

not enter into the kingdom of heaven." This presupposes that we are in need of conversion, which is altogether a gratuitous assumption on the part of the person sending out the notice. Suppose we were unconverted the slip does not indicate how we are to become so, nor does it even suggest the means to be adopted in order to secure the boon of eternal happiness. The scattering of these, and similar tracts, is a liberty that no Christian should presume to take with the Holy Scriptures. They are highly calculated to bring religion into ridicule.

A CONTEMPORARY describes I. Zangwill, the critic and novelist, in the Pall Mall Magazine, as a person with "a long, lank figure and a strongly-marked sawn face. He is a Londoner by birth, and it was while he was a teacher in an East End school that he learned so much of the Jewish poor and their ways of life." The description would almost suit some of his own funny caricatures in the magazine of his choice. Mr. Zangwill is now fairly well known on this side of the Atlantic, particularly since his recent article, in one of the leading publications of the day, on Judaism. He has great ability and a greater capacity for work; but he is strongly tinged with the taint of Londonism. The Londoner, as a rule, imagines that all the world's knowledge is centred in the great metropolis, and he sees things mostly through the haze of a London mist.

THE Protestant Archbishop of Canterbury recently addressed a pastoral letter to his archdiocese, asking the members of the Church of England to offer prayers on Whit-Sunday for unity. He said:

"When we consider the terrible separation of the past, when we now see so many communions—Presbyterian, Non-conformist and Roman Catholic—at home and abroad in America, we are moved to seek Christian unity. Who can doubt that this change is of the Lord?"

Another evidence that the Sovereign Pontiff's appeal is not regarded, as some would have us believe, in the light of an "old man's childish appeal, arising from the simplicity of his natural goodness." Rather is it patent that his letter was the outcome of long and profound study combined with a great knowledge of the age.

THERE are many alive to-day who can recall Bianconi's stage-coaches. For nearly the third of a century these one-time famous vehicles have disappeared to make way for the noisy, rapid invention of modern innovation. We learn that the old Bianconi yard in the Dublin road, Tuam, Galway, from which in the old coaching days went out so splendidly appointed horses and cars as ever trotted over a road, has been sold to the Presentation Convent, by Mr. T. J. Gilmore, the owner. The sisters intend building extensive schools there. In Ireland a religious order of teachers takes possession of the once famous habitation of the only means of transfer; in Canada it is proposed to run a thoroughfare through the habitation of nuns—an institution consecrated by 250 years of existence.

THERE are to be Women Freemasons soon. A Cambridgehire lady, according to the London Telegraph, has determined to start a lodge, and she claims that a number of sisters who had applied for admission to the "ancient secrets of the mystic order" show an earnest desire on the part of women to help men in the working of the craft. The Telegraph says that the Sule law is very strict in Freemasonry. The female Freemasons might claim to represent the Queen of Sheba, but the representatives of King Solomon might not take kindly to her. The women would probably have one advantage, they would not require to purchase aprons, having them already on hand. The keeping of the awful secrets might prove the most difficult task. As masonry is so full of symbols perhaps the ladies might use the compass and square to measure each other's patterns and the trowel to metaphorically bedaub the characters of delinquent and absent sisters. The grip might be replaced by other conventional signs—such as making faces for example. Above all, for masonry work, bloomers would be quite convenient. It will now be in order for some New Woman to start a lodge of female Odd Fellows.

IT MAY interest many of our readers to know about the exact status of Catholicism in Japan. Of late years, by means of our trans-continental railway and trans-Pacific line of steamers, Japan has been brought much closer, than was anticipated quarter of a century ago, to the people of the great West. In 1891, Pope Leo XIII. established a Catholic hierarchy there, consisting of one archbishop and two bishops. There are now 75 Catholic districts, 206 churches, chapels or oratories, a seminary at Nagasaki in which are 44 students, two colleges at Tokyo and Nagasaki with 154 students, three pensions for young ladies with 130 inmates, 17 orphanages with 1392 children, 18 workshops with 303 artisans, 13 pharmacies, 3 hospitals and a home for lepers. There are 50,000 Catholics in the country. These figures are promising indeed. The conversion of Japan is surely possible.

