CHILDREN

Are always liable to sudden and severe colds, to croup, sore throat, lung fever, etc. Remedies, to be effective, must be administered without delay. Nothing is better adapted for such emergencies than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It soothes the inflamed membrane, promotes expectoration, relieves coughing, and induces sleep. The prompt use of this medicine has saved innumerable lives, both of young and old.

"One of my children had croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it

Strangling.

It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicine it had taken, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having a part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and in a short time it was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved its life."—C. J. Wooldridge, Wortham, Texas.

VICTORY.

The 5th March, 1891, is a day that will long be memorable in the history of Canada as the day upon which Liberalism, allied with treason, was routed horse, foot and artillery and proclamation was made to the whole world that Canada is loyal to the Empire and to the British flag. Originally taken up by the Liberal party as a question of policy, innocent—looking enough in itself, unrestricted reciprocity grew in time to be a great national issue involving not only our trade relations with the United States, but likewise the future destiny of Canada. The Liberal leaders asked the people of Canada to transfer the control of their fiscal and commercial affairs to the congress of the United States. They asked the people of Canada to adopt the American tariff against British goods and to admit all the products of the United States free of duty. They asked the people of Canada to permit the manufacturers of the United States to destroy those industries which have been built up during the past twelve years by the national policy and which gave employment to so many tens of thousands throughout the Dominion. They asked our wholesale dealers to agree to a policy which would at once have wiped them out of existence. Finally they asked all classes in Canada to take a step which would inevitably have resulted in a political union between Canada and the United States. Canada yesterday replied to all these demands and the answer was a decided and emphatic, No.

We are far from desiring to accuse all the men who voted for the Liberal ticket as being disloyal or as entertaining such views as their leaders hid in their breasts, while pretending attachment to the mother country. Many of the Liberals voted as they did because they were incapable of thinking out what unrestricted reciprocity would lead this country to. Others were influenced by the cry that unrestricted reciprocity would bring them some great personal advantage, while others voted with their party simply from party motives with a view to oust the government, while all the time they professed to believe that unrestricted reciprocity was impossible. credulous farmers were told that if they voted the Liberal ticket the price of potatoes could never fall below $2 a barrel and thousands actually believed this fairy tale. All the ignorance, selfishness and meanness of Canada, as well as all the disloyalty, were gathered into the Liberal camp and yet in spite of all the support the Liberals thus received, they were decisively and overwhelmingly defeated. The Liberals appealed to the ignorance and selfishness of the rural voter, and yet after rural ignorance and selfishness have done their worst, the Government have won the victory.

It is satisfactory to observe that in every province of Canada, with the exception of Prince Edward Island and Quebec, the government had a majority. In Quebec Mr. Mercier made an alliance with Mr. Laurier, the purport of which was that he could assist the liberal leader to carry the election, and the latter when he come into power was to aid Mercier in robbing the federal treasury for the benefit of the province of Quebec This compact of thieves has failed and although Quebec gives a so called Liberal majority the doors of the treasury are still well guarded. In Prince Edward Island two seats have been gained. In Ontario there has been some loss of strength for the government, but this was to be expected in constituencies where the farming interest had a large preponderance. In Nova Scotia the government has held its own and in New Brunswick it has gained three seats, for Mr. Foster has not been defeated in Kings as was at one time supposed Such a result as this should be eminently satisfactory to the venerable leader of the government, whose last campaign has been the most glorious of the many contests he has fought at the polls. It must be satisfactory also to all good men in Canada who are not the victims of prejudice or the slaves of party.

THE RESULT IN ST. JOHN.

The result of the voting yesterday in the two St. John constituencies was a political landslide such as has not been witnessed in any Dominion election in this constituency since Confederation. Mr. Ellis, who was regarded as almost too strong to be successfully attacked, and who carried the city by a majority of 213 at the general election of 1887, has been fairly snowed under, a majority of 586 being piled upon his head. The two Conservative candidates for the city and county have been elected by majorities of about 1000, and two constitutencies which have been regarded as strongly Grit for so many years, have shown themselves to be far more strongly Conservative. The GAZETTE is not much given to making predictions, but on Tuesday last it deviated from this general rule, and in its leading article spoke as follows:

