FRANCIS SCANTLEBURY

There passed peacefully away at his home on College Hill at 8.30 this a.m. an old and honored resident, in the person of Francis Scantlebury. He with a brother arrived in Belleville on June 3rd, 1857, having since that time constantly resided in Belleville. Mr. Scantlebury was an old countryman, born and reared in the valley of the Thames river about four miles from the city of Plymouth. He was a builder, having constructed many homes in Belleville. He retired about twenty-five years ago. He has passed at the ripe old age of ninety-two years, leaving to mourn his widow and one son, C. B. Scantlebury. Mr. Scantlebury is one of the old time honored residents of this city and he leaves many loving friends. The funeral is on Wednesday afternoon from his late residence, College Hill at 2 p.m.

Benj. L. Mylkes
Has Passed Away

Benjamin L. Mylkes, a well-known farmer resident of this county, passed away this morning at the home of his son, George, at Burlington, Vt. Death was not unexpected. Several years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis and since that time has gradually failed.

Mr. Mylkes was born in the state of New York about 58 years ago. When a young man he emigrated to Ontario and resided for a time at Stirling. He was there wedded to Miss Sarah Smith, who survives him. Shortly after his marriage he took up his residence at Moira. In that vicinity he lived until this last summer when he and Mrs. Mylkes removed to Burlington.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two sons and one daughter, George H., a leading merchant of Burlington, Vt., Fred, of Watertown, N. Y., and Mrs. Harry Foster, of Moira.

Mr. Mylkes was by occupation a mason. In stone work he was considered one of the best in the county. He was a faithful member of the Methodist Church. Mr. Mylkes leaves behind him the memory of a life of usefulness and industry in the section where he made it his home.

Quinte Conference Convention Has Missionary Pageant at Port Hope

At the fourteenth biennial Epworth League Convention at Port Hope of the Bay of Quinte conference the following officers were elected: President G. H. Griffin, Belleville; 1st Vice-President, (Christian Endeavor Department), Miss Florence Hall, Wicklow; 2nd Vice-President, (Missionary), Miss Tilley Wood, Ivanhoe; 3rd Vice-President, (Literary and Social), Rev. C. S. Applegath, Port Hope; 4th Vice-President, (Citizenship), Edwin Brown, Port Hope; 5th Vice-President, (Junior League), Miss Ray Farrell, Belleville; Secretary, Major the Rev. Harry Frost, B.A., Trenton; Assistant Secretary, Claude Ivis, Bowmanville; Treasurer, Rev. W. H. Clarke, Cavan; Assistant Treasurer, Rev. A. McLaughlin, Pontypool; Registrar, Mrs. Claude Ivis, Bowmanville.

Rev. A. H. Foster, of Belleville, President of the Conference, Epworth League, presiding.

Saturday evening, a Missionary Pageant was presented by the Senior and Junior Epworth Leaguers, and the church was crowded to the doors. The sketches given were written and staged to show the young people the value of using the dramatic instinct to further the great cause of Christian missions.

The first play, "Slave Girl and School Girl," was presented in three acts, the theme being the influence of Christian missionary work upon the common people of China. The parts were well acted. The little girls of the Mission Band, all under nine years of age, dressed as angel messengers, sang two pretty choruses during the intermission between the three acts of the play. The second part, entitled, "The Light of the World," was presented by the Junior League, young people from the ages of nine to fourteen years. It was written by Rev. C. S. Applegath, and its theme was the call of the world since the war for Christian leadership.

Miss Tillie Wood, of Ivanhoe, Missionary Vice-President of the Conference League, occupied the chair at the evening session, and led the devotional exercises and presented a report of her department.

