

When minutes count!

When every minute is precious—when a man must shave in quick time—

Then's the time he really appreciates his tube of Colgate's Rapid Shave Cream.

Half an inch on the brush—an instant lather—razor glides over the face—

The after feel—so cool, smooth and refreshing.

Author Praised for His Work on Nfld. Fisheries

Mr. M. E. Condon, the author of "The Fisheries and Resources of Newfoundland," is, we understand, in receipt of many congratulatory messages in reference to his work, and it is in great demand from many sources.

Among the testimonies received is the following from Capt. A. Kean, whose knowledge and experience of the fisheries makes it more than an expression of flattery.

ANCHORAGE, August 25.
Michael E. Condon Esq.,
City.

Dear Sir,—I have glanced through your book entitled "The Fishes of the Sea" and am satisfied to offer my congratulations for placing on the market, one of the best books ever issued in relation to the Fisheries of Newfoundland.

The manner in which you give unstinted praise to every one, who in your opinion has helped to build up this country, reflects great credit on yourself, and shows not only your brains are in the right place, but your heart also.

Unwittingly no doubt, you have made history repeat itself, for in trying to do good for others, you have covered yourself with glory.

How you have managed to get the life and history of so many men in one book particularly as all your friends know the state of your health during all that time reflects great credit for your perseverance and push, and will certainly raise you in the estimation of all who will read your book.

I sincerely hope you will manage to get your book to each one of the British M.P.'s who will reach town tomorrow, and that your book will give you substantial value for your work, is the sincere wish of your friend and well-wisher.

A. KEAN.

AS LONG AS AMERICA LIVES——this famous romance will thrill!

A DELICATE beauty from the East. A desperado of the West. He took her as his prize in a game of chance. She called to all that was noble in him. Together they turned their steps toward the setting sun. The greatest love epic of the American stage is now a triumphant screen drama. The gripping play that was cheered across the length and breadth of the land now comes to thrill motion picture audiences.
