that efforts are being made in that direc-

such efforts of this type should be boycotted by all well thinking, patriotic citizens of both the great political parties.

In Ward 1, we believe Steele, of Scott's Bay, and Blenkhorn, of Canning, are to be elected by acclamation. In Ward the old councillor, J. P. Lyons

In Ward 13, John Caldwell, of Cambridge, will oppose Councillor Anthony, with betting about 89 to 1 in favor of the latter. In Wards 7, 8 and 9, the old Councillors will likely be returned without opposition if they consent to be nominated. And so the ball rolls.

The Government Railways.

The only part of the Canadian government railroad system which showed an excess of receipts over expenditure last year, is the Windsor Branch of the Intercolonial. On this little branch, thirty-two miles in length, the profits last year amounted to $29,782.

Its total earnings in the same was $40,603 representing one-third of the gross earnings of the D. A. R. over the tracks from Windsor to the Junction, of which it makes the sole use. The remainder of the Government's system of railways, the I. C. R. and the P. E. I. roads, show heavy deficits, that of the I. C. R. amounts to $59,941 and of the Island roads $87,047, making the total loss last year $117,206—a percentage of expenses to earnings of 103 8.

It is an odd circumstance that the one exception in the matter of a yield of profits on the system of railroads controlled by the government should be a short stretch running through a barren country operated by a private concern. It is also interesting to note that with two insignificant exceptions the government roads are the only ones in Canada which do not yield a revenue. All the lines in any way comparable to the I. C. R. yield good returns. The Canadian Pacific's percentage of expenses to earnings was 58.6, the Grand Trunk's 66.9 and the Dominion Atlantic's 66. At the same time the I. C. R.'s was 104 9.

And no better equipped, or faster trains are run over the I. C. R. than on the other roads mentioned, nor do they run with more regularity or safety or at less expense to the passenger.—Yarmouth Times.

Prohibition Convention.

Kings County Prohibition Convention met at Jackson's hall, Coldbrook, on Saturday morning last on the arrival of the express from Halifax. The attendance of representatives was not large, owing no doubt to the busy season, but the different sections of the county were well represented. Reports were heard from the different officers and committees.

The following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved: That this convention expresses its gratification at the fact that the electors of the Dominion of Canada have given a decided majority in favor of prohibition by the votes cast in the affirmative at the recent plebiscite, and by virtue of this majority, we request the government to comply with the constitutionally expressed wishes of the electorate, and introduce a prohibitory bill for the consideration of the house at the next session of parliament.

Messrs R. R. Duncan, B. O. Davison, and C. A. Patriquin were appointed delegates to the Provincial Convention which is to be held at Halifax shortly.

Nova Scotia Apples.

Among the recent shipments of fruit sent from Nova Scotia to the trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha by the department of agriculture, were some extraordinary specimens of apples. One Chebucto Beauty weighed 26 ounces and its largest circumference was 15½ inches. A specimen of the Blenheim Orange measured 13¾ inches in circumference and weighed 19 ounces. Forty-nine varieties were forwarded in all. The specimens were all excellent, large and high colored. Among other fruits from Nova Scotia was a barrel of the celebrated Gravenstein apples, which is raised in such great perfection in that province. This excellent exhibit of representative Nova Scotia fruits was got together by R. W. Starr, of Wolfville. The fruit exhibited at Omaha from different parts of Canada has produced a strong impression on the minds of visitors as to the favorable character of the Canadian climate.—Ottawa Dispatch.

We are told that "we cannot make people sober by act of parliament," to which we reply, that at present thousands are made drunk by act of parliament, and we are determined if possible, to put an end to this state of things and to get the law so revised as to be on the side of sobriety and not on the side of intemperance and all its attendant evils. Just at this critical time, when the battle grows hot and all our energy and zeal are most needed, when our opponents are watching us most narrowly, shall policy, or expediency, or cowardice, take the soul out of us? Never! Compromise is treachery, vacillation is cowardice, expediency is rottenness. We must turn neither to the right hand nor to the left, but pursue the urgent tenor of our way and be resolute for the conflict. The world faces us, incongruous elements range themselves against us; the bodies and souls of men being slain by drink are appealing for aid and crying out in anguish "Come over and help us," but, when the foe rushes to the battle, when the struggle wages the fiercest and the blows fall thickest, faint not, let us keep up our courage, press forward, turn not back. We are in the right and we know it and victory will be assured at last. Our banner of "Love, Purity and Fidelity" is borne aloft, and when the conflict is past, when the terrible fields of men's unholy passions are forever hushed, then shall the true and faithful ones enjoy the "great recompense of reward." "Be faithful, be firm, be true."

