

I do this, not merely as the basis of my present representation, but to show, as is my right, that I have strictly pursued my work openly and fearlessly, without partisanship or hidden motive, carefully avoiding any ground whatever for just reproach or misleading imputation. It is more than probable that events will soon happen compelling reference to these documents, and from them it will be seen on whom the grave onus must lie of refusing, or neglecting, to look at proffered proofs of gross misrepresentation and much dishonour, (in all particulars complete), in time to prevent painful or disastrous consequences.

Meanwhile, I beg respectfully to say that many thoughtful men will be disposed to believe that no inconsiderable portion of the increasing distress which presses upon the helpless and uninstructed poor of this nation, and which must shortly tax your great benevolence to the uttermost, and perhaps your generous forbearance, has arisen from the countenance which society in England affords to those cultured high officials whose dealings and practices I have outlined in the various documents respectfully submitted with this communication.

I may further venture to add that measures for the successful emigration of the unemployed, and the relief of existing and impending distress, should be regarded as a problem in science which admits of no practical solution other than that which is based upon the solid foundation of unrestricted and unembellished TRUTH.

I have notified Sir A. T. Galt of the transmission of this letter to your Lordship, and of my protest against his leaving the country at this juncture, also that it will be incumbent upon me, for obvious reasons, to give this letter to the public at the proper time.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's obedient servant,

HENRY YOULE HIND.

To Sir Alexander T. Galt, G.C.M.G., High Commissioner for Canada.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that I have this day transmitted to the Lord Mayor of London a letter with enclosures, in which I have respectfully protested against your leaving the country as announced, without formally and fully replying to the various charges I have made from time to time relative to your public conduct during the past four years. I have also intimated to his Lordship that it will be incumbent upon me, for obvious reasons, to give my communication to his Lordship to the public at the proper time.

I have the honour to be,
