

Dec. 11, 1895.

Did I say anything about the goods from Montreal? It was the best that we received this season. We have been assisted much by their help and kind words; I would mention again the valuable assistance received from the other Societies, especially for the old and sick people on the Reserves. Those thick, warm, strong quilts are more valuable than silk and eiderdown. Many a poor old person will say, "God bless my kind sisters far away who have taken pity on me in my poverty and misery."

We are all well at the Mission. Mrs. McKay is kept as busy as a mother with a large family. She joins me in kind greetings to you.