Discovery of a New Mineral.

In a late issue of the Recorder, in an effort to call the attention of the government to the necessity of having a public assayer, we made the statement that it was probable that minerals were being walked over every day whose value was unknown in many cases because those detecting the ores could not afford to have expensive tests made. We had no suspicion, when we made it that our statement would soon have startling proof of its correctness. Some short time ago parties in the vicinity of Wolfville picked up a piece of mineral which was new to them. Being persevering as well as curious, they set about for information. A piece of the ore was sent to Dr. Gilpin. Extensive as Dr. Gilpin's knowledge is of the ores of Nova Scotia, he was compelled to confess that he knew not what to call it. The ore was next given to Prof. Mason, the well known assayer, who first made an assay of it for Zinc. This was a failure. Mr Mason then consulted authorities and determined to make test as for Wolfram. Here he was successful. The ore he pronounced to be wolfram without doubt. This ore produces a metal called Cornwall, in a place in Germany, and one other place. Owing to the limited supply the mineral is not in general demand, but reversing the general order of things, the supply will create a demand. The total production of the world is not much over a thousand tons annually. The metal is of the value of six dollars per ounce. The discovery is the first of the kind this side the water. The parties making the discovery maintain that there is a large body of the ore, and are making efforts to make the discovery known in quarters where it is likely to be taken hold of. The ore is used for the purpose of making color, fast, and also has, as an alloy in steel, the property of so effecting the metal that once tempered it never looses its temper, no matter what use the tools made from the meral, are put too.—Halifax Recorder.

The grand juries of our Nova Scotia courts consist now of twelve men instead of twenty-four, as hitherto. There is a good deal to say in favor of the change; fewer men are called away from their business, which is often done at a disadvantage, and the business that comes before a grand jury can be done fully as well by twelve men as by twice that number, and as a rule, fully as expeditiously.

Academy Home, Wolfville.

DEAR ACADIAN,—An inside view of the Academy Home at dinner-time by an outsider may not be void of interest to your intelligent readers who are numbered among the friends of that institution. Twice, recently, by the courtesy of Principal Oakes and his estimable wife, I have been favored to sit at their well spread table, and in return from what I saw have only words of commendation for the teachers, the boys, the cooks, and the prudent and maternal care of Mrs Oakes. The first visit was on a week day, the other was on a Sabbath. Two long tables were spread in the spacious dining-hall of the Academy home. The windows are filled with potted plants. Principal Oakes and other teachers preside at the ends of each table. The students, tho' less in number than often in the past, are an exceptionally intelligent company, and while they do ample justice to good dinners and covet good and abundant gifts at the table, give promise of equally good and earnest work in study and in the future mission of their lives. Tidy white spreads were on the tables and napkins, silver knives and forks, etc., such as were not known to the most affluent when some of us were boys. The deportment at the tables on both occasions was quiet, courteous, and dignified, more so than is often seen in private boarding houses. At the side board stood two young women neatly attired promptly responding to the wants of the tables. And now what of the fare? It was good enough for an epicure—roast beef, well cooked, neatly and abundantly served with all necessary appetizing accompaniments. The second course was apple pie, more rich and delicious than is often enjoyed in the best ordered private houses. At the time of my second visit, the first glance at the tables disclosed the fact that there had been a great slaughter in some one's well fatted feathered flock. For the large company, with a Sunday appetite, around the tables, there was a superabundance of chicken and tapioca apple pudding. And yet how hard it is to please some boys who come from half starved homes! While they are provided with an abundance of the best of the land, and eat like gluttons, not anything is good enough for them, and they are never satisfied, and are ever finding fault and making trouble, while at the same time they are having their board for less than its actual cost, as is certainly the case at the Academy home. Such fellows ought to be banished from the borders of civilization and good breeding, be placed under a hard task master and made to live on potatoes and salt. With the gentlemanly company of boys at present in the home, with these remarks, I tread on no one's corns.
