REVISED AND ENLARGED.

The Publisher presents "OUR HOME PHYSICIAN," with the assurance that it is the most important and valuable Medical Guide ever offered to the American public. To this admirable work our well-known authors have given careful study, investigation and experience. We quote from Dr. Beard's preface:

"This book has been prepared to meet a want that has been long and widely felt—of a single work which should give a comprehensive and accurate knowledge of Medical Science of the present day, in as much detail as can be useful to those not medically educated. I have written in this work just what I say every day to my patients, in my popular essays, and in my lectures before lyceums and colleges. I have here said just what your family physician would tell you if he had the time and occasion to explain the different diseases, their symptoms and treatment. My aim has been to make the work so clear that the wayfaring man might not err therein, and yet so thorough and exhaustive that the educated physician should find in it much to perfect his knowledge and refresh his memory."
