Fair Play Questions Sale of Madden-Wills' Bout To Long Island Man.

Associated Press Despatch

New York, April 7.-Negotiations for the heavyweight match between Harry Wills and Bartley Madden at the Queensboro Stadium May 13 were closed today when the negro signed a contract to box the veteran Irish heavyweight in a 15-round bout. Paul Berlenbach, hard-hitting New York middleweight, will meet Jack Lynch of Oklahoma, in a 10-round match, semi-final, to the Wills-Mad-

New York, April 7 .- Why were the Jersey promoters who had sewed up the Harry Wills-Madden fight, so willing to sell it to the Long Island

There has been a deal of speculation as to the whys and wherefores of this matter, but it all boils down in the last analysis to the mixed bout question, which has been following port of the country.

In other words, it looks very much as though Harry were not wanted in a mixed bout in this vicinity. New Jersey, especially that part which lies south of Newark, is pretty much of a southern community in spirit, in physical characteristics and in the large number of negroes who live happily there.

Nothing is to be gained by stirring medalist, British open championship; nothing is to be gained by stirring up race antagonisms there, and while the boxing commissioner. Newton Bugbee, has not said a word, there is a strong suspicion that he is not keen for mixed bouts where the parties involved are of sufficient prominence involved are of sufficient prominence
