

NOTE.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Prime Minister of Canada, is quoted as having said that if the 19th Century was the century of the United States, the 20th would be that of Canada.

In fact our country is progressing by leaps and bounds, foreign capital is pouring in, immigration is going on apace, the natural resources of the country, which seem almost inexhaustible, are being rapidly developed: and business, generally, has never been in a more healthy condition.