tland to Columbia University.

of public high schools in St. John's, who had a school average of 60 or better, and took part in the Putland Scholarship contest last June, have been awarded the Putland Scholarships. Dr. Adam Leroy Lumsden, former Chairman of the Putland Scholarship Committee, and Director of Admissions at Columbia University, announced the results of the contest according to an article in the Oct. 1st issue of the Telegraph. These successful students senior at Columbia University,

Lumsden, former of the firm of Read and Lumsden, and now residing in St. John's, N.Y.
The successful competitors of the Putland Scholarship contest had a choice of four years' stipend of $250 or four years' stipend of $250 for four years at either college or university of their choice in any other part of the United States.

Four to attend Columbia.
Out of the seven awarded scholarships this year, three chose to attend Columbia. Two were elected to go to Columbia and Harvard. Those going to Harvard and Harvard will receive $250 for four years. The four going to Columbia also will receive the same amount and in addition get free tuition for four years. Each contestant was examined in the Entrance Examination and took a psychological test at Columbia University.
Putland Scholarships were established by the late Joseph Putland and endowed in perpetuity in his memory.

A Stirring Photoplay

CLYNN'S GREAT FILM
SHOWN AT THE NICKEL

Clay in two previous instances has proved that she knows the public wants. In "Three Girls and 'His Honor'" she gave not only a great emotional love drama but beautiful pictures and a standpoint of art as well.
Her last Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which opened at the Nickel on Saturday, her third stirring production, was presented. Just prior to the late war, none of the picture shows coming into it at all the story of two people who are thrown together and come to realize that they are another very deeply.

Hammond is indeed a find.
She gives those her because she has the depth of tragedy in her eyes. She is a blonde beauty and first sparks of emotion.
Clay as the hero, Sir Nicholas made is now definitely established as a lover. He has been seen in his time playing heavy roles in the past. Renee Adoree as the soubrette, Suzanne, gives a beautiful interpretation to that role, which is a fine one to portray.
Clay as always, gives a first performance. He is Desmond, Paullette Duval, Kent, Gerald Grove, Jane David, Mir and Jacqueline have small but important parts in the most satisfac-comment should be caused by the fact that the picture is those in the Paris theater of the hero, Sir Nicholas, and his beautiful being loveless of the picture.

Presentment of Grand Jury, 1925

The Grand Jury were in attendance at the Supreme Court this morning and made the following presentment: Our Lordships.—We, the members of the Grand Jury, acting on your suggestions, have visited and inspected the following Public Institutions, and now beg to present our report on same.

Insane Asylum.—Arriving at the Asylum we were met by the Doctor and attendants in charge, who explained the arrangements and work of the institution. As we inspected the different parts of the building we found, in our opinion, everything satisfactory and up-to-date. With the new additions and operating room, everything seems to have been well provided for the welfare of the inmates. The roomy corridors, neat and well aired rooms, ample light and heat, combined with the ideal surroundings of the building should effect the objects aimed at.
There is some room, however, for improvements in the Kitchen and Laundry Departments. We were informed there was no refrigerator in the building—hence large quantities of food material each season had to be dumped at a considerable loss. The Laundry did not possess one single Washing Machine which would greatly facilitate matters in that particular department.

We also understood that the portion of the building set apart for administrative offices is badly heated, poorly ventilated, and subject to noise from other parts.
We were informed that this is the class of cases which requires most attention, and the least possible disturbance from noise, which is almost impossible to get in these wards—they being a part of the original building, and not up to the requirements. Besides being badly heated and poorly ventilated they are not sound proof.

Regarding fire protection.—We were of the opinion there was none—according to the number of inmates—there being but one fire escape on either side of the building, and these are so constructed that it would be practically impossible for even a sane man to escape.

We understand the cost of a refrigerator, one or two washing machines and one or two extra fire escapes would be small—compared with the benefits derived therefrom.

We believe the Medical Superintendent and Staff are deeply interested in their work, and do their very best for those committed to their charge.

Poor Asylum.—We next visited this institution and were shown through by the Superintendent, and found everything satisfactory, as far as could be expected under the circumstances.

We must concur with former reports which have been presented—that this building is not now suitable, and that a new, and up-to-date one should be procured, but in the meanwhile some improvements should be made. The sanitary and toilet arrangements are most unsatisfactory, and require immediate attention for the needs of the inmates. We think that a general clean up of the building—both inside and out—such as painting, etc., would greatly improve the general appearance of the institution, and as far as possible those inmates who are capable of doing work be employed.

We think, however, the officials in charge are doing their best for the comforts of the inmates, as far as facilities will permit.

Penitentiary.—On arriving at the Penitentiary we were met by the Superintendent, who gave us every facility for inspecting the premises. We visited the cells, both in male and female wards, and found them to be well kept and clean, and had the appearance that everything was conducive to the health of the prisoners.

We then visited the Broom-Making Department, which, although closed (owing to the late hour) had the appearance of a hive of industry.

We again strongly voice the sentiments of others regarding some place for youthful delinquents, and not to be having them coming into contact with hardened criminals—in the case of one young lad of 13 years, who is at present confined in the above mentioned institution, but, generally speaking, we are of the opinion that the Superintendent and his staff are doing all within their power for the comfort of those sent there from time to time. At present there are 27 males and 7 females there.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Grand Jury.

W. KNOWLING,
Foreman.

R-33 Makes Her
First Flight

SINCE MISHAP OF LAST APRIL

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Great Britain's big airship, the R-33, started out last night on its first trip since undergoing repairs, made necessary last April when it was torn from the mooring mast and driven out over the North Sea.

At a cost of several thousand pounds the airship has been fitted with a new metal nose and about sixty feet of her forward frame has been rebuilt. When the aircraft left the station at Pulham the weather was warm and calm. The plan was to maintain a flight of about twenty-four hours. During the night the dirigible was in radio communication with Pulham and early this morning it was cruising successfully over the mouth of the Thames.

Major Scott, who navigated the R-33 to the United States in 1919, is in command of the R-33. He is aided among others, by Lieutenant Booth, who was in command during the April misadventure. The airship has aboard the same crew as was swept out to sea during the blow. Also on board is a staff of scientists to record the aerodynamic forces encountered and to make various technical experiments for the purpose of obtaining data for guidance in the building of the two new air giants contemplated.

The R-33 has been fitted with tackle to enable her to carry an airplane which is to be released during the flight.
