

CLUBS, DIVORCE, THREATEN HOMES

Pastoral Letter to Roman Catholics of Canada Calls Attention to Prevailing Evils.

SCOURGES OF THE FAITH

Second instalment of the Epistle of the Plenary Council To Be Read Sunday.

In the local Catholic churches, and, in fact, in every Catholic church in Canada, Sunday the second instalment of the pastoral letter prepared by the fathers of the church at the plenary council held in Quebec will be read. Some excerpts from the letter to be read are as follows:

"The stability of the Christian home depends entirely on the indissolubility of the marriage tie. Nothing but death can release from this bond, which God himself declares to be inseparable. What, therefore, God has joined together let no man put asunder. We cannot too strongly condemn such laws as sacrilegiously encroach upon this fundamental principle of Christian civilization. Divorce violates the teaching of Jesus Christ, and brings in its train the most lamentable consequences. The Catholic Church has ever shown herself the unfailing guardian of the indissolubility of marriage, and she maintains that divorce leaves inviolate the marriage bond, no matter what the civil laws may presume to decree.

Home Vs. Clubs.
"We specially admonish heads of families to devote to their homes all the time that business affairs and legitimate social duties leave at their disposal. Nothing so much disorganizes the family circle as the habit prevalent nowadays with far too many husbands of seeking apart from their wives and children distractions and amusements to which their tastes incline. These would appear as though staying at home were a source of depression and annoyance to them. They are seldom found there, and numbers are their pretext for absence. Greediness and prolonged.

"There are to be found in all centres of any importance clubs which serve to an alarming extent as counter-attractions to the domestic hearth. It is there that, too often, men waste their leisure times indulging in companionship, conversations, and games, which leave to them unimpaired neither fortune nor health, honor nor faith. There they acquire tastes and form associations which rob them of all family spirit, and smother gradually in their hearts the pure and holy sentiments they should cherish towards those nearest and dearest to them.

Liberty of Voting.
"If the law gives you the right of voting, use that right with wisdom and honesty. In it you are armed with an effective weapon; employ it in the cause of right. Use your liberty in voting, having in view only the genuine good of the country, and obeying only the dictates of an upright and enlightened conscience. Be on your guard against the allurements of bribery, and avoid the example of those who degrade to mercenary ends the exercise of this sacred right. To sell one's vote is to sell one's conscience, and to dishonor the fair name of citizen. Such disgraceful traffic is equally out of keeping with sound morality, and with Christian sentiment.

"Every community that desires Christian morals to flourish within it should apply itself to combat vice in every form, and especially to eradicate certain infectious diseases which gain a foothold in nearly every social body, and too often find their ready fields for dissemination. Nor has our own country escaped this danger. Vice has poured in upon us its invading tide, and, in spite of the vigilance of pastors, and the still lively faith of our people, it has forced our frontiers and works its ravages in greater or less degree everywhere.

Integrity of Faith.
"It were too long to outline here the distressing series of scourges that threaten the integrity of your faith, and the purity of your morals; but we should at least put you on your guard against blasphemy, perjury, bad theatre, and the desecration of the Sabbath. These are terrible enemies of your salvation against which you must wage relentless and unsparring war. Their raining the upper hand in any community means the death of all Christian spirit, and a return to paganism.

"Among the social evils which have already wrought untold harm in our

BLACK AND RICH.

Is the Way Postum Should Be.

A liquid food that will help a person break a bad habit is worth knowing of. The president of one of the state associations of the W. C. T. U. who naturally does not want her name given, writes as follows:

"Whenver I was obliged to go without coffee for breakfast a dull, distressing headache would come on before noon. I discovered that, in reality the nerves were crying out for their accustomed stimulant.

"At evening dinner I had been taught by experience that I must refrain from coffee or pass a sleepless night. While visiting a physician and his wife I was served with a most excellent beverage at their daily and elegant table and, upon inquiry, discovered that this charming beverage was Postum and that the family had been greatly benefited by leaving off coffee and using Postum.

"I was so filled with it, and so pleased with the glimmer of freedom from my one bondage of habit and so thoroughly convinced that I ought to break with my captor, that upon my return home at once began the use of Postum and have continued it ever since.

"I don't know what thick headache is now, and my nerves are steady and I sleep sound, and enjoy life. I used to become bilious frequently and require physic; now seldom ever have that experience.

"I have learned that long boiling is absolutely essential to furnish good Postum. That makes it clear, black and rich as any Mocha and Java blend. Please withhold my name, but you may use the letter for the good it may do."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a Reason."

country, we wish especially to single out that of intemperance. Few are the vices more prolific in destructive results than it; none there are that open more surely and more rapidly the way to every abasement, physical, intellectual and moral. Alcohol is a poison, whose awful property it is to attack at the same time both soul and body, of which it paralyzes every energy and dries up every life-spring.

HOW TO SECURE INCOME FOR LIFE

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, of Toronto, Explained Gov't Plan in Normal School.

IS ENCOURAGING THRIFT

A Good Scheme Whereby People of All Ages and Circumstances Can Provide For Old Age.

A large audience listened with the greatest attention to Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, of Toronto, in the Normal School, last night, when she explained the system of annuities, which the Canadian Government has established.

Mrs. Cummings pointed out that the Government takes over the entire expense in connection with the annuities system, and urged on everyone the necessity of giving some thought for the future.

The problem of providing pensions for the aged people in England, she said, is a most serious one, and since the old age pension system went into effect on Jan. 1, 1909, there have been no less than 788,000 applications for pensions.

