

SULZER WONT GIVE UP WITHOUT A HARD FIGHT

The Lieutenant Governor would not indicate tonight what action he proposed to take except to say that there would be "no circus of military manoeuvres about occupying the executive chamber—the law is supreme."

The inaction of Lieutenant Governor Glynn in the matter was, in the course of the arguments, given expression both in the Senate and in the Assembly today that at the moment the articles of impeachment were presented to the Senate, Governor Sulzer automatically ceased to be the chief executive. This contention was based on an article in the constitution, which says that "in case of impeachment of the governor, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor. It was held by the majority leaders that the word "impeachment" corresponded with the word "indictment" in a criminal trial and that there, in the meaning of the constitution, the governor stood impeached, though not yet convicted, and was therefore not now eligible to hold his office.

These arguments were placed before the lieutenant governor in the afternoon, but nevertheless Governor Sulzer was not molested. A few minutes after the governor left his office Patrick E. McCabe, clerk of the Senate, appeared at the executive chamber with a copy of the articles of impeachment, and a summons and complaint which he intended to serve upon the governor. When informed by the governor's secretary, Chester C. Platt, that he had missed the governor by scarcely a minute, McCabe asked for an appointment tomorrow. Platt replied that the governor would be at the executive chamber at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning and that he would "try and arrange matters for that time."

It seemed practically certain tonight that the governor and the lieutenant governor would test their respective claims in the courts which, in the history of New York State have never been called upon to hand down an opinion which would be as a precedent in the case. Rumors of what form these tests would take offered such a wide view that for lack of authoritative statement, none cared tonight to venture more than a guess. Upon leaving the executive chamber the governor went for a short automobile ride, and then returned to the executive mansion, where he was in consultation until a late hour with his advisers. Besides D. Cady Herrick, it was announced that his attorneys at the trial would be Irving C. Vann, of Syracuse, a former judge of the court of appeals; Louis Marshall, of New York; ex-Senator Harvey D. Hillman, of Binghamton; Virgil Kellogg, of Watertown, formerly a state supreme court judge, and Judge James Gay (now) of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Sulzer was in the care of physicians tonight and was said to be in a complete state of collapse, as the result of the strain to which she had been subjected since the exposure of the Frawley Committee.

Since also will be the policy of the governor until he appears at the bar of the court of impeachment. When the eight articles of impeachment were read in the senate this afternoon, Senator Wagner, majority leader and president pro tempore of the senate, declared the articles "heretofore received" and announced that he would summon the court of impeachment "to meet at the capitol in the city of Albany on the eighteenth day of September, 1913, at the hour of noon."

Mrs. Sulzer's condition became so serious tonight that Governor Sulzer wired to New York for a specialist on nervous diseases. The governor then told his advisers, it was said by those who appeared to have knowledge of what transpired at the night conference, that under no circumstances would he allow Mrs. Sulzer to testify at the trial. It was said on the other hand that Mrs. Sulzer insisted hysterically that she be allowed to testify in her husband's behalf.

FIFTY KILLED IN BATTLE AT PERSIAN CAPITAL

BAZARS IN TEHRAN

Between forty and fifty men were killed or wounded in sharp street fighting between Persian troops and the Bakhtiari tribesmen in Teheran, the capital of Persia.

The Bakhtiars were inveigled by the military police into conference and while they were engaged in negotiations the authorities placed lines of infantry with machine guns across the surrounding streets.

When the Bakhtiars came out they saw they were entrapped and thereupon agreed to give up their arms. The Bakhtiars are a nomadic, semi-independent people who inhabit Western Persia, near the Turkish frontier. They are allied to the Kurds.

The clansmen were a potent factor in the last revolution, causing great trouble to the government.

BRANDS TIMES YARN AS FALSE

Chester Jones Denies Opposition Paper's Allegation that Road to St. Andrews is in Bad Shape.

An evidence of the policy of misrepresentation pursued by the Telegraph and Times in regard to the condition of the roads in the Province of New Brunswick was manifested last evening when the Times published an alleged interview with two young men who had been on an automobile trip to St. Andrews and who because of the alleged bad roads were delayed in their return home. The Times quotes the automobilists as saying the roads were in such a fearful condition that they found progress especially difficult.

This is a pretty story and might have got away without contradiction had it not been for the fact that another young man, Chester Jones by name, who is engaged as chauffeur for F. E. Sayre, made the same trip at the same time and saw the automobilists interviewed by the Times in St. Andrews. Mr. Jones called at The Standard office yesterday afternoon and unhesitatingly branded the Times story as absolutely untrue. "The roads are good except for one or two places," said he. "As to the automobilists being delayed by the condition of the roads, Mr. Jones said that is also without foundation, as he has reason to know they returned to this city much sooner than indicated by the untruthful newspaper. Mr. Jones came from St. Andrews to St. John in four hours.

THE TAYLOR'S SILVER BLACK FOX COMPANY, LIMITED

MONTAGUE, P. E. I.

The future of the Silver Black Fox Industry is thus described by Wesley P. Frost, United States Consul, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

A LASTING INDUSTRY

"Confidence in the permanence of the market for the furs is based primarily on the fact that Black Fox Fur has from time immemorial been affected by the Royal families of Europe and by persons of highest wealth and fashion. It is pointed out that the acceptance of this fur as the chief and most valuable is time honored and not a vogue, and that its worth is almost as fully standardized as that of the diamond amongst precious stones."

