

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-fives"

St. MARTIN'S, N.B.
 "For two years, I suffered tortures from Stomach Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.
 I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking "Fruit-a-fives", I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

On the British Western Front in France.—French troops on the roadside moving up with British Tommies near the line.

Some shell cases on the roadside in the front area, the contents of which have been despatched over into the German lines.

THE RESERVES

Frequent reference by British statesmen to the next two or three months, particularly the next two months, as a reasonable limit of the period of greatest danger on the western front, lends additional interest to new Washington figures regarding the speed with which American troops are now being landed in France. Senator Hitchcock of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs has made public a statement that by August there will be 3,300,000 men in the American army and a maximum of 1,450,000 American troops in France. From other official figures recently made known it may be inferred that at least a million of the American troops sent across by August would belong to combatant units. Despatches from France to American newspapers say that the American army there is receiving an intensive training such as will prepare it for offensive work when the time comes. The transportation of American troops at the rate maintained during the last three months has undoubtedly been one of the great feats of the war, and the credit must be divided between the American nation which enlisted and trained these forces, and the British who provided most of the transports and made it possible to carry them across in safety by keeping the German fleet in port and by a constantly increasing grip upon the enemy's submarine activities. As the time for a new German stroke in the West is at hand, the American figures have an added interest because of the proof they afford that in another month or six weeks the American forces in France will be highly formidable in number. The troops already there from the United States, and the solid assurance that so

IT SHOULD MAKE A MILLION FOR HIM (Cincinnati Man Discovers Drug That Loosens Corn So They Lift Out)

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezeone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers. A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any store which handles drugs but this is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn or toughened callus and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn or callus is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. Its sticky substance, which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.