Encouraging Thrift.
"You can readily see," said Mrs. Cummings, "that it takes an enormous amount of money to finance this system. The Canadian Government is trying to encourage thrift among its people, and to start them saving systematically, when they are young, and able to save, and when they get old there will be no need of any Government pensions. Any person in this country can buy an annuity, who is over 5 years of age and under 85. The Government pays 4 per cent on the money. If a child 5 years of age has 25 cents a week put by for it, when it has reached the age of 55 the Government will pay back $150.62 per year, or if it is desired to let the money remain until the age of 60 is reached, $275 a year will be paid back.

"The Government arranges so that in case of death all money paid in goes back to the relatives with compound interest. If $100 is deposited when a boy is 5 years old and left to accumulate, no more money being added at all, the Government will after the man is 55 years old, pay him annually $67.69, or if he leaves it until he is 60, he will get $100 a year for the rest of his life.

Shirley Cameron presided at the meeting and a hearty vote of thanks was conveyed to Mrs. Cummings for her excellent address.

MARINE

Detroit, April 13.—Immediately after midnight today when the Friday flood becomes harmless through the time limit, and the season's insurance being in force, there will be a general start of vessels having business to keep them busy for a time. Quite a number of boats already are moving on the lakes, as the telegraphic reports have shown.

In the fleet that will push out tonight will be the steamer Langham, which has spent the winter here, with a cargo of 3,000 tons of hard coal for Milwaukee. She will be commanded this year by Capt. Timine Le May, well known in Detroit. The Langham will tow the barge Hartnell, also loaded with hard coal, to Chicago, dropping her there and then completing her own trip to Milwaukee. The Hartnell grounded near Bois Blanc Island late last year, and her steamer left her here and finished her trip alone.

Word from Duluth is that the package freighters are ready for the start and will get away tonight or Saturday. The Muncy and Delaware, of the Anchor Line, are among the early boats out of Duluth. For several years the steamer Troy, of the Western Transit Company, has been the first vessel into Duluth, and she will maintain her record this season.

A number of steel trust steamers left Lake Erie and Lake Michigan ports yesterday and more will start today. The steamer W. H. Gilbert, of the steel trust fleet, passed up the Detroit River yesterday morning and was closely followed by the new steamer Augustus.

First of the Lake Superior winter fleet to get down the lakes, the steamer William Henry Mack, yesterday morning passed here bound for Buffalo with 200,000 bushels of wheat. The Mack wintered at Port Arthur, Ont.

Marine Notes.
There is a report going around that complimentary transportation on lake freighters will be much restricted this season. It has been the custom to allow thousands every year.

The steamer M. T. Greene is the first boat to smash her way through the ice off Buffalo, and make her way to Tonawanda. The Greene had a cargo of lumber from Alpena.

Adam Hartman, owner of the steamer Fred E. Meyer, which went down off Long Point, Lake Erie, in the ice of last December, has gone to Cleveland to complete arrangements for raising the boat.

PAGEANTS ARE POPULAR

Pictures of Warlike Life of Great Britain To Be Given.

London, April 13.—The popularity of pageants continues in England. The programme has just been completed for the army pageant, which will be held from June 20 to July 2 under the direction of F. R. Benson, the well-known Shakespearean actor, in the grounds of Fulham Palace, the Bishop of London's residence.

First there is to be a series of scenes portraying the warlike life of the inhabitants of ancient Britain. Following this there will be a scene representing the Roman invasion, and then will come ten historic episodes between 510 and 1645 A. D.

The next part will have the title "Stories of the Regiments in Famous Fights." The battle of Dettingen (June 27, 1743), was the last fight at which a British sovereign was present in person, and in the pageant George II. will be a prominent figure. A leading incident to be portrayed is the gallant fight by Trooper Brown for the standard of the Third Hussars. Dropped by a wounded cornet the flag was picked up by Brown, and in turn taken possession of by a Frenchman. Brown rode off in pursuit, killed the general and recaptured the standard, receiving numerous wounds during the encounter.

Sir John Moore's death on the sands of Corunna will form another episode. Still another spectacle will be the storming of Badajoz, when Lieut. Macpherson tore down the French tricolor from the topmost tower of the fortress and replaced it with his own red jacket in lieu of the Union Jack as a signal that the place was won.

There are sweet surprises awaiting many a humble soul fighting against great odds in the battle of a seemingly commonplace life.

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 14.—Officer Henry Knapp reported to Chief Scrubridge of the reservation police across the river that he had seen a body go over the falls at dusk. The body was that of a man about 35 years old, dressed in black clothes, with black hair and mustache. The body was close to the shore and was wedged on a rock when the officer saw it. It soon floated off and over the cataract.

SHE MAKES MORE THAN HER HUSBAND

So Miss Booth Won't Get $5,000 Counsel Fee in Divorce Suit.

New York, April 13.—Supreme Court Justice Blanchard today denied the application of Hope Booth Wolf, the vaudeville actress, for a counsel fee of $5,000 to defeat the suit that her husband, Renold Wolf, a newspaper writer, has brought against her for an absolute divorce.

Hope Booth first brought a suit for separation against Wolf, and the court granted her $25 weekly alimony, pending trial, but refused to allow her any counsel fee. Wolf's lawyer, Nathan Burkham, contending that Wolf's income was tied up paying debts contracted by his wife.

"In view of the refusal of the court to award a counsel fee in the separation action," said Justice Blanchard today, "and it appearing that the earning ability of the defendant (Miss Booth) exceeds that of the plaintiff, and that the extravagant expenditures of the defendant have well-nigh impoverished the plaintiff, the motion is denied."

Maurice Meyer, counsel for Miss Booth, told the court that Wolf was reported to have an income of $15,000 a year, and that Miss Booth denied that she had contracted any indebtedness which Wolf had to pay. Wolf said his income was less than $6,000 a year. Miss Booth is appearing in the William Morris theatres at a salary of $400 a week.
