SCHOONER LUCILLE B.

ON THE ROCKS iova Scotia Vessel Has Large Cargo Of Dry Fish For Gloucester.

Yarmouth.- The sixty-seven ton Weymouth schooner Lucille B., Capt. Leander Pothier, is in serious trouble at Port LaTour, Shelburne County, where the vessel completed loading a cargo of 165,000 pounds of dry codish for the Gorton Pew Fisheries of Gloucester, Mass., purchased for that oncern by Delmar C. Outhouse, of liverton. The schooner was already as soon as the weather permitted to proceed to that United States port, and about two o'clock Tuesday morning the vessel, in the heavy easterly gale, dragged ashore.

Two hours later the water was coming in over the forecastle floor, and Capt. Pothier and the crew were obliged to leave the craft. The cargo consists of the dry codfish, and a large percentage of it is made up of exceptionally large cod. The Lucille B. was built at Church Point, Digby County, in 1921, and a few months ago figured somewhat prominently in a rum running episode in the eastern part of the Province.

HAMPTON

On Wednesday fire broke out in the attic of the dwelling of Clinton Collins. For a short time it looked as if the house was doomed, as smoke was pouring from the roof in all directions in a very short time. About all the neighbors were on the scene and while some threw out the furniture, others succeeded in overcoming the fire, but not before it had burned through the first floor and done considerable damage.

Glad to report that Mr. Bernard Mitchell, who broke his leg recently, is doing as well as can be expected. The temperate days go by With simple life and joyous Tuesday for Boston to spend the Under a stainless sky. The grey unbroken benches Are crowned with yellow sage, The fever of our age.

> Here balsam poplars scatter The scene of Paradise, And strange new wildflowers flatter Our unaccustomed eyes. The trees with fruit are bending, The gardens gay with flowers, A sense of peace unending Is over all the hours.

Along the purple ranges The glow of sunset shines, And glory spreads and changes Among the red-boled pines. Here time takes on new leisure, And life attains new worth. And only God shall measure This Eden of the North.

I see in your paper of Wednesday 22nd in the Clementsport items 'Gambling" a la mode Poker. In holy horror we hear those condemned who indulge in the game. I think the law of cur Lord forbids it being played and calls it a gambling game. And as for bridge being played for much a point, to my way of thinking would be gambling where money is played for. If the money is left out I would not think there was any gambling -and I do not think it would lead to any everlasting bonfire. Spotted cards of themselve's are harmless. But, like many other things, can be used and made harm of. As for the punch board in the village tore, and its many holes; and every punch you get a collar button, if nothing else,-so every one is sure of a collar button. The player pays ten cents and punches there for themselves, while lots of times I have seen a cake or a pie, or needle work left over at a church tea or sale and so at the end it would be valued at a certain amount and tickets sold to cover that amount. When it is generally some one uninterested that puts their hand in a box or hat, or whatever it might happen to be, and draws a number which is compared with the person's numbers who have paid for the chance. The others don't even get a collar button.

VIOLATIONS OF GAME ACT

Three cases of violations of the game act came before Magistrate Adams recently. One resident of Little River was charged with killing a calf moose. The moose in question was said to have been of large size, but the points on its antlers were not quite so big as the law requires. The horns had been sent to the game warden by the accused, in order that the size might be checked. A fine of $150 and costs was struck. Another resident of Coldbrook was charged with leaving the head of a moose in the woods and $50 and costs was his assessment. Another case in which the killing of a cow moose was alleged, was post-

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian Fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, ramps and colic, and unless baby's ittle stomach is kept right the result may be serious.