Such is the mature decision of a disinterested observer. Granted this permanent industry and a steady demand with prices well maintained the TAYLOR'S SILVER FOX COMPANY can confidently look forward to paying high profits to its shareholders.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN

THE TAYLOR'S SILVER BLACK FOX COMPANY and other companies is that with this Company goes a guarantee that at the present market price for young foxes the shareholder is ensured a dividend of WELL OVER 40 PER CENT at the least. The guarantee of an increase of NOT LESS THAN TEN YOUNG FOXES to be raised and on the ranch at September 1914, means that whatever happens the shareholder is AMPLY PROTECTED and that he will receive AT LEAST WELL OVER 40 PER CENT. But in the ordinary case the litters of seven pairs of foxes WILL

WILSON WILL FRANGE THE U. S. FARMER

President of United States Definitely Pledges Bill NEXT Session.

HELP FARMERS TO GET CASH ON CROP.

One Plan Suggested is to Allow Banks to Discount Paper on Warehouse Receipts for Staple Commodities.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Democratic "insurgents" on the currency question declared themselves much encouraged today after the caucus had spent more than five hours discussing the administration currency bill.

With the administration measure under attack in the caucus by those Democrats who seek to write into the measure a provision which would give the farmer currency on his crops, President Wilson today issued a statement committing himself to rural credit legislation at the next session of Congress. He set forth that the matter could not be adequately handled in the present bill, and that a separate and distinct machinery for the handling of rural credits should be established. This question, raised by the house insurgents, has brought a flood of comment from the agricultural communities to their representatives in Congress and many believe the president's statement would have some effect on the consideration of the bill in the caucus.

But after the day's discussion the insurgents were confident they would secure material amendments looking to the providing of money to farmers. One amendment suggested which secured favorable consideration from both sides would make it clear that banks in the federal system could discount paper based on warehouse receipts for staple commodities, and would make this paper rediscountable at the regional reserve banks. Many conservative members of the house evinced a disposition to support this amendment, which would carry out the ideas expressed in the insurgent proposals.

The general discussion on the measure in the caucus will continue tomorrow, and it is probable the bill will be before the caucus for at least the remainder of the week.

San Francisco, August 13.—Martha Warrington continued to be the chief witness today in the trial of the government's case against Mistry I. Diggs, former state architect, of California, charged under the Mann act with having transported her from Sacramento to Reno, for immoral purposes.

She picked up the unfinished story of her intimacy with the defendant and carried it through to the end, lowering her eyes at times and dropping her voice almost to a whisper, but never faltering in her answers. When she left the stand, still subject to further examination tomorrow, her story remained unchanged. Diggs, she said, had induced her to leave home against her wishes and judgment.

The court room was somewhat started in the afternoon session by the emphatic admonitions of the judge to the jury that the case must not be discussed by the jurors, particularly with any friend of Diggs or F. Drew Caimetti, co-defendant, in another case on a like indictment. They must not even allow the case to be mentioned within their hearing or read about it in the newspapers.

These are the usual instructions to jurors, but the emphasis with which they were given, repeated by Judge Vanfleet this afternoon gave rise to inquiries which he would not satisfy. Just before adjournment Nathan Coughlan, for the defense, asked permission to place Roche on the stand.

On the return trip from Reno, he said, while all four were under arrest, Martha Warrington had given to Assistant District Attorney Atkinson of Sacramento, a statement of the elopement which was taken down by an official court reporter and which was entirely at variance, he was informed, with her testimony in court. The defense wished this statement in evidence.

Judge Vanfleet held he had no power to compel the prosecution to surrender the statement, but he was willing it should be introduced by agreement, and if introduced that it should be made the basis of cross-examination. Roche resisted the motion.

Girl Tells Court Architect Induced Her to Leave Home Against Her Wishes — Judge's Peculiar Ruling.

THE KANAWHA.

The Furness Line steamship Kanawha left port Tuesday night for London. She took away 72,000 bushels grain and other cargo. She will call at the port of Halifax.

Portland, Aug. 13.—It is probable before many weeks the experience of bringing lumber from southern ports to northern markets in barrels will be tested, the first cargo very likely coming to this port. Two of a six barges building at Camden, N. B. for the Hilton-Dodge Co., have been launched within a few days, and will commence their trips as soon as the new steel tug boat V. B. Keene, which was launched on July 22 is ready to go into commission. The two barges already launched, which have been named the Altamaha and Belfast, of the same dimensions, being 200 ft. in length, 40 feet beam and 16.5 feet of hold, measuring 1,600 tons, with lumber capacity of 500,000 feet. Three of the other four barges contracted for are already in frame and will be launched the coming fall.

TWO SEAMEN LOST.

Portland August: With her flag flying at half mast, the Gloucester fishing schooner Margaret, Capt. Ernest Inkstrum, arrived in port on Monday afternoon from a cruise on St. Peter Banks, the skipper reporting the disappearance of two of his men on Monday of last week while on the banks. The men, Nicholas Kelley and Frank Munroe, were out in a dory, were most of the crew, when a fog set in and the two men failed to pick up their vessel, having evidently lost their bearings. Every possible effort was made to find the stragglers but to no purpose. Capt. Inkstrum remains in the harbor for 24 hours before he gave up the search. The dory carried a sail and a water jug, and as the finest weather was the exception of fog was prevalent at the time the skipper was very confident that the men must have been felled up by some other fishing vessel, there being several in the neighborhood. The men both belonged to the provinces, Kelley being a native Ireland.
