Newcastle Field Battery in Comp-William W. Ignt Makes His Escape.

(Special to the Sum.)

Newcastle, N. B., Sept. 24.—The exmination into the charges against John Fish, late postmaster at New-castle, was continued today at the Court House in Newcastle. William C: Whittbaker, assistant post office inspector, being recalled, stated that he had made a thorough search for the envelope which covered the letter from Neguac addressed to P. Hennessy, and had been unable to find it, and that e now thought he left it on P. Henssy's desk; that the letter he here produced was the letter in which the envelope referred to was enclosed; that he had the letter with him and showed it to Mr. Hennessy when he had spoken to him on the occasion before referred to; that in consequence of what Mr. Hennessy told him he made no investigation of the matter; that he made no official report of the character of an inquirer, and desired matter, but made a verball report; that to promote discussion on a few question the conversation he had with Mr. Hennessy he was under the impression that the matter was closed so far as he (Hennessy) was concerned; that it was in consequence of what the (Hennessy) had said to him that he (Hennessy) had said to him that he had not been particular about the envelope.

Maria Hennessy, re-called, stated that the paper then shown her was the letter she wrote under her faither's direction to Inspector King; that the envelope which covered the registered letter from Neguac was enclosed in that letter to Inspector King, and not the letter itself. The letter to Inspector King was then put in evidence. The letter is as follows: The letter is as follows:

The letter is as follows:

Newcastle, N. B., March 19, 1896.
Mr. King. Inspector of Post Offices, St. John N. B.:

Dear Sir—I enclose you a registered letter posted at Neguac on the 9th March and delivered at Newcastle on the 19th March, in the condition that you now see it, with the exception of the opening of the end. The party sending the letter enquired of me by a neighbor of bis if I did not receive such letter, which I did not at the time, but I enquired of Mr. Fish about it and he said he would try and find it for me. He did so and delivered it to me today with the amount. I would ask you to investigate this transaction and find out the cause of the delay, as the delay in delivering letters with money and an arder is very injurious to my business.

(Signed)

P. HENNESSY.

That the letter, then shown witness, was a letter in the handwriting of Vitale Allain, and that the money be-fore referred to by her came in that letter, and that both letter and money were enclosed in the missing envelope. Mr. Winslow, counsel for the prose-cution, stated that this closed the Miss Nari Miller, who went from and four months in the penitentiary, here to St. Paul about five years ago, and who was serving a preliminary is climbing right up the ladder of success. The firm with whom she is work. ing, Yerxa Brothers & Co., is one of dently procured for the prisoner the largest in St. Paul, with branches wrench, with which he managed to all over the state. One hundred men reach through the iron bars protecting the entrance to the corridor and loosen the nuts fastening an iron bar, which had been put on as an extra precau-tion. This left him an opening nine inches wide, through which he managed to escape. As he was doing so, he fell to the floor and made a loud noise, which the keepers heard and could not at the time account for. The high sheriff is taking steps to effect his re-capture. The escaped prisoner once before broke away from an officer at the Douglastown wharf, just as the steamer on which he was being conveyed to the Newcastle jail was leaving the wharf. Though he was handcuffed he proved too speedy for the officer and effected his escape. He re-turned to Chatham lately, terrified ome men at the Richards mill by pointing a revolver at them, and threatening to shoot them. It was for this offence that he was again arrested and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. When it so happens that criminal is convicted in this county it is very unfortunate that he should escape. It is consoling that he is not likely to come back again.

AGAINST OUTSIDE LABOR.

A petition is in circulation protesting against any change in the law respecting outside laborers coming to the city to work. When the French laborers came here last winter to load a steamer it was discovered that un-der an old law they could be fined $300 each. The matter was discussed by the city council and board of trade, and there was a proposition that the council fix the license fee for outside laborers at $7.50. It is against this, or any change from the old law that the present petition is being circulated

Murray (the latter in charge) have been transferred from the old dredge Canada. The Cape Breton has some improvements suggested by Mr. Gillis, as the result of his long experience. The bucket or scoop weighs ten tome and lifts four cubic yards of mud. The handle is so long libat she can dig a circle of sizty feet without moving and she can deepen the water to 35 feet underneath her. The posts by which she is held in place while at work are 51 feet hong and three feet square. Mr. Galls informed us that they are made of Douglas fir. procuped in British Columbite, and that one tree made two of them, so that it must have reached a height of over 100 feet without a limb—co much for the products of Canada. The Cape Bretsn is fiat in the bottom and her hold is alled with the most powerful bollers and machinery for the work she has to perform." ARRIVAL OF DREDGE CAPE BRETON

> The Address of Mrs. Skinner - Gathering Diin cresting Papers.

