The petitioners point out that, as the conditions have entirely changed since 1875, the government should foster an industry that would make the country self-supplying rather than perpetuate by subsidy a foreign business largely owned foreigners, who employ chiefly Mongolians.

BIMETALLIC COMMISSIONERS.

To be Appointed by McKinley as Extraordinary Diplomatic Agents.

London, March 30 .- The April issue of the National Review contains a statement that it has received private information from Washington that President McKinley intends to appoint binetallic commissioners as extraordinary diplomatic agents in order to be able to officially negotiate with heads of governments, The Review adds: "For obtions reasons President McKinley does not care to have this fact generally known, as he fears politicians would clamor for appointment of their sup-porters. He intends to select at least three, possibly five, men of the highest position."

The answer of the government is that the late royal commission only inquired into one branch of the question, and the final decision must be withheld until another committee reports upon the other branches.

As at present advised, no Nationalist ur Radical will act on this second commission, which they regard as a mere expedient. The Radicals do dilatory not object to redressing Ireland's financial grievance, but maintain that the remonstrated more clearly than ever in the incidence of taxation in these countries that a root and branch alteration in the taxation system should be adopted in order to bring relief to the poor classes all around.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin, in full robes of office, presented a petition prayntinuance of the Hawaiian treaty of ing the house of commons to take into consideration the financial relations betion of the islands. It sets forth that tween Great Britain and Ireland, and to the treaty has been operative against redress the affairs whereby Ireland is overtaxed.

Hon. Edward Blake, Irish Nationalist nember for the south division of Longford, called attention to the report of the royal commission on the financial relations of Great Britain and Ireland, and moved that it has established the tion upon Leland, constituting a great grievance and making it the duty of the government to propose remedial legislation at an early day. Mr. Blake spoke of the economic conditions of Great Britain and Ireland, and said British rule had advanced the former, but had failed to prosper Ireland. In conclusion Mr. Blake protested in behalf of the Irish party against the proposed new commission to enquire into the financial relations existing between Great Britain and Ireland. (Irish cheers.) Mr. John E. Redmond, Parnellite member for Waterford city, seconded

Mr. Blake's motion. In so doing, he said that Mr. Gladstone was the author of a great deal of injustice in connection with the taxation of Ireland. He contended that the government of Ireland was wasteful, costing twice as much per head as in England, with a Lord Lieu-tenant receiving double the salary of a president of the United States. Mr.

Redmond characterized the proposal to appoint a new commission as being "a dishonest and cowardly evasion of the question."

ed the frontier into Macedonia yester day, accompanied by about twenty-five followers. Near Grevena the Greeks engaged the advance post of Turkish troops, commanded by a German officer. The loss of the insurgents is not known

They subsequently returned across the border into Greek territory. It is difficult to see how war between Greece and Turkey can be averted. It is rumored in diplomatic circles here that King George has sent a messenger to the Czar, saying it is impossible for Greece to yield to the powers regarding Crete, and it is equally impossible to recall the Greek troops from Thessaly in view of the excited condition of the public mind. It is believed that even the annexation of Crete would fail to satisfy the Greeks, who are so imbued with war fever that nothing short of a severe blood letting will stop them.

London, March 31 .- The following semi-official announcement was made last evening:

"In consequence of the request of the admirals, it has been decided that a further battalion of 600 men be forthwith sent to Crete by each power. The Welsh Fusiliers at Malta have been ordered to e ready to sail immediately. Otherwise the situation as regards the action of the powers is unchanged. It has not yet een decided to demand the withdrawal of the Greek and Turkish forces from the frontier, such a course appearing impracticable at the present moment. March 30.-Tha

He also has an ample supply of ammunition, fair commissary and his medical staff and hospital corps are in a satisfactory condition. All the strategic points the frontier are occupied and defend ed by newly thrown up earthworks and other defences and are supplied with powerful batteries of artillery. To attack this line of defence it is understood the Greeks cannot muster more than 60,000 n.en, mostly irregulars, although some estimates here have it that the Greeks may be able to muster 100,000 men in all, counting the hastily armed peasantry and raw recruits and rough reserves which they have been pushing toward the frontier for a month past.
