

INDEX OF MYTHOLOGY.

v

the Underworld
Shades of the 4, 18.

address of strife,

APPLE OF, 114.

Epirus, Greece,
Speaking Oak,

THE, 22, 72.

as seed, 22,

wood-nymphs
as the forests 14, 1, 3, 38.

who became a

48, 58; 114, 15,

ph who faded

district in At-
to the goddess 166.

bound under
, 114, 8.

beloved by the

ain in Sicily,

the Horses of

n earthly son

(thūs), a bro-
17, 82; 114,

less of strife,

d of Love and 3, 72.

withfulswine.

(z), the (Erin'
eases of ven-
ed the guilty
and on earth,

Europa (ū-rō'pā), a maiden who was carried away by a miraculous bull, from the shore of Phanicia to the shore of Europe, afterwards called by her name, 22, 72.

Eurycleia (ū-rl'klē'ā), 114, 110.

Eurydice (ū-rl'd'isē), the wife of Orpheus, 114, 17.

Eurylochus (ū-rl'l'ō-kūs), 23, 113.

Eurystheus (ū-rl's'thūs), 22, 60.

Fair Helen, Helen of Troy, daughter of Queen Leda and wife of Menelaus, king of Sparta; famous as the fairest woman in the world and the cause of the Trojan War, 114, 77, 81, 82, 87.

Fates, the (Parcæ, Moiræ (mol'rē)), three divine sisters, Clotho, Lachesis, and Atropos, who spun the thread of human life and decreed the destinies of men and gods, 114, 42, 59.

Fauns, the, wood-folk and followers of Pan; they were like men with goats' legs, horns, and pointed ears, 23, 158; 114, 1, 5, 38.

Fleece, Golden, 23, 180; 114, 70.

Flying Slippers, the, or winged sandals of Quicksilver, 17, 35, 38; 18, 144; 114, 46.

Fountain of Pirene (Pl-rē'nē), the, at Corinth, 18, 166, 168.

Furies, the (Eumenides, Erinnyes), goddesses of vengeance who punished the guilty on earth and in the Underworld, 114, 18, 90.

Gālātē'ā, a miraculous statue,
114, 56.

Gān-y-mē'dē, a cup-bearer to the gods, 114, 75.

Gē'r'y-ōn, a giant with six legs, 18, 114.

Giants: Antæus, 18, 121; 22, 48;
Atlas, 17, 45; 18, 124; 114, 8; Briareus, 23, 185; Cyclopes, the,
23, 108; 114, 32; Enceladus, 114,
8; Geryon, 18, 114; Læstrygo-nians, the, 23, 107, 108; Polyphē-mus, 114, 94; Talus, 22, 33; TItans, the, 114, 8.

Girdle of Hippolyta, the, 18, 114.

Girdle of Venus, the (Cestus), 18, 114; 114, 76.

Glaucus (glā'kūs), 114, 81.

Gods, the; all the powers of earth, sea, and air, named and divided into kingdoms; Poseidon (or Neptune) controlled the sea, Pluto the Underworld and the abode of the dead, Pan was god of all things in the woods and fields, and Zeus, on Mount Olym-us, ruled over all as King of gods and men, 114, 1, 8, 13, 18, 63, 72, 74, 81, 104.

Golden Age, the, 17, 82, 83; 114, 8.

GOLDEN APPLES, THE THREE, 18, 109.

GOLDEN FLEECE, THE, 23, 180.

GOLDEN TOUCH, THE, 17, 53.

GORGON'S HEAD, THE, 17, 21.

Gorgons, the, three marvellous staters, with snake locks and brazen claws, 17, 41; 114, 29.

Graces, the, three goddesses presiding over the feast and the dance, 114, 56.

Gray Women, the (Grææ (grē'ē)), three marvellous old sisters, 17, 28.

Grecian Heroes, the, the young men of Greece who joined the three great undertakings of the age,
(1) the quest of the Golden Fleece,
(2) the Calydonian Hunt, (3) the Rescue of Fair Helen in the Trojan War, 23, 196; 114, 42, 77, 78, 80.

Greece (Hē'lās), the most famous home of folk-stories, 18, 166; 114, 77, 78.

Grove of Mars, the, 23, 207.

Hā'dēs, the Underworld, kingdom of Pluto and abode of the Shades, 23, 150; 114, 18, 36, 56, 71, 100.

Hāl-p'y-ō-nē, a queen who became a bird, 114, 52.

Hām'ā-dr'y-āds, Hām'ā-dr'y'ā-dēs,