Autoists Had
Narrow Escape

Car Turned Turtle on Trent Road—Teacher Pinned Beneath

A serious automobile accident occurred about one o'clock this morning on the Trent Road in front of Col. Ponton's residence, when a Ford car, belonging to the Ontario School for the Deaf and driven by Mr. Edward Payne, turned turtle, by reason of the steering gear going wrong. In the auto was a passenger, Miss E. James, a teacher of the O.S.D. staff who had arrived at the G.T.R. station just a short while before. Miss James was pinned under the car. A call was sent in from Col. Ponton's residence and two officers, Sergt. Naphin and Constable Thompson went to the scene. They with Col. Ponton were able to release the young lady. She was carried to Sidney Cottage, where she was attended by Dr. Gibson and was then removed to the hospital at the O.S.D., where she is resting easily today. No bones were broken. The driver of the Ford had his leg hurt, but not seriously when the car upset. How the occupants of the car escaped without more serious injury is a miracle.

Official Returns
From Lennox

Conservative Won Out in Three-Cornered Fight by 290 Majority

The result in Lennox was no surprise to anyone who studied the situation. Mr. Fowler, the successful candidate, was running on a straight Conservative ticket upholding the government, while Messrs. Brethen and Woods were both running as opposition candidates with almost identical platforms. Had either Mr. Woods or Mr. Brethen been alone the result would have been the opposite and either one could have been returned with a larger majority than Mr. Fowler received.

The opposition to the Government was split and the government supporters voted solidly for their candidate. It is pretty freely admitted, even by the elected member, that Mr. Woods would have been elected with a good majority but for the appearance of Mr. Brethen in the field at the last moment.

The referendum vote, as was expected, was overwhelmingly "No" and the Referendum Committee and temperance workers are to be congratulated on the magnificent result of the voting.

Richmond Poll No. 5, which was organized for temperance by Mr. Woods, gave the largest proportionate vote in the county, nearly 19 to 1 for temperance.

We are unable to give the complete vote on the referendum as the complete returns are not yet all in. The figures given are as nearly correct as it is possible to give them at present.

The following tabulation is made in the order of Brethen, Fowler, Woods:

Bancroft Flour Mill
Ready for Business

Some months ago Messrs. Strudwick & Delyea announced their intentions of purchasing and installing an up-to-date flour mill in Bancroft. The proprietors entered into the business with enthusiasm and today are greatly pleased with results. They have installed a "midget" flour mill which does away with all ponderous machinery so familiar in older types of mills. The midget is a little machine in which a stream of wheat pours in at one end and a stream of finest flour runs out at the other. It is miltum in pavo. There is nothing better or more up-to-date in America and it turns out the gill edge article at the rate of fifty barrels per day. Many of the largest mills are introducing a series of "midgets" to do all their flourmaking. Strudwick and Delyea are to be congratulated on the installation of an up-to-date flour mill in Bancroft, while farmers from far and near appreciate their efforts. Besides devoting their attention to the manufacture of flour they also intend doing a large business in custom milling and chopping. They give the farmer the actual flour, shorts and bran. From his own wheat, buckwheat and barley. The new mill will be in operation any time after October the 25th.—Bancroft Times.

Obituary

William Garnet Andrews.

A very sad death occurred at Bell View on Monday Oct. 28th when Will Garnet, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews, died of diphtheria. The remains were interred in Mount Nebo Cemetery the same day at 2.30 p.m. Rev. S. E. Morton conducted the services. Garney was well known in this vicinity and was loved by all who knew him best. He was an attendant of St. Marks Sunday School and will be greatly missed by all.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of all the community.—Mar-Mora Herald.

It was a sudden shock to the community when one of South Frederickburgh's most promising young men was "picked off" in the person of Arthur Frank Ohlman, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Ohlman, after a short severe illness of scarcely four days.

Deceased was in the best of health when he contracted spinal meningitis, and in spite of the best of medical skill, passed peacefully away on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27th, 1919. His mind was exceptionally clear to the very last, with the exception of about an hour, when he sank into a deep sleep, (the first during his illness,) from which he never awoke, but just passed "over there where the flowers are," which were his last words, expressing his desire to be out of this world of pain.

Among the floral tributes was a beautiful spray from the On-We-Guide Orchestra, of which he was a member. His casket was surrounded with flowers, while his soul revelled in the heavenly ones of his desire.

