

Government Orders

They are telling me that I cannot increase the 200-mile limit to the nose and the tail of the bank. It can be done and I am sure someday it will be done.

I thank you for your indulgence. I think it is a great privilege to have the opportunity to finish off the last session of this Parliament as the last speaker, and I thank you for the opportunity.

[Translation]

The Acting Speaker (Mr. DeBlois): It being two o'clock, pursuant to the order made Thursday, April 11, 1991, the motion actually in front of the House is deemed to have been put and adopted, on division.

Motion agreed to.

[English]

The Acting Speaker (Mr. DeBlois): Shall I call it three o'clock p.m.?

Some hon. members: Agreed.

The Acting Speaker (Mr. DeBlois): It being three o'clock p.m., pursuant to order made earlier this day, this House stands adjourned to the call of the Chair.

The House adjourned at 2 p.m.
