and Nimmo were summoned for the case, but owing to the disabled condition of Constable Tidsberry, the bullet having gone clear through his arm, it was some time before the court was held. The arraigned men, who were of middle height and ranging in ages from 22 to 30, gave their names as James McMurray of Brockville, John Henderson, Montreal, and James McDonald, Collingwood. Two wore black suits and the third a brown coat. None of them could boast of a collar and wore low necked cotton shirts, one of which was white in color. They said that they had come to York on Thursday night, but it is stated that they were seen in the neighborhood on Thursday.

Among the spectators in court were of May 3, that will be on sale at 9 of May 3, that will b pealed and a new section established. Municipalities are enabled to contribute to maintenance. Numidlan 21. Inspection of Meat and Milk.—Cities and towns may establish public slaughter houses, and charge fees to defray the cost, the local Board of Health to have control. The local board may employ competent persons to inspect all slaughter houses, meat packing establishments, animal carcasses, and meat brought in and intended for human food. Also inspect milk and test for tuberculosis.

Inspector Dan O'Leary of the Dominion police has been at Newcastle looking up the thief who recently robbed the Postoffice there. Suspicion would seem to point to a tramp corn doctor who was in the village on the date of the burglary the inspection and regulation of such. The Game Laws.—The killing of deer in, or immediately after leaving, water is prohibited. A license to hunt must be obtained, the fee for which is to be $2. Attached to the license are to be two shipping coupons, one of which is attached to each deer or part of deer on shipment, and cancelled by the carrier on arrival at point of destination. Although the hunting season commences on 20th October, no venison is to be shipped until 1st November, and not without a coupon attached. Counties or parts of counties may be set apart in which it shall be unlawful to kill deer. Settlers are prohibited from shooting moose, elk, reindeer or carbou before 1st November, 1900.

Police Magistrates.—The bill compelling towns to pay a salary did not become law.

The School Acts have not yet been printed and will hereafter be noted in due course. GEO. H. DARTNELL.

Mistake of His Life!

He got the wrong kind of sarsaparilla. That was the mistake. Perhaps the druggist didn't have any other kind. Perhaps the man just asked for "sarsaparilla," and the druggist naturally gave him Ayer's. Perhaps...... But, anyhow, he had Ayer's when he got home, and "home" was miles away from the drug-store. Rather than go back to change it, he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It was a revelation to him. He never knew, till then, what sarsaparilla was. He felt so strong he had to wreak his strength on something. But let him tell it: "Your sarsaparilla made me feel so strong that I set to work, alone, to turn a house, 12 x 24, and 8 feet high. I turned it round, and moved it back 16 feet, in a day and a half...... I am so pleased I got your sarsaparilla instead of -s." These are only scraps from a letter recently received from Thomas WARD, Hill St., Oliphant, Pa. There are many like him, who wont know what sarsaparilla can do, till they take Ayer's. Once they use it, they'll always choose it.

Send for the "Curebook." It tells of cures by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Frce.

The Capture.

Before this could be done, however, the constable and his men closed in upon them. Young Alex. Sidwick, seizing a fence rail, struck one of the robbers in the face, cutting open his cheek and felling him to the ground. The others, despairing of escape, surrendered. They were marched back, handcuffed, to East Toronto and lodged within its jail.

In their pockets were found four revolvers and a number of ball cartifices, a complete set of burglars' tools, which, judging from the case containing four razors and a pair of barbers' clippers, they had made use of, two pocket knives and about 25 cents in silver.
