Bonavista Endorses the Government Policy

The decision given by the people of Bonavista is a triumph for W. S. Monroe and W. J. Winsor personally, but it is far more than that. It is an earnest of the confidence which the District has in them as Ministers, and it is the strongest endorsement of the policy decided upon by the Party.

The honours of victory are shared by the Prime Minister and his loyal colleague, and the District is to be congratulated upon its wise choice of representatives. In the Prime Minister they have a member who undertook the responsibilities of leadership from purely unselfish motives and only at the urgent call of the community, and his long experience in business will enable him to apply to the duties of his office that order and system which have been disregarded in public affairs in recent years. The Hon. Capt. William Winsor is thoroughly familiar with the country's greatest industry, and in the position of Minister of Marine and Fisheries, he can be relied upon to direct affairs in such a manner as to restore the fisheries to their former importance.

Sufficient reference has already been made of the methods adopted to accomplish the defeat of the Government representatives, and the result will no doubt do more to convince the Opposition than any other form of argument that the days are past when an intelligent electorate can be swayed by such tactics. Of the issues upon which the election was fought it has been said that Prohibition was not the vital question. With that statement we quite agree, but it must be admitted that it was the chief plank in the Opposition platform, and it was the subject which was surrounded by the greatest assortment of misleading statements, which had to be set right by the Premier and his colleague in many settlements. That their arguments were convincing has clearly been shown.

In order to carry out a policy of clean up, the evils which had followed in the wake of the Prohibition measure could not be overlooked. The impossibility of enforcing the Act was making it a laughing stock and was tending to encourage lawlessness in other directions. In principle it violated our notion of British liberty, and it failed to advance the cause of temperance. The substitution of a measure which violates no principle, appeals to the people as fair, which is enforceable and which is intended to encourage temperance, is in keeping with the attitude of the Government and in accord with their policy.

Before the Party lie onerous and responsible duties to which they will be able to direct their attention with renewed vigour, now that their path has been cleared and the course which they have decided upon has been approved. The country turned to Monroe and his colleagues in its hour of need. The people found their representatives worthy of the trust and they may rest assured that there will be no hesitation and no turning aside until the task undertaken has been accomplished.

Cochrane St. Sale of Work

The Cochrane Street Women's Association held their annual sale of Work in the lecture room of the Church yesterday afternoon which proved to be a decided success from every standpoint. The stalls were tastefully decorated and contained plain and fancy work, pantry requisites, vegetables, flowers, etc., all of which found ready purchasers. The affair was declared open at 3 o'clock by Mrs. Tasse Cook who, in a happy but short address, outlined its object. During the afternoon meat teas were served, and a large number patronized the tables and partook of the many good things provided. At night an enjoyable concert followed and among those who contributed to the success were Mesdames Brown, A. Mews, Misses M. Mews, Woods, Blahop, Curtis, Green, Taylor, Marshall, Rev. N. Povey, Messrs. Jarrett, Fraser, Holmes, Mews, Steele and Wylie. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the performers by Rev. C. H. Johnson and passed by acclamation.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Oct. 29th.—A bleak cold day, and in no mind to go abroad, save that there is much work to be done, and none but me to do it. Passing the Club, to go in for a few minutes and am pressed into a game of cards which makes me mighty late for the office. No other talk this day save of the election in Bonavista and the first count coming out at 4 of the clock, makes it look very black for Mr. Monroe. And indeed, it did seem so up to midnight almost, when he jumps ahead of Sir W. Coaker, and Capt. Winsor leads R. G. Winsor. So they continue with increasing majorities, and the Government men chosen by at least 500 votes. One thing to note was how there was a straight ticket vote throughout, and seemed to be no personal vote for Sir W. Coaker as many did think to find. News of this state of the English election, and the Conservatives having a long lead which they will maintain. But as I did say in my journal but a few weeks since, it do seem how the Liberals will be eliminated completely, and is a significant fact that Mr. Asquith is defeated in Paisley where he did go after his defeat in the general election of 2 years ago.

Fox Ranch Film at Majestic Last Evening

Movies of the Gordon Silver Black Fox Ranches were shown at the Majestic Theatre to a appreciative audience. The pictures were very clear and showed to advantage the feasibility of the Fox Industry. Moving pictures cannot be taken of something that does not exist. Mr. Lewis explained the pictures and the industry, and from an educational standpoint those who missed this picture certainly missed something worth while. DONALD C. LEWIS, G.W.V.A. A housewife belonging to Victoria Village, but latterly of the city, was arraigned before court this morning charged with vagrancy and a second charge of deserting her two children, ages one and two years. This woman appeared before court on a similar charge in August last, when she attacked the blame on her husband. The court this morning felt satisfied that the woman was responsible for the conditions in the home and ordered her to return to her children or in default one month's imprisonment.

