DRAPING PUBLIC BUILDINGS BEGUN

Mr. Waterbury Carrying Out Ottawa Instructions At Once—Custom House, Post Office and Savings Bank in Purple and Black

As the result of the order issued by the federal government at Ottawa that all government buildings be draped in royal purple and in black in respect for His late Majesty, King Edward VII, work has been commenced here by David H. Waterbury, local superintendent of Dominion public buildings.

The St. John buildings to be draped are the customs house, post office, Carleton post office, and Dominion Savings Bank. Some attempt was made yesterday to start the work, but the wind interfered to such an extent that it had to be abandoned.

The plans include festoons about the top of the buildings with pillars lined out in black, and large rosettes. There will be some interior draping also, though not of such an extensive nature.

The work on the lobby of the post office and the main hall of the customs house will be of a special nature.

SAY ALL GIVEN CHRISTIAN BURIAL

Municipal Home Commissioners to Be Called Together in Reference to Statements in County Council

At the meeting of the county council yesterday afternoon it was stated that religious service was often dispensed with in pauper funerals, paupers being dumped into a hole, as if the corpse was that of a hottest, and that St. John should be hearty ashamed to allow this to continue. A committee was appointed to make arrangements with the commissioners of the Municipal Home for the decent burial of the poor.

Speaking of the matter to the Times-Star this morning, G. A. Knodell, chairman of the Municipal Home commission, said that he intended to call a meeting of the commissioners and clergy to prove that the statements were far from true. Every person who had died there had been given a decent, Christian burial.

Edward C. Woods, superintendent of the Municipal Home, was quite indignant over the matter. "Why, it is ridiculous," he said. "The reports of the books will prove that no one has been buried there without a Christian burial. Such a statement would seem to cast reflections on Rev. Dr. Raymond and Rev. J. J. O'Neil, the Protestant and Catholic chaplains, who attend the Home faithfully in storm or shine, and who are always ready to come at short notice."

TWO C.P.R. MEN IN A SERIOUS PREDICAMENT

William Johnston, an engineer, and Roy Craig, a fireman, in the employ of the C. P. R., it is charged, became intoxicated while on duty on a special C. P. R. freight train running from Edmundston to Woodstock on April 23, making it necessary for the brakeman to take the train into Woodstock. The two men have been dismissed and arrested at the instance of the company, and the case is going on in Woodstock. The penalty for such offence is a fine of $400 or five years imprisonment, or both.

The person who sold them the liquor is also said to be liable to a fine of $50. Every effort is being made to locate him.

POLICE COURT TODAY

A mixed quartet appeared before Judge Ritchie this morning in the police court on charges of drunkenness, and all were dealt with without delay. Charles Orr was fined $4, Felix Holland was sentenced to three months without a fine, and Mary Walsh and Mary Kelly were sent to the Good Shepherd's Home for two months each. The last three called some remarks from the judge, who commented on the fact that they had been so often before him. He told Holland that he had given him many chances, but that he came back to jail on the same old charge not long after getting clear of the chain gang. He was now being dealt with under the Dominion Act in being sentenced without a fine.

His Honor spoke similarly to Mary Walsh, to whom he said that he was letting her go with a two month's sentence, whereas he could give her a year and eleven months. She courted.

A service of exceptional interest will be held in the Salvation Army hall in Mill street, this evening at 8 o'clock. A number of recent converts will be enrolled under the flag, as soldiers of the army, and an interesting programme of music and song will be given. A great number of tickets have been sold for the concert to be held tonight in St. Peter's hall, Elm street, for the benefit of the Y. M. A. and it is expected that a good sized audience will attend. The programme is varied, and those taking part are well known for their ability as concert performers. Music will be provided by the Y. M. A. orchestra.

The term of office of E. A. Linton, an liquor license commissioner, will expire on June 1, and it is learned that several are seeking the position, subject though it be quite often to severe criticism. Among those who it is said are seeking office, are Mr. Ad. Baskin, J. E. Smith and J. Fred Shaw.

Policemen Nelson and Scott were called upon last night to extinguish a bonfire in St. Patrick street.
