

425.

led to the
es the Mis-380.

visited by designated inefactress,"

y of North

at, 147, 148,
bin convent 80.

, 523.

eme dogmas

he country
4; French
red by con-
8; restored
reaty of St.
l to fasting
the heaver e, 58; the peace with,
the scourge
c, 118; still nestic quargle for the D; excludel
of Bologna, a state of e chief suf-opoly of the West, 235;
heart the n object of ttention at be wholly g company,

239; little capital and little enterprise in, 270; Talon sets himself to galvanize, 270; concern of Colbert for the prosperity of, 270; Talon's attempt to establish trade between the West Indies and, 272; the peopling of, 276; emigration to, 277; young women sent to, 280;
premium placed on marriage, 282; celibacy punished, 287; bounties offered for children, 289; satisfactory results, 290; the settler of, 295; persists in attenuating herself, 298; the river settlements, 301; feudalism of, 304; Richelieu first plants feudalism in, 305; not governed to the profit of a class, 315; its condition in 1712, 315; becomes infatuated with noblesse, 317; the King the dispenser of charity for all, 321; its government, 326; the intendant, 326; the Governor-General, 327; the council, 329; the King alone supreme in, 329; inferior courts, 331; the judge, 332; the spirit of absolutism everywhere apparent in, 342, 461-468; justice in, 344-346; abuses, 347; neglected, 351; its organs of nutrition, 352; its trade in fetters, 353; appeals for help, 359; manufactures of, 361; ship-building in, 362; condition of ornamental arts in, 362; finances of, 362; a coinage ordered for, 363; a card currency issued, 363; importance of the fur-trade to, 366; the forest-trade, 368; filled with distress and consternation, 371; the coureurs de bois, 373; the first ball in, 413; clerical severity in, 413; heresy scoured out of, 419; never troubled by witches, 421; threatened with an attack by the English, 424; miracles in, 425; education in, 425; catches some of the French corruption, 432; extreme poverty of, 434; influence of the troops on, 435; lawlessness in, 435-441; drunkenness the most destructive vice in, 444; swarms with beggars, 445; slavery in, 454; formation of character in, 461; the very portal of the great interior wilderness, 462; compared with New England, 463-467; the Church of Rome stands out conspicuous in the history of, 467; the English Conquest a happy calamity to, 468; memorial of Dumesnil concerning the affairs of, 286-288; marriage and population in, 493-496; trade and industry in, 500-506; the government and the clergy in, 512-519.

"Canada, the River and Gulf of," 4.

Canadian Church, the, 103; its influence paramount and pervading, 120; 159; Laval the father of, 224; liberality of the King to, 401; grows purer in the presence of Protestantism, 468.

Canadian fisheries, the, see Fisheries.

Canadian government, the, 326-346; essentially military, 465.

Canadian noblesse, 315.

Canadian settler, the, 295.

Canadians, the, strength of, 445; views of different writers on, 455.

Capet, Hugh, 229, 304.

Cap Rouge, 56, 59, 301.

Capuchin Friars, the, at Port