Wrenn, the camp brigade-major, when they formed up prior to their departure, addressed Colonel Cole and the rest of the officers and men as follows :—"Soldiers of the Canadian Militia, as camp brigade-major, I bid you good-bye and God-speed on behalf of all ranks. You have had the distinguished honour of winning her most gracious Majesty's Cup, the Queen's Prize ; but you have done more—you have won the respect and confidence of every officer and man in this camp. We are proud to have you for our comrades, and we are thankful to know that the far-off frontier of the British Empire—our common heritage—is in the guardianship of men such as you. By your conduct and achievement here, by the stirring feelings they have evoked, you have done as much in the direction of the confederation of the Empire, and in securing the union of hearts, as could be done by the speeches and schemes of many statesmen. Once more, for one and all, I bid you good-bye and God-speed."
