

rain. The results at these two places, beside the collection of $24.30, was a subscription of $39 at New Carlisle, and of $24.28 at Paspebiac.

On Thursday night, I enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Felix Briard, the Chief Agent of the fishing establishment of Messrs. Robin, at Paspebiac. This was the first fishing establishment that I had seen, and it most favorably impressed me with its importance to us in our Church work. A very large amount of capital, and nearly the whole population along the coast, and a large number of persons always employed at sea either in catching fish or in conveying them to distant markets, show the importance of this and similar concerns scattered around the coast and on the Islands in the Gulf. If the wealth and influence they possess should be sanctified by the Gospel, for the salvation of the many thousands of men employed by them, then would they be valuable auxiliaries in our work.

On Friday morning the 11th, I again embarked in the Lady Head, and came to Gaspé Basin, where I arrived just two hours too late for a meeting which the Rev. Mr. Delamare, had called for me there. Saturday and Sunday following, the 12th and 13th, were days of such heavy and incessant rains that nothing could be done. On Sunday we did succeed in getting into the Church, where after service by the incumbent, I preached to a dozen persons. On Monday morning the 14th, I started with the mail courier, for Point Peter and Malbaie, where I arrived in time to share a dinner with the Rev. Mr. DeMouilpied, and his interesting family. That afternoon and evening, was spent in company with Mr. DeMouilpied, in visiting the few families and individuals residing at the Point, belonging to our communion. It was very muddy and inclement, and it was with the utmost difficulty we could make our way, but we received everywhere a cordial welcome.