THE CATHOLIC CITIZEN of Milwaukee thus refers in a recent issue to our change of form:

"The Montreal True Witness, which, if we are not mistaken, is the oldest Catholic paper in Canada, has changed from a sixteen page paper to an eight page paper, enlarging its sheet. The change is a decided improvement."

We may say in return that the Citizen is one of the most valuable and highly appreciated exchanges that come to our table. It is always brimful of solid Catholic news.

AT THE BANQUET during Archbishop Williams' Jubilee the amount of the testimonials presented by the clergy and laity, which was not announced at the time, has been ascertained to be $50,000—one thousand dollars for each year of his priesthood. But certainly one of the most gratifying of testimonials is that of the prayers and devotional exercises offered up for him. The Archbishop feels happy when glancing over this list:

Holy communions.....	41,583
Masses celebrated.....	318
Masses heard.....	74,520
Visits to Blessed Sacrament.....	120,323
Beads.....	89,178
Stations of the cross.....	35,954
Hours of labor.....	88,984
Prayers, Angelus, etc.....	234,835
Various good works.....	61,819

Great and holy the man whose life has been the spring of such a mighty flood of devotion!

THERE are broader lights dawning gradually upon the world of conflicting elements. The Independent recently remarked that:

"There was a time when no Protestant seemed to be able to look upon the Catholic Church with the least degree of toleration or allowance. He waged war against it as though it were an evil thing, and only evil. The great amount of prejudice has obscured clear vision both on the Protestant and Catholic side. We hope that the time is at hand when this prejudice shall be dissipated, so that Catholics may come to understand their Protestant fellow Christians, and appreciate them for what they are; and that a similar view may be taken of Roman Catholic Christians."

If the non-Catholic world would only strive to crush out prejudice and fairly study the tenets and practices of the Catholic Church the day of universal Christian unity would not be far distant.

For a second time La Croix du Canada has suspended publication. In its valditory editorial we find these significant words:

"We supposed that in this country, where there was so much devotion, that a paper devoted exclusively to the interests of the Church, submitted to the orders of the Sovereign Pontiff, respectful towards ecclesiastical authority and independent of political parties, would have some chance of success. We, however, were mistaken."

A sad comment upon the sincerity of those people who talk so loudly and eloquently about the influence of Catholic journalism, the necessity of keeping abreast of the times, and the apostolate of the press, but who prefer to support the non-Catholic press by subscription and advertisement to the detriment of their own organs. When they have some personal end to attain they rush to the Catholic paper with their item and consider that their object is of such importance that the Catholic paper is in duty bound to help them along, to defend them, to praise them; but if they have an advertisement for which they must pay, they go to the non-Catholic press with it. They wonder why their paper cannot succeed. Look here: every time you have cash wherewith to purchase goods were you to go a stranger's store, and whenever you wanted credit, or goods for nothing, you went to your friend's establishment, would you be surprised to find that, despite your professed friendship, your friend failed in business and the stranger grew wealthy?

HO! FOR ST. LAMBERT.

Now that the summer season is on hand it would be well to remember that there are 32 trains daily running between Montreal and St. Lambert. Only five cents per trip. Such facilities are scarcely to be found any place else in Canada. What will it be, however, when, in a couple of years the bridge from the city to the St. Lambert Boulevard will be constructed. Perhaps there is no more healthy and convenient locality in all the Dominion than that beautiful town across the broad St. Lawrence from Montreal. The new Boulevard will be an attraction to the world of tourists. Mr. L. F. Larose, of 1627 Notre Dame street, can furnish more exact information about St. Lambert than any person we know of, and he can, moreover, afford all anxious to make a good solid investment the means of attaining their object.

THE LITTLE SISTERS OF THE POOR.

The committee having charge of the arrangements for the entertainment to be held under the auspices of the Little Sisters of the Poor, in St. Ann's Young Men's hall, are meeting with considerable success. Already a large number of tickets are disposed of, and the ladies express themselves as being delighted with the manner in which they are being encouraged. A large number of fine pieces of silverware will be drawn for on the night of the concert, and each person holding a general or reserved seat ticket will be entitled to one and two chances respectively in the drawings. The talent secured for the entertainment are some of Montreal's well known favorites, together with a host of novelties which will be seen for the first time in Montreal.

DIFFERENT OUTINGS.