He was only 27 years old, but his memory will live with those with whom he came in contact. He leaves to mourn their loss, his father, mother, four sisters and one brother, Mrs. M. Blackadder, Slash Road; Mrs. Arch Hegadorn, Westbrooke; Mrs. Art Harrison, Big Valley, Alta.; and Inez E. M. and George L. Ohlman, of Nanapanee.—Nanapanee Beaver.

Golden Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Black, Herchimer Ave., was the scene of a very pleasant gathering Friday when their friends gathered to help them celebrate their golden wedding day. Mr. and Mrs. Black were married at Christ Church, Belleville, Oct. 24, 1869 and have resided all of the fifty years on the avenue. To this union five children were born, of whom three are still living and were present at the celebration. Mrs. W. German, Burnham St., Walter, of Farnham, Que. and Harry of Cobourg, Time has dealt lightly with this couple, also with the bride, (sister of the bride) Mrs. Robert Wallace, South John St., and the groom, Mr. A. Black, Cannifton. All four are enjoying the best of health. The other guests present were Mrs. W. Carter, South Front St., sister of the groom, the bride's two sisters, Mrs. Hartly, of Batavia, and Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Holloway St., and Mr. G. Brown, Fte. Arthur Brown, and Misses Brown and Little Dorothy. Mr. R. Wallace, Mr. W. German and daughters, Margaret, Bona and Master Walter LaRue.

Mr. and Mrs. Black are very much esteemed by their neighbors to whom they have always lent a helping hand. A very dainty tea was served in the dining room to which all did ample justice. Many very pretty and useful presents were received from friends both far and near. After tea letters of congratulation from their nephews were read, then all joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" and the company dispersed wishing them many more years of wedded life.

Names of Twelve of St. Andrew's Members on Leaves of Memorial Shield

To the memory of twelve of St. Andrew's Sunday School members, who paid the great price in the Great War by surrendering their lives in freedom's cause, there was unveiled on Sunday afternoon in St. Andrew's church a memorial shield, bearing twelve bronze leaves on each of which is recorded the name of one of the heroic dead. The dedicatory service was held in the church but the shield will hang in the Sunday School.

The superintendent, Mr. William McIntosh, occupied the chair. The S. S. and many friends of the honored fallen attended the service. The hymns sung were appropriate for the occasion, Nos. 474, 250, 254 and 241. The pastor, the Rev. A. S. Kerr read the lesson which was taken from St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans, Chap. 12. Miss Anna Ponton sang very feelingly "In Flanders Fields." Mr. W. J. Campbell unveiled the memorial shield and read the names appearing on the maple leaves.

John Street's
Anniversary

Inspiring Services Conducted by Rev. Dr. Wilson, of Kingston.

John Street Presbyterian Church observed its anniversary yesterday with bright and inspiring sermons delivered by Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson, of Chalmers Church, Kingston. The congregations at the morning and evening services were very large, especially so in the evening when the members of St. Andrew's Church worshipped at John Street. The Rev. A. S. Kerr, of St. Andrew's assisted in the evening service.

Rev. Dr. Wilson's subject was the story of David and the three mighty men of Israel who cut their way through the Philistine ranks and brought back water from the well of Bethlehem. David had been overcome by the old homesickness that comes to every man and he craved a drink of water from the old well. The three mighty men heard him and secured the water, but at the risk of their lives. David said, "This is not water; it is the blood of the men who dared all for me." And he did the only thing that can be done with blood—poured it out onto the Lord.

David made two discoveries that day—the value of water and the value of blood. He had often as a lad drunk carelessly of the water, but since then earth seemed less dry and he had tasted disappointment. He realized the difficulty of the life. When he saw the water he saw that danger and trouble surround even the necessities of life. We talk of blood-money, but all money is blood-money. There is not a man among us who has made a dollar since August, 1914 but owes it to the men that bared their bosoms to death from the Huns, who had they had their will would have crippled the world for five generations. There is not a girl that should not go down on her knees in gratitude for the sacrifice which has saved her for decency and everything worth while. Not a Victory bond, not a home, would be safe if glorious men, young blood had not been poured out every hour of the day and night in Europe.

