

THE SEQUENCE: A BROADCAST APPEAL

By GARY BLAKELEY

"This ordinary guy..."

is neither rich nor poor."

"Is not selling crop insurance."

"And does not want to be on your town council."

"However, this is his only means of earning a living."

"Please, act immediately..."

Jack Daniel Distillery. Named a National Historic Place by the United States Government.

AT THE JACK DANIEL DISTILLERY, we have everything we need to make our whiskey uncommonly smooth.

Our own iron-free water

We have daily deliveries of the very finest grain American farmers can grow. A stream of pure, iron-free water (ideal for whiskey-making) flowing close by our door. And a unique way of smoothing out whiskey by filtering it for days through ten feet of finely-packed charcoal. Thanks to all these things—and some others too—we predict a pleasurable moment when you discover the smooth-sippin' rareness of Jack Daniel's Tennessee Whiskey.

London 1914, Liege 1905, St. Louis World's Fair 1904, Amsterdam 1961, Ghent 1913, Star of Excellence Brussels 1954. If you'd like a booklet about Jack Daniel's Whiskey, write us a letter here in Lynchburg, Tennessee 37352, U.S.A.

GRAB-BAG!

Excalibur is a member of the prestigious Canadian Community Newspapers Association. Grab Bag is an irregular feature in which we highlight some of the most poignant moments of our sister publications in small towns like ours across the land.

Pheasants on film

Aspen Ring-Neck Pheasant Farm at the John and Sue Charles property in the Poplar Ridge district. Three hundred pheasants were raised this year with very good success as only 11 birds did not survive until fall. Mr. Wester will have a slide presentation and report ready for the November meeting.

"God created farm people"

The regular meeting of the Kuhryville Women's Institute was held in the Rostock Hall with Mrs. Stan Waldie, president, and Mrs. Glen Diehl, secretary.

"Happy Birthday" was sung for Mrs. Perry Davidson and Mrs. Fred Schneider.

Hitch-hikin' hens

Mr. Henry Kocher, of Hesson, trucker for the Millverton Creamery, is the possessor of two ultra-modern hens which hitchhiked a ride to Milverton on his truck to accompany their product to the grading station the other day. After Mr. Kocher drove into the creamery yard and was surprised to see one of his own hens fly out from behind the spare tire, on the fender, and proudly announce the fact that today at least her egg would be delivered promptly and decidedly fresh. On investigation another hen and another egg were found in the same spot. No doubt Mr. Kocher will be able to find a ready sale for his eggs if he can educate the balance of his flock along similar lines. It would be quite a novelty to have him drive up with a load of cackling hens announcing the proud fact that newlaid eggs were being delivered right to your door. —Milverton Sun

Hello, dolly.

When she died in 1969, at age seventy-two, Margaret Woodbury Strong's doll collection contained 27,000 dolls. Eighteen thousand of the dolls were kept for display in the museum opened in her name in October 1982 in Rochester, New York. —South Sask. Total

Nobel savaged

The Nobel Awards are once again up for grabs. It reminds me of a story in the Ottawa Citizen about how we place a monetary value on our achievements.

"Evil Kneivel gets $6 million, minimum, for failing to jump the Snake River Canyon. Richard Nixon expects to get $2 million in advance for writing about failing to be a decent president. The going rate for the Nobel Peace Prize is $50,000." —Sylvan Lake Times