The Liberals in the city and county of St. John are beaten and their leaders are well aware of the fact. They never had the slightest hope of carrying their entire ticket. Mr. Rankine was put on merely for the purpose of proving that they could put a full ticket in the field and not with any serious idea that he could be elected. At an early period of the campaign Mr. Weldon recognized the fact that it would be difficult for him to save his own seat and since then all his efforts have been directed to accomplish that result. Attempts were made to persuade the electors who would not vote the straight ticket to vote for Weldon and Hazen or for Weldon and Skinner and it was hoped that in this way Mr. Weldon might be saved. This has, however, proved a vain hope and at the present moment Mr. Weldon is well aware that the battle is lost. The fact should cause every Conservative in the city and county of St. John to redouble his efforts and to see to it that the majority for Messrs. Hazen and Skinner is made as large as possible.

In the city, the Liberals have maintained a pretence of believing that they can elect Mr. Ellis, although the better informed among them must have known that this pretence is false. They rely mainly, it would appear, on what they term the solid Catholic vote, although why a good Catholic should vote for Mr. Ellis it is not easy to understand. Mr. Ellis was brought up a Roman Catholic but he has never attended the public worship of the faith since he was a young man, and now he pretends to belong to a Protestant denomination. There can, therefore, be no question of creed to attach the Catholics to Mr. Ellis, and probably if the truth were told, Mr. Ellis has no creed. When the vote comes to be counted on Thursday it will be seen that Mr. Ellis has not succeeded in obtaining the solid Catholic vote, and it will be discovered then that many other votes on which he counted will not be his. Desertions have been numerous from the ranks of Mr. Ellis's supporters during the past ten days, and although they have not in all cases been openly made the result will be nevertheless disastrous to him. Of one thing the Loyal voters of St. John may rest assured; Mr. Ellis cannot possibly be elected if they do their duty on election day and record their votes. On Thursday St. John will clear itself of the disgrace of electing an annexationist to represent it in parliament.

We ask the readers of the GAZETTE to observe how literally every part of the above prediction has been fulfilled. The GAZETTE three weeks ago put down Mr. McLeod's majority over Mr. Ellis at 500, and this number has been exceeded. This estimate was regarded as a wild one at the time, but the careful calculators who made out their estimates in the committee rooms, did not take any account of the silent vote which had been estranged from Mr. Ellis by his shameless disloyalty. What were the causes which have produced this revulsion in public feeling in the two St. John constitutencies so that the three Liberal candidates have been swept out of sight as by an overwhelming tidal wave? The two causes that have contributed most to that result have been the establishmept of the GAZETTE and the noble work done by the young Conservatives of St, John.

When the GAZETTE was started two years and a half ago as an evening daily in opposition to the Globe, the latter paper seemed to be so firmly established that any effort to assail it was looked upon as futile. All its evening rivals had disappeared. The Tribune, which was started with abundant capital and was edited by two very able journalists, was obliged to succumb, and how was the GAZETTE to succeed where it had failed? So people argued and perhaps they were justified in doing so, but the managers of the GAZETTE were not discouraged. They believed that a loyal evening paper true to the interests of the city would succeed in St. John. Mr. Ellis, although endowed with a reputation for great ability was known to the GAZETTE to be a mere pretender, and for more than two years it has been the business of this paper to show him to the people of St. John in his true character. That work, we flatter ourselves, has been done effectually, and Mr. Ellis is today, the worst beaten man in New Brunswick. As for the result in the County of St. John, the Liberal candidates having accepted Mr. Ellis, a notorious annexationist, as a colleague, fell with him and shared his fate.

We can hardly find words to speak in sufficiently high terms of commendation of the young Conservatives who took so prominent a part in the election. The formation of their club was a most happy idea and it is safe to say that without their efforts the victory of yesterday would have been far less complete than it was. Many of these young Conservatives had never taken an active part in politics before, but on this occasion they felt that the interests of Canada and of St. John demanded their best services and they gave them freely. Not only did they engage heartily in committee work, but many of them took the platform and their appearance there had a powerful effect on the result for they spoke as young men, and addressed themselves to young men. At the polls yesterday their work was superb. At every polling place in the city they were strongly represented and their activity and diligence never relaxed until the polls were closed and the battle was won. All honor to the young Conservatives of St. John for their noble work. Let them preserve their present organization and the city and county of St. John will never more be represented by unpatriotic men in Parliament.

