A Rampant Bull.

A vicious blooded bull belonging to Charles Ellsworth, a farmer at Wilton, Me., escaped from the barn the other day, and after demolishing a hen-house, the pig-pen, upsetting the rain-water tank and the toolhouse, attacked a grind-stone, and throwing it up so that it was caught on his herns, he started for the house and banged heavily against the door. Mr. Ellsworth was away from home, and his wife and daughters were alone. They suspected that thieves were about, and Miss Ellsworth grasped a revolver and prepared herself for any emergency. When she heard the pounding on the door she supposed that burglars or tramps were breaking in, and demanded to know who the intruders were. Getting no reply, the brave girl fired a shot at a venture, when the door flew open, and in the started for the country Gentle.