PICNICS, EXCURSIONS, AND ENTERTAINMENTS.

Heron Island has been selected by District Assembly No. 18, K. of L., for the holding of their second annual picnic and games on Monday (Dominion Day), July 1.

The Shoemakers' Union have appointed a committee to make arrangements for their annual picnic. The date and place of holding their picnic will be announced later.

Typographical Union 176, at a recent meeting, decided to hold their annual picnic, and appointed a committee, who promise to outdo all previous efforts in making theirs the most successful of any that will be held by a trade organization this summer.

Arrangements for the annual excursion down the river on the steamer Three Rivers by the St. Ann's Young Men's Society, are all completed. Casey's popular orchestra has been secured for dancing. The concert on the return trip in the evening promises to eclipse all previous efforts. Professor Shea, the musical director of the Society, will preside at the piano.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

A FULLY EQUIPPED CREAMERY IN THE HEART OF THE CITY.

The firm of Croil and McCullough, the well known manufacturers of the "Clover Leaf Brand" of creamery butter, have now in operation, at 614 St. Paul street, a large creamery equipped with all modern machinery for the manufacture of the finest creamery butter. The cream is secured in the best sections of Canada and brought to the city in specially provided refrigerator cars. It is put up in glass bottles for private family use, or in any size desired by purchaser. The novelty of the establishment makes it well worth a visit from any person interested in the manufacturing of dairy produce. The "Clover Leaf Brand" was awarded a medal and diploma at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, and took first prize at the Toronto Industrial Fairs in 1892 and 1894.

ST. ANN'S T. A. & B. SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Ann's T. A. & B. Society was held in St. Ann's hall, corner Young and Ottawa streets, on Sunday last, 9th June, and there was a good attendance of the members. In the absence of the president, Mr. James Shanahan presided; the Rev. Director was also present. Several new members took the pledge and became members of the society. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The secretary, Mr. Thomas Rogers, read a communication from Sister McGurty of the Hotel Dieu, asking the assistance of the society for a young man, a patient there, to help him to make a pilgrimage to France. The secretary was instructed to reply.

The office of vice-president having become vacant, it was moved by Mr. Wm. Davis, seconded by Mr. Wm. Donnelly, that Mr. W. Hawlett be elected vice-president of the society for the remainder of the term. There being no other nomination the chairman declared Mr. Hawlett duly elected. Mr. James McGuire was also elected on the committee. Mr. James Shanahan and Mr. Wm. Davis gave the report of the committee in regard to the picnic, and explained all that had been done since the last monthly meeting; that it had been found impossible to procure cars for Dominion Day, as they have all been already engaged. After considerable discussion it was regularly moved and seconded that the committee have power to make arrangements for a picnic or excursion on some other suitable date.

Moved by Mr. J. Shanahan, seconded by Mr. P. Flannery, that a vote of condolence be passed to the relatives of our late member Mr. M. Noonan, who died since the last meeting. Carried. This brought a very successful meeting to a close. The committee afterwards held a very interesting meeting in connection with the picnic.

CATHOLIC SAILORS' CLUB CONCERT.

On Thursday evening last Mr. A. Giroux occupied the chair at the very successful weekly concert given by the Catholic Sailors' Club. The hall was crowded with an audience composed of citizens and seamen, who thoroughly enjoyed themselves as was evidenced by the great applause and numerous encores. Special mention should be made of little Norma and Hildred Coghlan, whose selections on bandola and piano were decidedly worthy of musical prodigies. So tiny were the little performers that they had to be lifted into their seats by their mother. Mr. Parizeau's dancing, Mr. J. Baxters' whistling selections, and Messrs. G. Holland and Josh Rankin as vocalists elicited warm and appreciative applause. Amongst the many ladies and gentlemen who took part were Messrs. Morninge, Godfrey, B. Laughlin, T. Carroll, F. Duffy, J. McGinty, J. McNeerney; Mr. Lesperance, who rendered the "Wearing of the Green," and Mr. Harris, whose song and dance was highly appreciated. Miss Lawlor gave some very fine and well executed piano selections; Messrs. Read and Milloy were most successful in their duet; and Miss Singleton, with her little brother Charley, added greatly to the entertainment by their piano duet.
