

FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

REXTON

Repton, N. B., Oct. 28.—A good deal of grain is not yet harvested and it is feared that the potatoes that are not yet dug will be affected with rot. The yield of potatoes is exceptionally large. The death occurred at his home in Notre Dame, Kent county, Sunday last, of James Johnson, at the age of 82 years. Mr. Johnson was well and favorably known. He, with his wife, had spent the greater part of the spring and summer in the States. Mr. Johnson became ill while visiting his son John in Salem (Mass.). He rallied from the attack and was able to return to his home, where he took a relapse and passed away after intense suffering. He is survived by his wife, four daughters and six sons. The daughters are Mrs. James Gobham, Mrs. Fred Smith, of Notre Dame; Mrs. John Horsman, of Springfield; Mrs. S. J. Purdy Blair, of Shilliminess (N. S.). The sons are James and Robert, of Notre Dame; George, of Lynde; John, of Salem; Hubert, of St. Louis; William, of Hartley, of Jamestown, Ohio. He also leaves three brothers and one sister. Mrs. Alexander MacGregor was called to St. John a few days ago on account of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Kelly. Mrs. MacGregor also proceeded to Portland (Me.) to see her son, James, who is ill there with pneumonia. Bass are reported very plentiful in the river. Some very fine ones are being caught with hooks.

HOPEWELL HILL

Hopewell Hill, Oct. 28.—The October sitting of the Albert county court will be held next Tuesday, October 28. So far, no cases, either criminal or civil, have come up, to be presented for hearing at this term. The many friends of A. S. Milton, one of Hopewell's largest farmers and most respected citizens, regret to learn that he is confined to his home with a quite serious case of influenza, requiring constant medical attention, and for which an operation may be found necessary. After two or three weeks of wet weather, two fine days this week were much appreciated and enabled the farmers to get in some grain that had been lying out a long time. The grain, however, was in rather poor condition. The weather has again become very bad and a considerable quantity of coarse hay is still out. The Misses Marguerite and Constance Montgomery-Campbell were in St. John a few days of last week, guests of Mrs. Frank Starr. Mr. and Mrs. John Little are moving here from Port Elgin, to occupy their new home, which has recently been completed. Jones returned Saturday evening after a few days' visit at her old home in Salmon Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hickey, of Point Wolfe, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Connelly a few days of last week. Mr. Hickey has purchased a dwelling house from Jones Bros., and an additional lot net, of Albert, taking station agent's place at Hillsboro. The new manager is a very young man for the position, but has been in the service since boyhood and is a bright and capable young man. His many friends will be glad to hear of his promotion. His successor in the station, Mr. Barnett, was very popular at Albert, and is likely to be equally so at Hillsboro. S. C. Wright, after only six months' experience, has been given charge of the Albert station, a pretty high compliment to his ability. It is understood that the time on the road will change on November 1, the train to leave Albert at 6 in the morning instead of 10.30 as at present. There was an error in the prize award list of the Hopewell Hill fair, one item showing the first prize for draft home teams as going to G. A. Milton, with Allen Smith's second. This was not correct. Mr. Smith's team winning first place and Mr. Milton's second. Mr. Smith's is the same team that won first money in the drawing competition at Albert last month. Hopewell Hill, Oct. 28.—A. E. Turvill has finished the Millmore bridge at Salmon Creek and is getting ready to put the bridge over on the Sawmill Creek bridge here.

W.C.T.U. WANTS EVEN THE SEA TO BE DRY

Blames Rum for Titanic Disaster, and Would Take Drink from Ships. New York, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Harris Army, a Georgia delegate to the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention, declared to 800 students of Carnegie Institute of Technology today that women form their opinions and judgments just as rapidly and accurately as men. "But when they have an opinion they stick to it, and no amount of discussion can change it," added the psychologist. A group of Harvard men and a group of Radcliffe women, he said, were the subjects of an experiment. Two blackboards, each containing many white spots, were used in the tests. Each board of students was to decide which blackboard contained more spots, the right or the left. The men decided, wrote their decisions on paper and announced them. Fifty per cent. decided upon the blackboard on the right. The professor allowed them ten minutes of discussion, which one side attempted to convince the other of its correctness. A second vote was taken. Instead of 51 per cent. per cent. favored the right blackboard. When the test was made with the women, 80 per cent. favored the right blackboard.

Local Capitalists Planning for Large, Modern Building—Want Improved Transportation Service.

It is almost certain that the very near future will see the beginning of work on a large modern summer hotel at Westfield of the plans for which the site of the new hotel is considered by interested parties to be one of the finest on the river. The hotel, which is to be built on the site of the old hotel, is to be a modern building, and will be a great benefit to the community. The names of local capitalists only are mentioned in connection with the scheme. THE WOMAN'S CORNER EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL (Domestic Science Lecturer)

About Cold Storage Fowls One eats the best chicken in the world abroad. Here at home we have the finest fowls grown, but they come to our tables with questionable flavors that must be disguised. How do we manage this? It is because we buy fowls that are plucked and packed in barrels and kept in cold storage for months. When there is a market for them they are thawed and sold. Now this is not a pleasant topic to write about, but it is more unpleasant still to think that unless it is helped upon continually women will thoughtlessly continue buying them for their family's consumption.

Dealers will tell you that fowls are stored in this disgusting condition because they keep better than if they are drawn.

Government Bulletin No. 144 denies this after the Agricultural Department has made hundreds of experiments. "Under the same conditions of temperature and humidity," says this report, "cleaned fowls keep from twenty to thirty days longer than uncleaned ones." Those packed without drawing have a strong intestinal flavor—and then follows a full explanation of why housekeepers should reject storage fowls, but read this yourself. The real reason poultry dealers leave the victors in the body is because the fowl can be weighed before it is cleaned and this means more profit to them. After the fowl is weighed you will usually find the salesman eager to draw it for you, and there is a reason for this. The heads are kept in one pile and sold to certain foreigners, too, are resold and advertised at home. The legs, too, are resold and advertised at home. The fowls are put together and sold as giblets to persons who want the fowl but cannot afford an entire one. So the dealer not only charges you for what you do not receive, but sells it a second time at a big profit on his first investment. Another thing dealers do is to soak fowls that have been in storage "to thaw them out," they say, but this adds many ounces to the original weight of the fowl. If it is not repugnant to your sense of niceness to eat chickens that have lain for months uncleaned, remember it is dangerous to your health. Buy live, healthy fowls, feed them yourself for a few days, or have your own fowls plucked, their fowls alive, and of practices among American butchers such as cruel, but I do not like to write about these things, so I'll not breathe a whisper. If you wish to know whether these disgusting, unwholesome cold storage chickens continue. No one knows what microbes determined American women can do once they try to a single end. Personally I think we can have pure food at a low price if we co-operate and do our best to accomplish it. We will be glad to send plans for club work along this line to any one interested.
