ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At the Grand-Over Niagara Falls-May 4.

Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

'Over Niagara Falls,' Rowland & Clifford's thrilling melo-drama, a big hit in New York, Chicogo, San Francisco and elsewhere, comes to the Grand Opera House, Thursday, May 4th. Crowded houses at every performance in the big cities attest the degree of popular favor "Over Niagara Falls" has attained. As an elaborate scenic exhibition "Over Niagara Falls" is very much above the average melo-dramatic attraction. The greatest effect is in the third act, which shows Niagara Falls, over which the heroine is supposed to go in a barrel. This is the most effective and delightful feature, and the spectator who has seen the great cataract will be surprised at the realism of this production.

Miss Blanche Harpeton, the leading lady of "Over Niagara Falls," is well known in the east, where she has been a favorite stock leading woman. Miss Florence Severance possesses an attractive personality, fine emotional power and the technique of an artist.

Edgar Murray, a handsome young romantic actor, is the leading man and has won the unstinted praise of the critics for his splendid work.

Messers. Rowland & Clifford have surrounded themselves with an exceptionally strong supporting company.

ROYAL GHOST.

Does Queen Catherine Haunt Hampto Court Palace Let?

Court Palace Let?

It is stated that the famous "Haunted Gallery" of Hampton Court Palace, which has been closed to the public for many years, is to be reopened on April I—most appropriate of days!

The supposed ghost is that of Queen Catherine, who was confined in an adjoining chamber prior to her removal to Sion House and afterwards to the Tower and the scaffold. After the charges against her honor had been declared proved, Henry VII. repaired to the chapel before making his departure from the palace. When he was engaged in his devotions, so the story runs, Queen Catherine escaped from her apartments, and rushed along the Haunted Gallery to seek an interview with the King. Before she reached the door leading into the chapel, however, the guards selzed her and conveyed her back to her apartments, screaming and struggling.

On several occasions since then, it

On several occasions since then, it On several occasions since then, it is stated, a female form, dressed in white, has been seen after nightfall coming along the Haunted Gallery towards the door leading to the Royal pew, and just as it reached the door it has been observed to rush back again, uttering piercing shrieks, until it passed through a door at the end of the gallery.

time ago, records that once in the middle of the night she was sudden'y startled out of her sleep by loud shrieking proceeding from the direction of the sallery. Nothing was said about the matter at the time, but the story subsequently received strong confirmation when Lady Eastlake, who had stayed with Mrs. Boyle several times, mentioned that she also had heard plercing shrieks coming from the same direction in the dead of the night.

Mrs. Boyle several times, mentioned that she also had heard plercing shrieks coming from the same direction in the dead of the night.

Mrs. Barclay, who occupied apartments over the Haunted Gallery, also was once awakened in the middle of the night by a domestic, who declared that a screaming apparition had snatched the pillow from under her head, and then disappeared. In consequence of this and other disaurbances, the lady had to leave the apartments, and later residents in the neighborhood of the Haunted Gallery gave up their apartments for the same reason.

The Haunted Gallery is not the only

The Haunted Gallery is not the only part of Hampton Court Palace that has the reputation of being haunted. Indeed, there is probably no other Royal palace in the kingdom of which so many gruesome stories are told.

PHRASES AUTHORS DISLIKE.

Some Words for Which They Have a Strange Aversion.

There are scores of well-known obrases and a whole host of words which are taken exception to by many of the best known authors. Nearly every prominent writer has some pet antipathy of speech. "Female" is a word which one novelist never permits himself to use; whilst another will have nothing to do with "comical." "There is more than one word in the English language that absolutely makes me grit my teeth," says a well known writer. "Galore' I detest, and rotten' in its modern British application is a word I avoid. But my pet detestation is a harmless little fellow that goes by the name of 'comical.' That I cannot stand. The use of it by a writer makes me doubt his possession of a keenly analytical humorous sense." The pet aversion of yet another writer is "Suiting the action to the word." "If one," he says, "becomes a slave of hackneyed transitions—those well-worn stepping stones of rhetoric—it will haunt him persistently, and follow him for years." "Genius." "fondie," and "nasty" are other words that are neither used nor liked by some literary men. Strange Aversion.

SOCIETY BUDS.

YOUNG GIRLS COMING OUT.

