John Ward, Labor M.P. and Soldier

IS TRUE BRITON.

London, July 19.—John Ward, who began life as a navy or common laborer, and is now a member of Parliament and a lieutenant-colonel in the army, is one of the most remarkable leaders of Great Britain in this present critical time.

He has organized the Navvies' Battalion, which he himself explains as follows:

"This is a diggers' war. Navvies are experts in trench-making, and they know things about side supporting and intricate timbering that even the army has not yet thought of."

Ward stands six feet two inches tall, and is broad in proportion, with the fair hair of a Viking. When he was seven years old he began work for a farmer. He had no education, and it was only by puzzling out the letters in the names of the farmers and their farms on the wagons going to Andover, that, with a little help from a kind-hearted woman, he learned his alphabet at the age of twelve.

Fought in Soudan. A little while later he ran away to join the British navy, but he was refused because he did not have his parents' consent. He sought to sleep in a freight car and landed in a police station, and later in a workhouse, where he was set to picking oakum and scrubbing the floors. Kindly visitors learned his story and sent him home. He worked for a while as a navy and then joined the Army. He fought in the Soudan with such gallantry that Queen Victoria decorated him with a star, and he received the Khedive's Star.

Once back in England he became a navy again, slept under haystacks, worked on the Andover and Marlborough Railway, and subsequently on the Manchester Ship Canal. Then one day the navvies grew dissatisfied with the conditions of work, and a few remarks from John Ward showed them that he was the man to lead them. The result was that, thanks to his untiring endeavors, the Navvies' Union shortly afterwards became an accomplished fact. "This was in 1889. The formation of the Union, by the way, was no easy job, for a navy rarely stops more than a year in any one place, and even sailors are no more difficult to organize."

Nine years ago Ward was returned for Parliament as member for Stoke-on-Trent, and during his subsequent election contests, he has shown that he knows how to put up a political fight.

Holland Resolves

To Increase Navy by Six Warships.

The Hague, July 16.—The Dutch Parliament to-day took decisive action in support of a program for a larger navy. The Second Chamber passed the Government's Bill authorizing the immediate construction of two 7,000 ton cruisers and four 800 ton submarines and appropriating $11,200,000 for that purpose.

A second Bill appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of naval hydroplanes, was passed by a large majority. The Chamber also authorized the Government to keep the army under colors and ready to resist any attempted violation of Dutch neutrality.

In advocating the passage of the Bill, adding six new warships to the Dutch fleet, several speakers declared that the increase at this time was only an emergency measure, and that the war had proved Holland must begin the construction of a navy commensurate with her position among the European Powers.

They suggested that the Government await the outcome of the war before deciding whether dreadnoughts or submarines should be made the basis of Holland's new navy.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE.

"Will you tell me if it is proper for a young man to take a girl to the theatre in a street car?" asked Frank. "It is quite proper. The man who are able to take their friends to the theatre in a private conveyance are in the minority," said his mother.

Lands Passengers Off the Narrows

At 6:15 a.m. yesterday, the s.s. Beothic, bound from New York to Tilt Cove, hove up off the Narrows, and landed the wife and child of Chief engineer Seward, of the ship. Mr. Brook and two boy students, aged 12 and 14 years, respectively, who intended to join with the Nasconie en route to Hudson Bay, where their fathers are. Falling to connect with the latter ship as she left here Saturday night for Montreal, the boys took passage by last evening's express to meet her at the Canadian port. The Beothic is chartered to take another load of copper ore to New York from Tilt Cove where she is now going.

CHANGE THE VIBRATION

It Makes for Health.
A man tried leaving off meat, potatoes, coffee, etc., and adopted a breakfast of fruit, Grape-Nuts with cream, some crisp toast and a cup of Postum.

His health began to improve at once for the reason that a meat eater will reach a place once in a while where his system seems to become clogged and the machinery doesn't work smoothly.
A change of this kind puts aside food that is slow to digest and takes up food and drink of the highest value, already partly digested and capable of being quickly changed into good, rich blood and strong tissue.

A most valuable feature of Grape-Nuts is the natural mineral elements (phosphate of potash, etc.) grown in the grains from which it is made. These elements are absolutely necessary for the well-balanced rebuilding of body, brain and nerves.
A few days' use of Grape-Nuts will show one a way to physical and mental strength well worth the trial.
