of Thamesville, was injured when lightning entered her home. Mrs. Campbell was using an electric iron at the time and the bolt came through the wire connected with the iron. One side of her body was rendered partly useless for a few days.

Quick thinking by Mrs. Manley Miner, of Kingsville, saved her from being robbed of her jewelry when two highwaymen attempted to hold up a car in which she and her husband were driving near Jackson's Corners. Mrs. Miner started the accelerator her husband turning the car into a ditch to pass the bandits' car which was drawn across the road.
Fred Wray, Corunna, paid a fine of $1 and costs $5 into the Sarnia police court coffers recently when a conviction was registered on a charge of operating an automobile with an illegal marker. Police said the marker was made of paper and that the owner of the car had advised the police of the loss of the legal marker and had been advised that it would be all right to operate for a few days until a new one could be secured but that the few days had stretched out to nearly a month.
Several very violent thunder storms occurred recently in Wyoming. Several houses were struck but fortunately no serious damage was done. The hydro lights were disarranged and plaster broken in the home of Mr. Geo. Borrowman. The home of Mr. Case and also of Mr. J. Crabb were also struck. Several persons received slight shocks. One afternoon a very heavy hail storm came and some damage done to plants and windows. The home of Mr. Jas. Fraser had thirteen panes of glass shattered.

The death of nine young cattle on the farm of W. L. Moore of Shedden last spring, has been investigated at the Dominion Government laboratory in Ottawa, and is believed to have been due to the water they had been drinking, which was stagnant and highly charged with organic matter. The cattle were pasturing in a sweet clover field and it was suggested at the time that the clover might have caused the deaths. The cattle were found wandering around the field, frothing at the mouth. They died within a few hours.

Lightning struck Herbert Richardson's barn on the Charles Sellers old farm, in Malden, on the 2nd of Sept., and set fire to the place, consuming the horse and cow stable and general barn, all of which were under the one roof. In addition the season's crop of grain and hay were burned, together with some pigs and chickens. Neighbors who were alarmed by telephone soon gathered and assisted Mr. Richardson to save some implements, wagon and harness. Shifting of the wind saved the house and the implement shed.
Probably the oldest pioneer resident of Plympton passed away on Friday, 8th inst., in the person of Jane Lang, relict of the late John Cairns, who died at the home of her son, Jas. L. Cairns, 12th line, after a long illness. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 13th, 1828, and came to Canada in early girlhood. She married Mr. Cairns in 1847, and spent 75 years of her long life on the farm here. Mr. Cairns died in January, 1898. She is survived by one son and one daughter, Jas. L. Cairns, Plympton, and Mrs. Harry Smith, Victoria, B.C. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, at the McKay cemetery, the service being held in the McKay church, by the Rev. John Murray, of Forest. The bearers were Newton Cairns, Alex. Andrew and Jos. Lang, Warner McRoberts and Sherman Symington. An unusually large gathering of relatives and friends were in attendance many being present from Detroit, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, Sarnia, Petrolia and other places.
