MARKETS and FINANCE

Trade was very dull on the Central Market again to-day, with the exception of the butchers who made a big showing and dis-bursed of a fair quantity. Prices remained the same. There were only about half a dozen farmers in and a few market garden-ers, and the demand for their produce was small. Poultry and dairy produce were at prices held firm. Indications point to a drop in butter in a few days. Green stuff though not plentiful did not advance and the prices for the rest of the market remain the same.

Some 300,000 pounds of new Nevada wool have been purchased at 12 cents, the secured landed cost being placed at 14 cents. There have been some dealings in medium Ohio wool, and a firm sale of 300,000 pounds of three-eighths at 25 cents. The market in the foreign product is well cleared up.

The milkmen's strippers were by far the larger portion of the offerings, and these sold at 4c to 5c per pound. A large number of the milch cows were rather lean in flesh, some of them nearly skin and bones. Prices ranged from $25 to $55 each. Calves sold at from $2 to $10 each. Nearly all the sheep on the market were shorn of their fleeces, and sold at 8c to 9c each. The market for hogs was easier and prices 10c per cwt. lower, with easier sale of selected lots at $6.75 per cwt., weighed off cars.

DEDICATED BUILDINGS.

New York, May 14.—Thousands of graduates of the College of the City of New York, came back to their Alma Mater to-day to join with distinguished public men and educators in dedicating the handsome new college buildings on Washington Heights. The buildings were erected at a cost of nearly $7,000,000, and the work of construction required nearly five years.

A SAD STORY.

TERRIBLE CONDITION OF JOSEPH KENNEDY, NEAR GUELPH.

Frostbites Neglected Caused Gangrene in Both Legs, and When He Could Walk No Farther He Lay in an Old Barn for Several Days—Now in Guelph Hospital.

Guelph, May 13.—A story of suffering and privation which is almost impossible to conceive as being borne by a human being in a civilized country comes to light in connection with the bringing to the General Hospital here of a young Irishman, Joseph Kennedy. Kennedy was found yesterday in the barn of a man named Hawkins, near Rockwood, in a state of insensibility. He was told to get out, but was unable to move, and it was only then it was discovered that his feet, and practically the whole lower portion of his legs were eaten to the bone with gangrene, which had extended to the knees, leaving him in an indescribably horrible condition. Captain Head, who lives on a neighboring farm at once brought the unfortunate fellow to the city hospital, and it is hoped to save his life, although both legs will have to be amputated above the knees. Kennedy is an able-bodied man, and tells his story, but it is learned that he is an Irishman, who has been in Canada for some months, and that he has tramped all through the country during the winter looking for work. The condition of his limbs has been brought about by being frozen severely, and apparently for the past couple of months he has been going about in this condition, without medical attention of any kind, and complaining to no one of his trouble. About a week ago he was seen near Rockwood, and called upon several farmers to get something to eat, but gave no idea of his true condition. For several days at least he has lain in the old, unused barn where he was found, and perhaps he has been there for a week or more, lying help-less.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Guelph, May 14.—It is now recalled that during the month of January on several occasions a man was seen walking barefooted in the snow near Rockwood. He was thought to be crazy, but who he was never came to light, and it is now thought it will be some time before an operation can be performed to remove the legs. The wandering from place to place in search of work, and the rebuffs received might easily have unbalanced the poor fellow's mind.

KILLING A DEVILFISH.

Sport on the Gulf of Mexico That Entails Muscle Racking, Hard Work.

The task of hitting a devilfish from a fourteen foot boat was left to the bachelor of the party, the married member explaining that he felt his duty to the public at home excluded him from anything that might result in a surgical operation, when near the next fish, the skipper put out from the stern of the Irena, the spearman standing in the bow while the skipper stood the big boat away so as to give the fish a clear field at the first rush.

The plan developed perfectly—the throw was good, the fish half filled the boat with his first splash, and then rushed away in a great swinging circle, so that in fifteen minutes it was possible for the sloop to cut across and catch up, when by some manoeuvring it became possible to pass the inboard end of the line up.

It was a fight to a finish, with the devilfish on one end of the line and the ten ton sloop on the other. For a long while it seemed as though the devilfish had the better of it. He towed that big boat steadily out into the gulf for three hours and twenty minutes. It was exactly like being in tow of a fair sized tug. The progress of the boat was not fast, but as steady as if it were being driven by the Irena's own engines.

It may be fair to remark that killing a devilfish entails as much genuine muscle racking hard work as any task on earth. It is much the same as pulling for hours against a yoke of oxen who are moving off entirely indifferent to one's futile efforts. The devilfish will not let simple towing tire him. If left to himself he will sound to bottom, and after that it is a question of time before he is to prevent such resting that one must work constantly by hauling the tow in close to him, thereby frictioning him to constant effort. If he can be strained to the point of weakening, then he may be hauled close enough to harpoon again.—Scribner's Magazine.

THE TRUTHFUL BOY.

He Helps Make Life Worth Living in Many a Family.

Robert Burdette says: "How people do trust a truthful boy!"

"We never worry about him when he is out of sight. We never say, 'I wonder where he is; I wish I knew what he is doing; I wonder whom he is with; I wonder why he doesn't come home!' Nothing of the sort. We know that he is all right, and that when he comes home we will know all about it and get it straight. We don't have to ask him where he is; we never say, 'How long he is gone every time he leaves the house. We don't have to call him back and make him 'solemnly promise' the same thing over and over."

"When he says 'Yes, I will,' or 'No, I won't,' just once, that settles it."

John F. Nicholson, superintendent of the agricultural station at Still-water, has bought a pen of five Crystal White Wyandotte chickens in Kansas City, paying $150 for the pen. The dealer from whom the purchase was made owns Peg, the famous Crystal White Orpington prize winner, for which Mrs. Paderewski recently offered $5,000.