An assault case was postponed until to-morrow morning.

Nonia Representative at Hant's Harbor

Thursday, Oct. 23, will go down as Hant's Harbor Red Letter Day for the citizens of the little town, were then honoured by a visit from Lady Allardice, accompanied by Miss Allardice, Mrs. Harold Mitchell, of St. John's and also Mr. and Mrs. John Duff of Carbonear.

The party arrived by car at 12.30 p.m., and proceeded to the residence of Mr. Archibald Targett, where they were met by a reception Committee and where luncheon was in readiness.

At the table sat Her Ladyship and party, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Mallalieu, Capt. and Mrs. Jones S.A., Mr. and Mrs. A. Targett and Mr. Malcolm Short, J.P.

After luncheon Lady Allardice was met by a parade of children, who had assembled outside Mr. Targett's residence to do honor to the distinguished visitor. She then proceeded along the Broughton Hall escorted by the Parade where a meeting was to be held.

At 2 p.m. the meeting was called to order by Mr. A. Targett, J.P., who acted as Chairman. After introducing Lady Allardice to the large audience present he called upon the Rev. Mr. Mallalieu who on behalf of the citizens of Hant's Hr. in well chosen words presented Her Ladyship with an address of Welcome.

The Chairman made a few remarks stating that it was a day that should long be remembered as it was the first time that the people of Hant's Hr. had been honored by a visit from any Governor or his Lord wife, and seeing that Lady Allardice had opened the door he hoped the time was not far distant when we could look forward to an appointed day for a visit from His Excellency himself. After a few other brief remarks, the Chairman called upon Lady Allardice and as she rose the Hall rang with applause.

She then addressed the audience for half an hour in which she outlined the aims and purposes of Outport nursing and discussed the great benefits derived from trained nurses for which the town folk of Hant's Hr. can show their gratitude in having one in their midst. She next based her remarks on the work of the knitting industry carried on amongst some of our women-workers and classed the workmanship with that of the Home Country or its Dominions.

The next to address the gathering was Miss Allardice who gave an interesting account of the G.H. Guild Movement and fully outlined its principles and rules.

Mrs. Targett, President of the Hant's Hr. knitting class, spoke of work carried on at Hant's Hr. stating that since its organization a year ago there had come into the homes at Hant's Hr. of those doing such work, approximately six hundred dollars.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Targett's remarks, the chairman extended Lady Allardice the heartfelt thanks of the community, and always returned with a saving trip of fat. His loss in marine circles will be a heavy one, and for his bereaved wife and aged family much sympathy will be expressed.

Supreme Court BEFORE FULL BENCH

King vs. J. T. Mooney.

Before the indictment was read Mr. Fox on behalf of the accused moved for an order that certain counts in the indictment be quashed on the grounds of duplication (of counts) and that they tended to prejudice and embarrass the trial of the case. He also read an affidavit placing certain facts before the court and submitted that on these facts the prosecution should not be proceeded with. The objection to the indictment was not argued, and judgment was taken until Tuesday to give the Crown time to reply to propositions contained in the affidavit. The latter set forth the facts in relation to Mr. Mooney taking up his duties as Acting Liquor Controller and his retention of the position until July, when he was relieved by Mr. Fox. Other matters dealt with in the affidavit were the accused's enacting as solicitor Mr. W. J. Higgins, the movement for his arrest, and the submission on his part of certain documents to the then Attorney General, and the subsequent answering of questions put to him before the Walker Enquiry, and that in giving the Crown Counsel to lead evidence against himself, that it was not possible for him to have an impartial trial.

Mr. Winter for the Crown pointed out that the legal position was clear. He could not admit that an indemnity such as is claimed by counsel for the accused was given until a thorough enquiry is made. He held that the accused is at the mercy of the Crown, and the court after hearing all the facts intimates that the case is one not to be proceeded with, then the Crown was prepared to accept the ruling and drop the case. Mr. Winter intimated that the Auditor General, the late Attorney General, Mr. Warren and Mr. Higgins, the accused's former Counsel would have to be called as witnesses. The matter, he claimed was on the equity and morals and not a matter of law.

Mr. Justice Kent questioned how the court could be asked to consider the moral aspect of the matter at the present juncture. It could not close its eyes to the fact that Mr. Mooney had refused to give evidence at the preliminary enquiry in the Sir Richard Squires case.

The further hearing was adjourned until Tuesday next. Bail was renewed.