The beautiful young girls who are coming out this year are prettier and healther looking than ever before. The fact is our American girls are giving more attention to their physical well being, to calisthenics and physical ling, to calisthenles and physical culture, to out of-door sports Rost
than ever before.
The young girl
just blossoming
int maidenhood,
on that peculiar border line be-

em that peculiar border line between girl-hood and womanhood, should have every care and thought. Parents are often to blame for their daughters' health by allowing them to ge out too much, attending parties and other places of amusement and the indulgence of other habits which tend to excite the nervous system. There should be a good understanding both on the parents' part and that of the young girl, and we can heartly recommend a book called the "Common Sense Medical Advisor," edited and published by Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., which can be obtained by sending 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound, or 31 one-cent stamps for a copy of the paper edition, which will pay for customs and mailing.

The young girl or matron is at times weighted down by periodic disabilities. What is needed is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Few women in this country have not heard of its splendid remedial qualities. It can be depended upon when women suffer.

The proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorphes, Female Weakness, Prolapsus or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

NOVEL HONEYMOON

Ex-Aid. Martin says that some coundrel must have a key to open his office. Yesterday morning when he unlocked his door he found books and papers on the lounge scattered all over the floor, and a lady's linen handkerchief on the lounge and a lady's silk sash on the floor. He says some loving pair must have been enjoying their sweet honeymoon, as enjoying their sweet honeymoon, as a bag of candles was left on the window sill. Mr. Martin called in the Chief of Police, who will investigate, and who will hand the lady back her duds upon request. This is the second time within a month that the same thing was done, Mr. Martin will place a new strong look on his door and in addition will put up a job to catch these parties next time,

GOODSERVICE

A special and attractive service was held in the William street Baptist church Sunday morning and was attended by a large and appreciative audience. It was particular-ly for the children of the Sunday school and their parents, and the little tots were quite in evidence arcoming along the Haunted Gallery towards the door leading to the Royal pew, and just as it reached the door it has been observed to rush back again, uttering pieroing shrieks, until it passed through a door at the end of the gallery.

Circumstantial stories of uncanny disturbances have been related. Mrs. Cavendish Böyle, a lady who lived in apartments at Hampton Court Palace adjoining the Haunted Gallery some time ago, records that once in the middle of the night she was suddenly startied out of her sleep by loud shricking proceeding from the direction of the Principal J. W. Plewes, of the Central, reports that there were more more working from outside places in attendance at the Central school yesterday than he has seen at any other school opening during the five years he has been in Chatham. This speaks well for the growth of our city. The kindergarten had 100 pupils yesterday in spite of the fact that 30 were promoted to First Grade on April 1st.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

Old friends here were equally surprised and pleased to see Mrs. John Bray, of Chatham, who came down with her husband, Dr. Bray, to be present at convocation yesterday. Mrs. Bray, then Miss Madeline Vasasour Noel, was at Queen's when her clever husband received his M. D. degree and it did not need much persuasion to induce her to come to see him receive further honors from his him receive further honors from his alma mater. A pleasant little surprise awaited the doctor on his arrival here, his three sons, Dr. Reginald Bray, Chatham, and Mr. Walter and Mr. Jack Bray, having presented him with the gown and hood required by his new dignity. In June Dr. and Mrs. Bray will go to Louisville, Ky, where Dr. Bray will attend the gathering of surgeons who served with ering of surgeons who served with the Confederate army. They will be guests of their son, Mr. Walter Bray. -Kingston Daily Whig.

THE COLUNEL WINS

Colonel J. B. Rankin, K. C., has succeeded in having the bowling al-ley and shooting gallery placed in the basement of the new armories. Colonel Rankin has used every effort to have this equipment added to the armories, and has at last succeeded. This happy issue is a direct result of Colonel Ramkin's wait to London on Colonel Ramkin's v'sit to London on Good Friday to interview Hon. C. S. Hyman, acting minister of public works. He then laid the necessity for this addition to the armories before Mr. Hyman, and the latter promised to attend to the matter as soon as he reached Ottawa. Yesterday morning Colonel Rankin received a letter from Mr. Hyman, stating that the matter had been attended to. It seems that the shooting gallery and bowling alley were in the original plans, but for some reason were dropped. Work on the armories will now be begun at once.

REASON Nº 30

Red Rose Tea

Because the quality never varies.

Did you ever use a pound of good tea, and after ordering more of the same brand, find it much inferior?

The Eastern climate changes very rapidly, and for this reason tea planters find it impossible to produce the same quality from month to month-two lots from the same garden are seldom the same quality. This is probably the reason why the tea you got the second time was not as good as the first.

In Red Rose Tea this serious difficulty has been overcome by scientifically blending several teas together, so to always obtain uniform flavor and strength, and this has been one of the greatest triumphs of Red Rose Tea.

The quality never varies-you can rely on getting exactly the same quality of tea as long as you use it.