It was a sacrament to David, as he poured out the water. It made him see life whole and true. He saw the sacrament in the sacrifice. The best things of life are all too good for us. We accept too carelessly the glories of art, literature, life, the freedom of our citizenship. These we have but others bled and died for them. There is not one thing worth having that is not stamped with the real seal of blood. In the light of the past five years the only thing we can do with all our talents and privileges is to pour them out to the Lord.

If the story were written that David had recommended the three men for knighthood and had drunk the water, the story would not be worth reading. That's what we see any day on the streets. That's the kind of story most of us are living and nobody reads. We are tested day by day in simple things. When our eyes are opened, we shall see that it is the empty alabaster box and the empty water skin that will count more than the money of the world. We shall see that we were never so near success as when we loved our neighbors as ourselves.

The musical service of the day was very attractive. The choir under the direction of Mr. Clark sang anthems at both services. Last evening Mr. James Booth sang "A New Heaven and a New Earth" by Gaul, assisted by the choir.

Loyalty Basis of
All Civilization

citizens to take up arms in its defense.

Loyalty Moral Obligation

In governmental affairs these things are regulated by law, and the man who receives the benefit of orderly government is required to fulfill the obligation which that entails, but in the ordinary affairs of life, loyalty in a moral rather than a legal obligation. There are laws which prevent a man from stealing from his employer or his business associates, but there is no law that requires him to be loyal to them. The success of a business institution, however, depends more upon the loyalty of its employees than upon the laws which prevent them from stealing its money. Likewise the stability of a government depends more upon the loyalty of its people than upon the laws which compel them to fulfill their obligation to the government.

It is equally true that the prosperity and growth of every individual community is dependent upon the loyalty of the people who live in it. Every citizen owes an obligation to his community, and the obligation is a moral as well as a legal one. The good citizen pays his taxes cheerfully and willingly. He serves upon the juries which administer the laws of the community. He fulfills every legal obligation that is imposed upon him by his government, but there is a moral obligation which is of still greater importance to the community. This moral obligation consists in doing everything that is in his power to promote the prosperity and happiness of his community. The man who is enabled to make his living in any community is under a moral obligation to spend his money in such a way as to help his community.

Prosperity Worth Protecting

Anything worth having is worth protecting, and if the prosperity of a community is worth anything to the people living in it, it is worth protecting. If the chance for a man to earn a good living, to live well, to give his children a good education, is worth anything, it is worth protecting.

There is just one way to protect the prosperity of a community, and that is to keep the community from being drained of its cash-working capital. The only way to do that is for the people of the community to keep their money at home. Every time a citizen of a community sends money away from home to a mail order house instead of spending it in his home stores he is disloyal to his community. It is disloyalty to the community of which the merchants are only a small but a very important part.

This is the moral obligation that every citizen owes to his community, just as the payment of taxes and the loyal support of his government are his legal obligations. Disloyalty of a large body of citizens spells disaster to any government and disloyalty of any large part of the people to their community is followed inevitably by the downfall of the community. Self-interest, if nothing else, should convince every citizen of the advisability of fulfilling his moral obligations to his community.

TOO MUCH

"You love my daughter," said the old man.

"Love her," he exclaimed passionately. "Why I would die for her. For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish—a bruised mass upon the rocks 200 feet below."

The old man shook his head. "I'm somewhat of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

BACK NUMBER.

Evening gowns in London and Paris expose a young woman's back to a remarkable degree.

"Why don't you cover up your back?" an old-fashioned fellow said to one of these young women.

"If I did," she answered with a demure smile, "I'd be considered a back number."

Well
Drilling

To be certain of an abundant supply of pure wholesome water you should not be dependent on shallow wells which are always more or less polluted with surface water.

A deep well assures a sufficient supply of pure water for house and stock purposes.