The St. John county teachers fastitute met in the Centennial school building Thursday at 10 o'clock a. m. The first thing on the programme was sixty names. After this the president, John McKinnon, delivered his opening address. The secretary-treasurer, Malcolm D. Brown, submitted his report, which was referred to the auditing committee. The regular programme was departed from to allow Miss Orr to read an interesting particular to the submission of the submiss per on Kindergarten Work, showing the methods of instruction used. In her address Mrs. Skinner discussed the essential elements and basis of politeness, referring to a distinction made by a recent magazine writer between good manners and good manners. She was present in the naracter of an inquirer, and desired the ordinary meaning of the word al-ways an evidence of a kindly nature? tude of the pupil? Is politeness a fac-tor in the building up of character? Enlarging on these questions a little, yet leaving them open, Mrs. Skinner claimed that truth was the only solid basis of good manners, but that a habit of politeness would by reflex action tend to produce the feeling that should prompt it. The newsboys whom the speaker with others at one time used to meet on certain evenings seemed afterwards to find a pleasure in liftling their hats in the street to these ladies. It was a graceful custom for the school to rise when a visitor entered, and Mrs. Skinner suggested greeting were offered to all visitors as well as to officials. She liked the at-titude of a school where a well grown school boy addresses another as mas-ter and where the teacher does not address the pupil without the prefix. It was remarked that Mrs. Wells, a wowho visited some of the schools last week, commended especially the polite-ness of the children, which testimony was the more valuable because Mrs. Wells was not lavish in praise. Let us endeavor, said Mrs. Skinner in conclusion, to make the act of politeness the symbol of the true soul, to make the source pure and the stream not be defiled.

Fourth session this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Lessons in English literature; sub ject Richard II., act 2, scene 1, Principal Cameron of Yarmouth, N. S.; election of officers; miscellaneous The third meeting of the Institute was held Friday morning. Principal A. Cameron of Yarmouth, N. S., gave a most interesting discussion on Time, dwelting and the different ways of marking time, also the different kinds of time in use in the maritime provinces. The address was embellished with quatantons from the neets and other writters.

The auditing committee reported that everything was in a satisfactory way financially. Wm. H. Parlies, who made this report, moved that the pay of the secretary-treasurer, which is now $10, be advanced to $15. This was seconded by Mr. Hanington, Mr. Barry moved that the report of the auditing committee be considered first. The report was accepted. The question of the secretary-treasurer's advance in salary then came up, and after some lively discussion it was decided to postpone the gonesideration untill thus, afternoon, to come up in the miscellaneous, business.

The teachers then divided up, the primary and intermediate teachers taking the next room to hear a very interesting paper on Busy Work, while R. B. Waltace read a paper on the same subject to the advanced section.

Messra Hay, Montgomery and O'Relly and Drs. Inch. and Bridges also, spake on the subject.

Wm. H. Parlse's paper on Thoughts of introductory Geometry was now discussed, after which the meeting adjourned till the afternoon session. work. Introductory Geometry was now discussed, after which the meeting adjourned till the afternoon session.

While waiting for Principal A Cameron, whose Lesson in English Literature was the first thing on the programme. Dr. H. S. Bridges moved, econded, by John Montgomery, that the institute accept the invitation of the Charlotte county teachers to convene with them in St. Stephen next year. This, was unanimously carried.

Mr. Cameron took for his, subject the first scene in the second act of Richard II. For over an hour he held the attention of the destinate handling the subject in a dear, masterful manner.

The election of officers was the next business before the session. On motion of Thos Steakard, Inspector Garter was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year. The other officers, elected were Miss Kate Kerr, vice president; Miss Verxa, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Narraway and Thos. Steokard, executive committee.

Pressient Elect Carter asked that full power be given the executive to make arrangements for the halding of the joint institute at St. Stephen next year. The was done.

stitute at St. Stephen next year. The was done.

General Supt. Such assured the teachers of his hearty support in tiffs matter and internated that it thought be beneficient to the teachers of the province if some of the country institutes would cambine.

On motion Da. Budgess took the char and a vote of thanks was tendered the settining president.

Votes of thanks were also tendered the cohool trustee for the use of the hall.

John Montgomery asked for an expression of opinion as to the advisability of forming a teachers' association. He refeered to the benefits to the teachers. Inspector Carter favored the scheme and Dr. Inch thought the department would approve of it. Noticing, however, was done, as the hour for the final adjournment and arrived.
