Climate in Consumption.

That climate has a distinct hearing upon all lung diseases no one will deny. What then, is necessary in order that climate may be helpful in the treatment of consump This query is best answered by a study of

In consumption, more or less of the lun substance is absolutely destroyed. This fact is doubly dangerous, not only because the amount of breathing area is appreciably diminished, but because the cavities an enstantly liable to give rise to bem himself wastes under manifold diseases. Animals maintain health by following their instincts. Man's reason takes the place of instinct and whatever sound reason commends should be done, and whatever it forbids should be avoided. These two rules should be applied to eating, exercise, sleep, reet, work, dress, worry and other factors affecting human health. In eating, reason ears, a just the proportions of food and its quantity to the laws of body growth. Man does nothing of the kind but simply eats as it happens. Beason says, eat only when you are hungry, but mun eats at mealtisms whether hungry or not. Beason says few and simple viands only, and man multiplies their number and complexity to the unions of his skill. When the stomach is overworked it needs rest. Man goods it with stimulants and bitters and makes it work on. In the matter of dress, reason would clothe only for decency, adequate protection and such adornment as is not deleterious to health. The Chinese cramp the feet of their females and disable them for life. Civilized nations less sensible, cramp the women's waists into disfigurement, and their vital organs into permanent invalidism. Wealth is valued for the means of enjeyment that it gives. Yet health furnishes a greater variety of keener and more Animals maintain health by following their lavalidation. Benefits of Gargling.

There are any number of proprietary antiseptics that are excellent for a gargle but many more simple agents are as good or better. One of the best is carbolic acid. A very weak solution of this gargle i and held in the mouth two or three times a day will work wonders. Immediately after using one will find that the mouth feels cleaner. Many of the common throat and lung troubles come from the lodgment of disease microbes within the mucous membranes of the mouth. The free use of autiseptics will kill these germs.

Tragelies on the Banks.

A frightful increase in the number of drowning accidents upon the Banks of miss. Newfoundland is reported this year, the victims being principally French fishermen from the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon. These poor people fish in the very channel of transatiantic steamships, whose lookouts have no difficulty in clear weather in seeing the small fishing smacks and keeping out of the way of injuring them. But the fishing is most successfully prosecuted in dark or foggy weather, or between 8 o'clock at night and 4 in the morning, the consequence being that large numbers of these reall graft are run down and their constants. of transatiantic steamships, whose lookouts have no difficulty in clear weather in seeing the smail fishing smacks and keeping out of the way of injuring them. But the fishing is most successfully prosecuted in dark or foggy weather, or between 8 o'clock at night and 4 in the morning, the consequence being that large numbers of these small craft are run down and their occurpants drowned. Instead of being taught by experience to avoid the course of steamships, cepecially in foggy weather, the fishermen of the little French colony have butered upon an agitation to have the fishermen of the little French colony have butered upon an agitation to have the steamships keep out of their way and change their route. They are anxious, it appears, to have the French Government memorialize the Governments of the convention of the convention powers to compel ocean steamships to pass some distance south of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, although their course would thus be materially lengthened.

Charlatans and Quaek:

Have long power their vocation on the sufficient power to the people. The suife has pared to the quick; caustic applications have tormented the convention shaped itself—there's no curs. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor proves on what eleaded beauty proves on what eleaded beauty proves on what eleaded beauty proves on what eleaded to the people.

LITERARY COMPETITION.

Three Hundred Dollars Offered

BY THE DR. WILLIAMS MEDICINE CO., OF BROCKVILLE, ONT.

ment of literary talent in Canada, The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., of Brockville, Out., will award prizes amounting to $300 among the writers of the best live short original stories submitted in the constitutions.

For the story pronounced the best $100 will be given.
For the story pronounced the best $100 will be given.
For the sound best $75.
For the third best $60.
For the fourth best $50.
For the fourth best $25.
The competition is open to residents of the Dominson of Canada, who have never won a cast prize in a story competition, and is subject to the following rules.

Each story to contain not more than three chomand words.
The writer of the story shall affix a pen name, initials or mothe to his or her manuscript a scaled suvelope hearing on the outside the pen name, initials or mothe outside to the story, and containing inside it the full name and address of the writer thereof.

We impose no limitations whatever a to as put upon the lungs, and the danger from both exhaustion and homorrhage is increased.

Again, it is necessary to avoid a treacher to alternate days of high and low temperature, and also one that is perpetually dange. The competition is open to residents of the Dominson of Canada, who have account to alternate days of high and low temperature, and also one that is perpetually dange. It is not so ensential that the place shall have just such a temperature as that it shall be free from changes and dampases.

But no one can be expected to onjoy a chimate for itself alone, or to be contented to remain where the entire occupation consists in breaching the air. There must be something to render each hour of the day sufficiently interesting for the mind to be diverted from itself, and aufficiently fatiguing to remaintate early retaining and the story as all admitted the pan mane, institute or motto the diverted from itself, and aufficiently interesting for the mind to be diverted from itself, and aufficiently fatiguing to remaintate early retaining and canada, and while being quick and active, should never be exhausting. On no account should exponer to the night wir be risked.

After all we have said about the influence, of climate in consumption, it is ead to know that any benefit which may be derived from a change of climate will accrue only to a certain few of those who are afflicted with the dread disease. No amount of breathing pure air will bring hack any portion of a sacrifice will restore the best beload which has been lost by repeated hemocritages.

It is all-important, therefore, that we should appreciate acrif the character and which is thus established between the sufferer and his amironoment. It is only while the discusse is in it incipient stage that any permanently good reault can be expected to follow a change of climate.

Liberal Prizes

Those of our renders who are of a literary turn of mind will appreciate the liberal offer made elsewhere in this issue by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., of Rescriville, Out., who assuesses a series of prime amounting to $300 for the five least elser original stories submitted in the competition. The amount offered is, we believe, the largest ever awarded in a competition of this kind in Canada, and any part of it will be a liberal recompense for a story of the length named. We will be glad to hear that any of our readers here succeeded in anothering one of the primes.

Climatic Influence on Health.

Climatic influence on Health.

It cannot be denied that the influence of limate upon health is great, and it is in recognition of this fact that physicians sent patients suffering with polimonary diseases to great distances for "change of a z." Bus when the autherner happens to be too poor to act upon the advice his lot is hard indeed flut it is not necessarily hopeless. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery can be had at any medicine store, and to it thou ands whose cases were considered despeste owe their lives.

Up to a certain point in the progress of Consumption, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a positive remody. But delay is dangerous with Consumption. In all the conditions that lead to it, the "Discovery" is the remedy. With severe lingering Coughs or Weak Lungs, asthing acts to promptly. Every disease that can be reached through the blood yields to this medicine. The Serviculous affections of the langs that's called Consumption is one of them. For thin, and for every other form of Servicula, for all blood-toints and discreters, and all chronic Bronchial, Throat, and Long affections, the "Discovery"; the only remedy so certain that, once used; it is always in favor.