UNMEANING HONORS.

The world is apt to smile derisively when it hears of the purchase of a title and a husband by some American widow, or by some American father, for a daughter whose happiness and, it may be salvation, he sacrifices without compulsion at the alter of a most puerile ambition. It is fortunate, however, that the parties to those bargains occupy but little space in the world, and at their immolation there are few mourners. It is the brainless dude who apes the evil customs and manners of a foreign country, because he feels that in the race of life where mind is the only guarantee of any real success, he is hamstrung by stupidity and crippled by the density of his intellect. It is often the case across the border that men and women suddenly acquire great wealth, which, they imagine, will unlock every door and make them welcome wherever they may choose to present themselves. Three or four hundred years ago there was an aristocracy of muscle; a hundred years ago, on this continent, there was an aristocracy of money, but both have been supplanted by an aristocracy of mind. This the shoddy millionaire can never hope to enter, for the keys to its gates are fashioned of neither gold nor brass. As the next best thing some decayed duke, characterless count, or brainless baron is purchased with his title, followed in most cases by domestic discord or the divorce court. It would be very singular, if, when titles descend from father to son, there should not be many a titled scapegrace: and more singular, if, where titles can be bought for a few pounds, as in France, Germany and Italy, there should not be many titled scoundrels. There was a time, no doubt, when to be titled was to be distinguished, but even then it is likely that the man more frequently distinguished the title than the title the man. Titles, like college degrees, may at one time have been an honor to those upon whom they were conferred, but they have degenerated into the flimsiest playthings of flimsy minds. And at their best they were of such stuff as dreams are made of. Watt and Stephenson will be remembered centuries after the Duke of Brown Stout is forgotten. We remember Nelson and Wellington but care little about the handles that were affixed to their names. We would be sorry to think of Lord Shakespeare or the Earl of Addison, or the Duke of Dickens; we think of Byron and Scott, and Macaulay, and Lytton, not as titled personages, but just as we think of Burns, and Woodsworth, and Thackeray. He does his best, is a better passport through this world and to the world to come, than any title or degree which any king or college can confer, be it Lord or Baron or Honorable, L. L. D., or D. C. L.

Wrong Kind of a Sweep.

[Telegraph Mar. 6.]

While on the eve of the contest THE TELEGRAPH was hopeful of the general result in this province we ventured the prediction that as in previous elections where a great question was at issue the election would go "with a sweep."

It Will go With a Sweep.

[Telegraph Mar. 5.]

For all these reasons we believe that the prospects were never better for a sweeping Liberal victory than they are at the present moment.

The GAZETTE last evening was in the streets with the full city returns and all the county returns from the East, West and North ends, fully half an hour before the Globe made its appearance with an incomplete city return. The arrangements of the GAZETTE were so perfect that the electors had the figures before them an hour after the polls closed. The sales of the GAZETTE last evening were probably larger than ever were made by any St. John paper and kept the GAZETTE's fast press running until 9 p. m. It was a great day for St. John and for the GAZETTE also.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Albert county has done nobly in returning Dr. Weldon as its representative.

The result in New Brunswick is 14 Conservatives and 2 Grits, a gain of three seats and a very different showing from what the silly Telegraph predicted.

The defeat of Peter Mitchell in Northumberland is a great triumph for the Conservative party. We heartily congratulate Mr. Adams on his election.

Mr. Hazen, the "unknown young man" to whom Mr. Weldon referred in his speeches, has beaten Mr. Weldon by 1020 votes in the city and county of St. John.

Next to the defeat of Annexationist Ellis in St. John, the defeat of Annexationist Jones in Halifax is the most gratifying feature of the election. Halifax has done nobly in electing two good Conservatives by an immense majority.

The election of Mr. Baird for Queens is very satisfactory after the scandalous manner in which the voters lists were manipulated at the last revision. Mr. King may now retire to private life; the people of Queens do not desire his services in parliament.

W. H. LYTELL seems to have got in financial difficulties with his "Hands across the sea" company at Montreal, and the Star says that while bailiffs were watching the doors of the academy there with a capias, at the suit of Olive West, for $175, W. H. fooled them by passing down the fire escape at the side of the building, and he is now supposed to be in New York.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sore's formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY
