The British Coast.

It is probable that this spring will wishes a terrible moval engagement of the British coast. The confider silles no should be a subject to the British coast. The confider silles no should be a subject to the British coast. The confider silles no should be subject to the pleasure. The confider of the pleasure is madiant of factors easilghts. But the peculiar is most of war, will resemble those friendly stills in our courts where there is a difference of opinion, and people go to a kind of amiable loggerheads to get the opinion of judges. In a word, the British iron-clad fluitton, in order to test the real strength of revolving turrets; the advantages and disadvantages of the system under fire, with other points, which can be proved only by actual experiment. It is a pity that the Glutton cannot return the Hotspur's missives, as that would also test the fised turret and steam gun-carriage of the assailant. But there must be a crew on board to defect this, and pechaps the British Admirally hardly even it was a sum and hear alast! his Toledo clove through it at the first strake. The good and the first strake and good and the good and the good and the first strake. The good and the first strake. The good and the first strake and good and go
